Schools lose in state cutbacks

PLYMOUTH—School administrators will be looking for ways to trim $300,000 from the school budget following word that Gov. Milliken is looking at state cutbacks which would presumably cost the district $150,000 to $175,000 in state aid.

The school board Monday night authorized the cuts, indicating it will then use a priority system to formalize the final budget.

The report was handed down by Supt. John Hoben who received word from Lansing that Milliken is seeking to make up for the loss of revenue from the state food and drug sales tax repeal and to bolster dwindling welfare funds.

Hoben indicated that the loss of sales tax will cost the state $190 million and that welfare payments will be up by $50 million, thanks to industry layoffs.

In the area of education, Hoben said, Milliken hopes to cut $500,000 at the state level from the reading support program, $2.5 million from transportation, $5 million from special education and $500,000 from vocational education.

"Before the first of the year cuts will certainly be made," Hoben said. "And we're projecting a loss of state aid in the area of $150,000 to $175,000." On the brighter side of the ledger Hoben reported that the district's share of the special education county tax approved by voters in August will add $165,000 to Plymouth school coffers. $65,000 more than was expected.

Objecting to the budget study was Trustee Marcia Borowski who felt the board should concentrate its efforts on helping the government find other areas in which to make cuts.

"I personally feel that cutting $5 million from special education is immoral and this board should not take cuts like these laying down," Mrs. Borowski said.

"Perhaps we could see if legislators salaries could be cut or other areas that are not as important as education."

In other action the board:

—adopted a reduced price lunch program with eligible students receiving lunch for 20 cents.

—approved the creation of two study committees, one for attendance areas in relation to boundaries and one for Centennial Educational Park.

—approved full payment of $1,450 for a traffic light at Hartsough and Sheldon and the cost for wiring a light at Hanford and Sheldon, estimated at $775.

—tabled a request from the J.G. Agardy family to have their son attend Plymouth-Salem next year despite living in the Canton attendance area.

—agreed to a noon dismissal for the Centennial Educational Park marching band in order to seek funds from Plymouth industry for the upcoming Orange Bowl trip.

—agreed to a single graduation for the two high schools.

—approved reimbursement of $67,150 between the district and the Michigan Department of Correction for educating Detroit House of Correction inmates.

THE TURKEY eaten on that first Thanksgiving in 1621 was a tall, skinny bird because it lived in the woods subject to unfavorable weather conditions. Today's turkey spends much of its time behind wire fences and is well-nurtured—therefore, much fatter and tastier. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

The old turkey's changed

By W.W. EDGAR

The golden brown turkey taken from the oven this year will be a far cry from the bird on which our forefathers feasted on that first Thanksgiving in 1621.

For their celebration they went far afield with their muskets and returned with the wild species of turkey—a tall, lean and bearded bird that would scarcely be recognized today by those who know only the frozen, headless, huge breasted domestic that is found in the supermarkets.

THIS WILD turkey was something to behold.

It had darker and more iridescent feathers than today's domestic breed. It was thinner with longer legs and a smaller head.

What's more, the wild turkey could fly at speeds up to 55 mph per hour, according to the researchers, and a four-foot stride when on the run.

Compare that bird with the domestic species of today and one can realize the turkey has had a most spectacular career.

The wild turkey, as our forefathers found it in New England, was so well thought of that Benjamin Franklin, not only championed it as the symbol of the national holiday, but claimed it was a morally superior bird to the bald eagle and attempted to have it made the symbol of America.

This long-legged bird the Pilgrims found was once described by William Wood, a naturalist of the 1630s in this manner:

"The turkey is a very large bird. He hath the use of his long legs so ready that he can runne as fast as a Dogge, and flye as well as a goose!"

THE BIRD on which we will feast this year is a much different story. It is mass produced, scientifically fed, efficiently processed, and does not fly.

In contrast, today's turkey spends much of its time behind the wire fences of the turkey farms, seldom gets any further above the ground than the roost, and is nurtured almost like a child.

The modern turkey, which is the result of cross breeding for years, also is claimed to be incredibly stupid.

Turkey farmers report the typical gobbler can starve to death surrounded by food, or eat until it dies from strangulation. It also can drown in its own watering trough or smother in a pileup of birds in the flock.

This great change can be traced to man's innate desire for the white meat of the bird.

Some years ago breeders found the white feathered bird had a much smaller breastbone than the "bronze" variety and started cross breeding to obtain more white birds.

At the same time it was noted the white feathered bird, because of the smaller breastbone, had a much larger bosom that provided considerably more white meat.

So successful has this cross breeding become that the "bronze," or dark-feathered gobbler, is almost extinct. It now is a rarely seen on any of the roadside turkey farms.

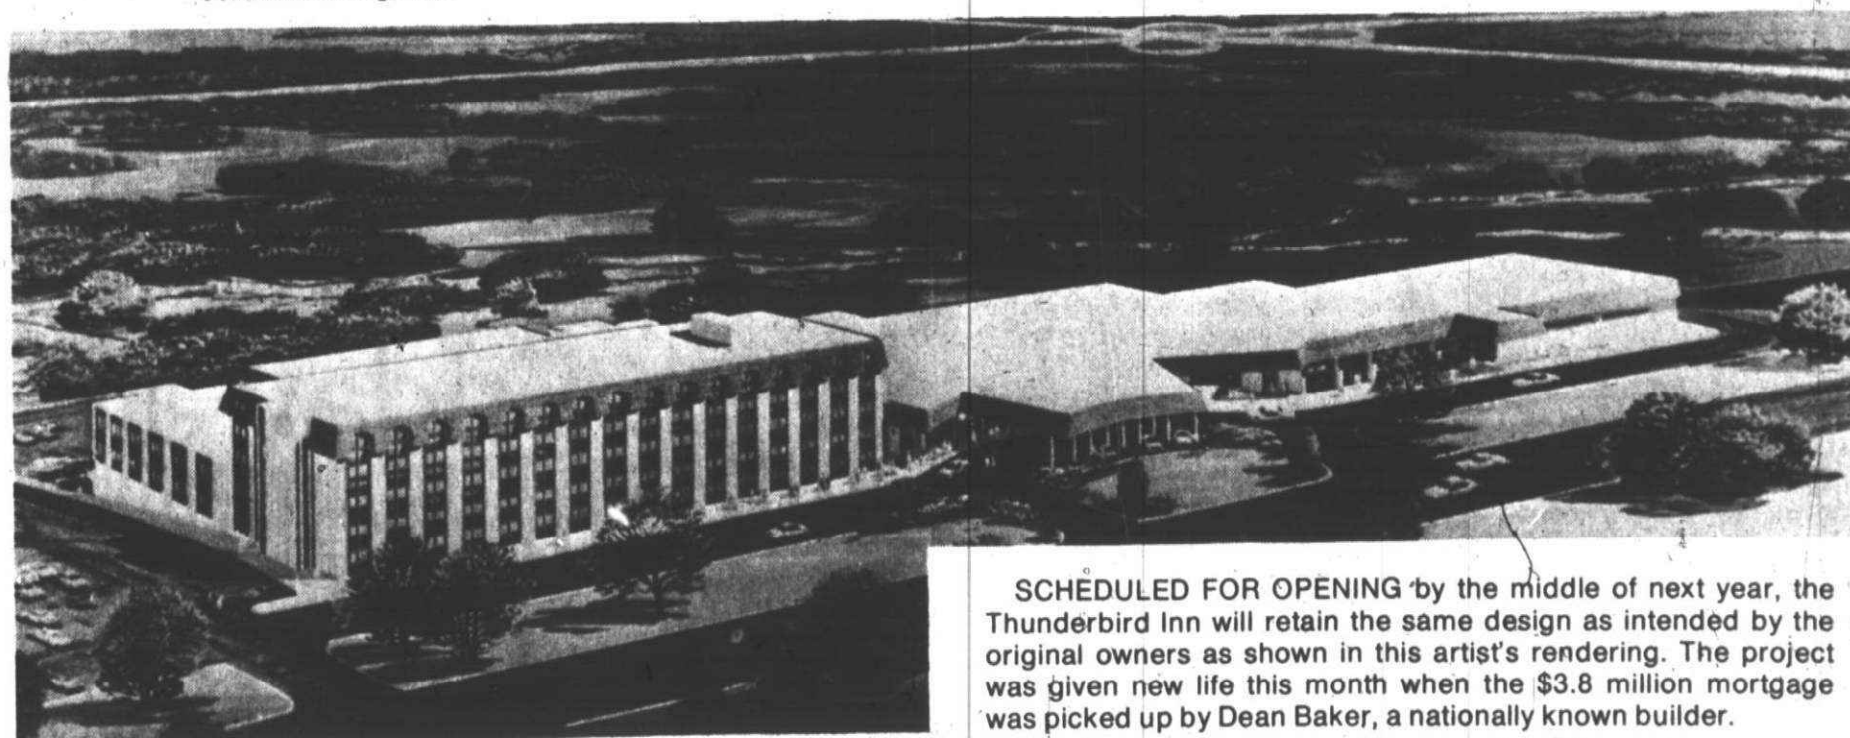

BUT SOMETHING unusual happened along the way and made a martyr of the gobbler.

The hen's bosom developed to such an extent that she cannot sit properly on the nest for mating. As a result the

Thunderbird Inn gets new owner

PLYMOUTH — Sale of the Thunderbird Inn, and resumption of construction on the 200-room motel adjoining the original supper club and restaurant on Northville Road, will put the completed multi-million dollar hospitality back in business by mid-1975.

That is the assurance given by the Thunderbird's new owner, Deane Baker, following his purchase of the dormant project from the Investors Diversified Mortgage Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., whose foreclosure of a reported $3.8 million construction financing loan had closed the operation the first weekend in October.

Baker, 50, is a nationally known builder and land developer who is president of the Deane Baker Company, with offices in Dearborn. He and his family live in a 146-year-old farmhouse on Scio Church Road near Ann Arbor, and he states that he has purchased the Thunderbird interests in his own name—not his company's.

In 1972 Michigan voters elected Baker to the University of Michigan board of regents after he had served previously as an appointee of Governor Milliken on the Grand Valley State College board of control.

WORKMEN ALREADY have provided evidence of renewed progress at the Thunderbird by razing two aging structures on what will be a new parking lot, and with their general cleanup of all outer property.

"Emphasis now is upon completing roof and wall construction of the motel so that portion of the building can be closed in before the severe winter weather," said Baker. "Then we can go ahead with all interior work, including remodeling of the original restaurant and bar areas, through the winter months."

The original design of restaurant-motel complex will be retained, said Baker, emphasizing that work had progressed "beyond the point of no return" before the cessation of construction several months ago.

This will include a five-story, 200-room motel connected with the restaurant and supper club area by a dividable banquet room with a capacity of at least 1,000 persons.

"The huge and dramatic, swimming pool room will dominate the motel's interior," said Baker. "The room measures 110 feet by 80, and will be 35 feet in height. The interior will be filled with growing trees and plants in all seasons of the year, and visitors will be able to enjoy food and beverage service on a broad promenade."

"The new motel will offer Plymouth, Northville, Canton, Ann Arbor and the surrounding area the most complete food, convention, hotel and recreational facilities available outside of Detroit," said Baker.

comply," said Dyer. "Working together as we have in the past, we will continue the outstanding programs that have won for us such fantastic recognition in the education community."

"Most important, it will build to new heights the level of education that the people of Wayne-Westland want and deserve."

Westland board gives Dyer 3-year contract

WESTLAND — Dr. Timothy Dyer, superintendent of the Wayne-Westland Community School District, has accepted a three-year contract from the school board.

Dyer, 36, has been superintendent for one year. It is the first time the district has offered a multi-year contract to a chief administrator after one year.

"It has not been the usual practice of the board to extend new contracts in the first year of a new superintendency, however in this instance the board has unanimously decided to depart from past custom in recognition of the fine performance of Dr. Dyer," said a school board spokesman.

"This contract reflects the board's support and pleasure with the high level of performance exhibited by the new superintendent."

The new contract will run until July of 1977. Dyer will receive $35,000 salary for the first year, $37,000 for the second and $39,000 for the third year.

Dyer's current pay is $33,000. The contract may be opened for revisions if mutually agreed to by the board and himself.

Dyer is a 14-year veteran of the Wayne-Westland School District. He has been a teacher at Wayne Memorial and John Glenn High Schools. He served as Wayne Memorial assistant principal and as principal at Stevenson Junior High School.

He is a regent at Eastern Michigan University and a member of the county superintendents' federal legislative committee, which at present is developing new research for federal legislation.

School Board President Gerard McGrath praised Dyer's work.

"The board members are particularly praiseworthy of the superintendent's performance in inter-governmental relations and school finances. The board is pleased with the district's progress in effecting outstanding relations with both state and federal governmental units," said McGrath.

The board rated Dyer's performance in June and gave him a rating of 4.5 on a 5.0 scale, according to a board report.

"The superintendent was also praised for his management skills in bringing about effective administration in the financial affairs of the district and in his ability to articulate the position of the board to the staff and community," McGrath added.

"The board is also pleased with community relations publications, student and staff morale, plus the many building visitations and public exposure through many speeches and presentations given by Dr. Dyer.

The board also praised him for bringing growth to various educational programs and for creating "effective" management.

Dyer, in accepting the new contract, thanked the board for its support and encouragement.

Local leaders rally for support of Schoolcraft rapid transit line

By TIM RICHARD

Northwestern Wayne County, which was left out of southeastern Michigan's 1990 rapid transit network, may have a chance to get back in.

Local leaders contend that the Schoolcraft Road corridor deserves a rapid transit line, and that the needs of Redford, Livonia, Plymouth, Northville, Garden City, Westland and Canton are getting inadequate attention from regional organizations that cover six counties.

A public meeting with regional transportation officials, local leaders and citizens is being arranged to give the area a chance to spell out its problems. The meeting has tentatively been set for Tuesday, Dec. 17, at 8 p.m. in the Forum building of Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

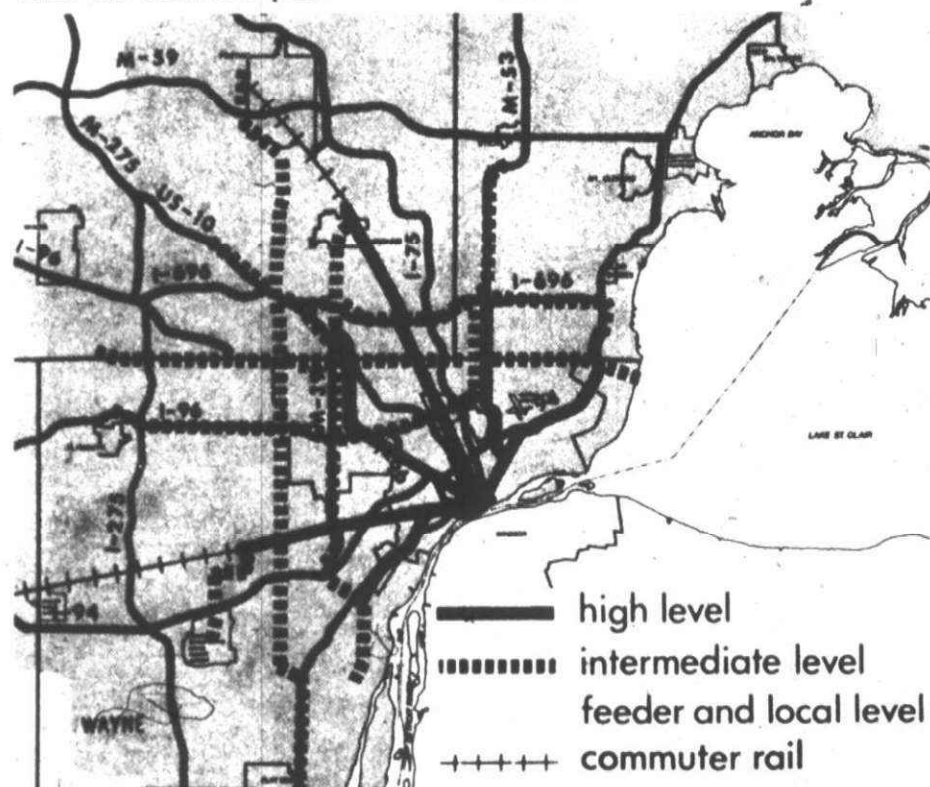

Leading the effort are State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), a champion of public transportation whose 14th District includes Livonia and Redford; Arch Vallier, a Schoolcraft College trustee who is a delegate to the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments; and Jerry Raymond, Livonia councilman and member of SEMCOG's inner circle.

THREE MAJOR points of dissatisfaction are being pointed out by Vallier and Raymond:

1. The Schoolcraft Road corridor in 1969 was designated by TALUS (Transportation and Land Use Study) for a rapid transit system. But the 1974 SEMCOG plan shows the Schoolcraft corridor getting only "intermediate level" service — an express bus. (see maps).

2. When SEMCOG held a public hearing in October on its proposed 1990 public transit network, the closest one to this area was down in Taylor. Hence, few from northwestern Wayne County attended, and this area's impact was slight.

3. Northwestern Wayne County has never had a representative on the nine-member board of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), which is to implement the SEMCOG plan.

SEMCOG'S 1990 PLAN for public transit, unveiled this year, indicates only "intermediate level" service for the Schoolcraft Road (I-96 freeway) corridor. This amounts to an express bus.

Reps. Esch, Ford nix executive vetoes

U.S. Reps. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) and William D. Ford (D-Taylor) both agree President Ford received bad advice from his staff when he decided to veto a vocational rehabilitation program bill and amendments to the Freedom of Information Act.

Esch, whose 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth, was chief sponsor of the Freedom of Information amendments and had introduced a bill earlier very similar to the vocational rehabilitation measure which originally passed the House 400-1.

Both Ford and Esch are members of the House Education and Labor Committee.

THE VOCATIONAL rehabilitation act was passed a second time by the House, over-riding the veto, last week by a 396-7 vote.

The House voted 371-7 to over-ride the President's veto of the Freedom of Information amendments.

"The Republican leadership couldn't even scratch up anyone to argue the President's position," said Ford, whose 15th District includes Westland, Garden City and Canton Township. "President Ford's veto message was very insipid."

Ford added the legislation included only a modest increase in funding and included a provision asked for in 1971 by the Nixon Administration.

The President also "pocket-vetted" the Farm Labor Contracts Act, co-sponsored by Rep. Ford, while Congress was on recess. "My committee voted unanimously Monday to report this bill back onto the floor and I expect the House will over-ride this veto this week."

"I don't know who's advising the President, but these are silly vetoes," added Rep. Ford. "This isn't the PURSELL HOPES to have a good working meeting between local people and regional officials rather than an angry political protest. He has excellent relations with SEMCOG and SEMTA and wants to keep it that way.

Similarly, northwestern Wayne County communities gave stronger support than the state average to the $1.1 billion transportation bond issue that would have implemented much of the SEMCOG-SEMTA plan. While the state as a whole gave that proposal only 42.4 per cent support, it was backed by 46.4 per cent in Redford, 50.1 per cent in Livonia, and 54.8 per cent in the City of Plymouth.

Raymond summed it up: "I was pleased with the plan in general. I do not condemn it. But I do want to make some constructive criticism to help it meet the needs of the people."

TALUS, a six-county planning agency that has now been absorbed by SEMCOG as its planning department, designed the Schoolcraft corridor as a top priority (1990) rapid transit line from downtown Detroit to the Southfield freeway.

A second priority (after 1990) status was assigned to the segment from the Southfield freeway to about Merriman Road, and third priority to the segment from Merriman to downtown Plymouth.

That was five years ago. Today the SEMCOG plan shows only an express bus for the Schoolcraft corridor. Why?

Raymond, who raised that question with SEMCOG officials, quoted them as saying the C&O Railroad tracks, which parallel Schoolcraft Road, failed to meet the needs of a modern transit line. The C&O tracks don't lead to the right spots downtown for commuters, and there are job jurisdiction problems if rapid transit and standard railroad systems attempt to use the same tracks.

RAYMOND WAS the only public official from northwestern Wayne County to make a presentation at SEMCOG's public hearing in Taylor last Oct. 1.

He described the C&O tracks as an existing easement from downtown Detroit to Plymouth that could double as a transit line, and pointed to land near the Detroit Race Course in Livonia that could serve as a station, as well as to Plymouth's station.

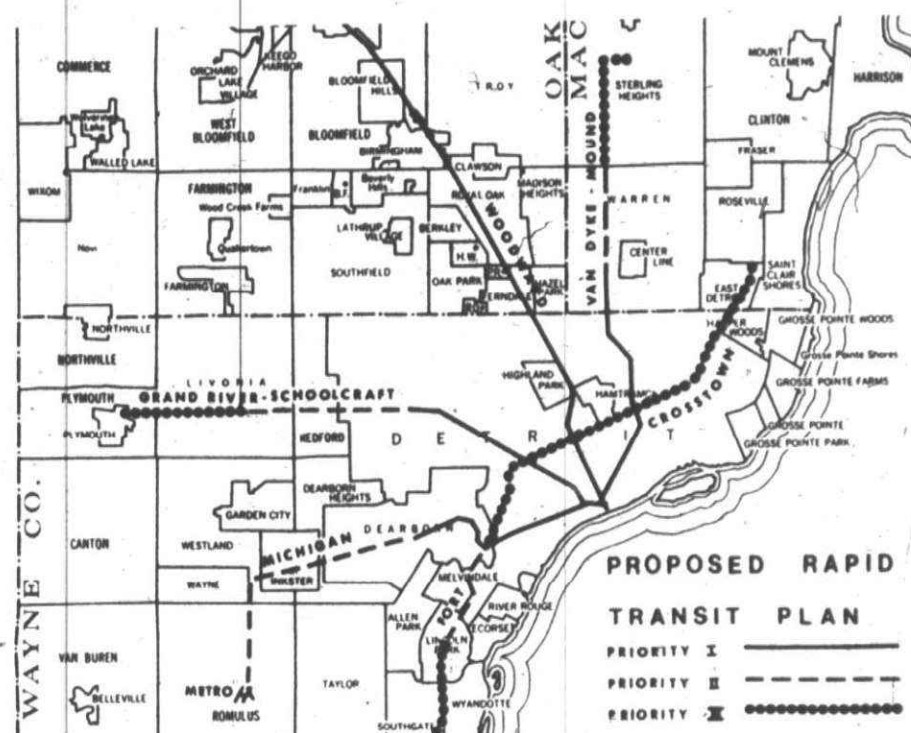

Raymond felt the SEMCOG hearing was more of a "selling job" on SEMCOG's part rather than in inquiry into the needs of people here. He feels SEMCOG may rely too heavily on the advice of technicians and not enough on the voices and needs of people, whose workers could be served by a transit line and to the thousands who patronize the race track.

VALLIER FEELS the SEMTA board is "packed with Oakland and Detroit and north corridor people."

"There should be a representative from northwestern Wayne County there now," says Vallier.

Raymond adds: "No way does the SEMTA board represent northwestern Wayne County. Nine people can't." The SEMTA board consists of nine persons — six appointed by SEMCOG and three by the governor.

IN 1969, TALUS proposed a rapid transit line for the Schoolcraft corridor, with the Detroit to Southfield work given 1990 priority and suburban segments to be built later.

Toys and games hit by inflation, too

By DARLENE STINSON

The inflated price of toys may take some jingle out of pockets this Christmas. But according to most shoppers and store spokesmen surveyed, Santa's bag will be as full as ever Christmas morning.

Toys, many of which are made from scarce plastic and cardboard materials, have not escaped the inflationary spiral, according to managers of local toy departments. Despite the price increases, which many say lag behind other spiraling costs, the prospect of Christmas sales looks as good as ever this at many toy stores.

RAY HERBERT, manager of Montgomery Ward's toy department in Wonderland Center, said a five to 10 per cent jump in toy prices will greet Christmas shoppers this year.

"Prices have gone up to a certain extent," Herbert admits, "but we haven't received the drastic increases of other industries. Right now, sales seem to be holding their own. We seem to be doing about the same business as this time last year."

Jack Murphy, Sears eastern Michigan group merchandise manager, said, "There's been many added categories of toys. Overall, if you compare doll to doll, prices haven't gone up. One area where you'll see a higher price is in the new-type games and toys that are advertised on television. "I can think of many Sears exclusive toys that about stayed the same with about half going up 50 cents to $1. In terms of the inflation we're having now, that's less than the national average. It's mainly because toys are more competitive and seasonal items."

Mile, Livonia, has been brisk so far this season, according to one store spokesman.

Ann Wolfe, publicity director for the S.S. Kresge Co., said toy sales at local Kresge and Kmart stores have been as high as past years.

Eight of 13 shoppers surveyed by the Observer & Eccentric plan to loosen purse strings this holiday season in order to stuff the usual number of toys beneath the Christmas tree.

Nancy Shaw of Northville summed up most shoppers' attitudes.

"There's a big difference in prices," said Mrs. Shaw, as she eyed a doll in a Livonia toy store. "But everything's gone up, so I'll buy as many toys as before. Christmas is for the kids, so if we compromise, it'll be for us."

Freda Rucinski, 26016 Westfield, Redford Township, also plans to buy as many toys for her daughter.

"I have noticed the difference in prices," Mrs. Rucinski said. "I got one toy last year for $10, and now it's $16."

ANOTHER REDFORD Township woman, who declined to disclose her name, said, "I think everything is a bit higher, unfortunately. One thing I bought four years ago was $14, and now it's $20. I'm buying as much, just having two youngsters, but when all five of mine were young, I wouldn't have."

Two of 13 shoppers surveyed said they plan to buy fewer toys while three others said they were too inexperienced at toy shopping to notice the difference in prices.

Susan Kopko of Canton Township has already spent $80 on toys for the nine children on her shopping list, and she is not yet finished.

"Everybody's getting less this year," Mrs. Kopko said. "You just can't afford it. I've noticed a big difference in prices, and I have a lot of kids to buy for."

SHERYL McCLELLAN, a former Westland resident who recently moved to Hartland, said she will buy fewer toys for her four children this year.

"I think everything has gone up," Mrs. McClellan said. "My Christmas money isn't going as far this year. I can't ever remember paying $4 for a regular game. I'm buying less because of the price and because two of mine are getting past that stage."

Harry Harris, manager of Federal's toy department in Wonderland Center, views the Christmas shopping season more pessimistically than his counterparts. An average 15 to 20 per cent price increase will be passed on to Federal toy shoppers this Christmas, Harris said, and business has not been good.

"PEOPLE ARE tightening their belts," Harris said. "A lot of people aren't working, and a lot of them are afraid. People would like to buy, but I hear remarks that things are a little too expensive. In the past, there was always some action in toys during the three weeks before Thanksgiving. That isn't the case now."

One encouraging word comes from Michael O'Brien, manager of Sears' toy department in Livonia Mall, who claims higher price tags have created better quality toys.

"I don't see as much junk available," O'Brien said. "I think higher prices are creating a little better quality toy. The manufacturers can't afford to buy their mistakes back."

O'Brien, expressing the consensus of other toy department managers, said higher price tags have created more selective buyers.

"I think you have a very intelligent purchaser these days," he said. "From what I can see, people are shopping prices and looking at the items. They're being more selective."

Closed meeting decides extra-duty pay issue

By STEVE BARNABY

WESTLAND — Spectators at this week's Wayne-Westland school board meeting were shut out of a discussion on extra pay for teachers. Board members and administrators conducted a 25 minute secret session which interrupted the public session.

The secret meeting was called after trustees disagreed on whether to give teachers full pay for extra duty which teachers missed during the school strike. By contract, teachers are paid extra funds for coaching sports, handling lunch periods and other extra-curricular activities.

Although eventually approving 5-1 a recommendation by Supt. Timothy Dyer to grant the teachers the pay, trustees felt it necessary to discuss the matter privately because they said it dealt with personnel matters. Dissenting in the decision to grant extra pay was Trustee Fred Warmbier. Board President Gerard McGrath was absent.

WARMBIER OBJECTED to the payments, saying that students were the ones who suffered because of teacher attitude.

"There was an instance which occurred during the strike which will be sour grapes in many of the kid's lives," said Warmbier.

Because of the strike, students were refused the right to participate in a debate which, said Warmbier, was a once in a lifetime opportunity.

"To add insult to injury, the teacher involved made a point of rubbing it in. This I cannot condone."

Warmbier said he refused to support a motion granting the pay because he thought residents in the community could handle the extra duties just as well.

For the 1974-75 school year teachers are slated to receive more than $245,000 in extra duty pay. Less than five per cent of this amount was under consideration in this week's proposal, according to administration officials.

Dyer said the incident of which Warmbier referred was regrettable, but thought teachers should, nevertheless, receive the funds.

"As a former debate coach, I deplore the incident. But we find that many of the coaches do much more than is expected of them, anyway," said Dyer.

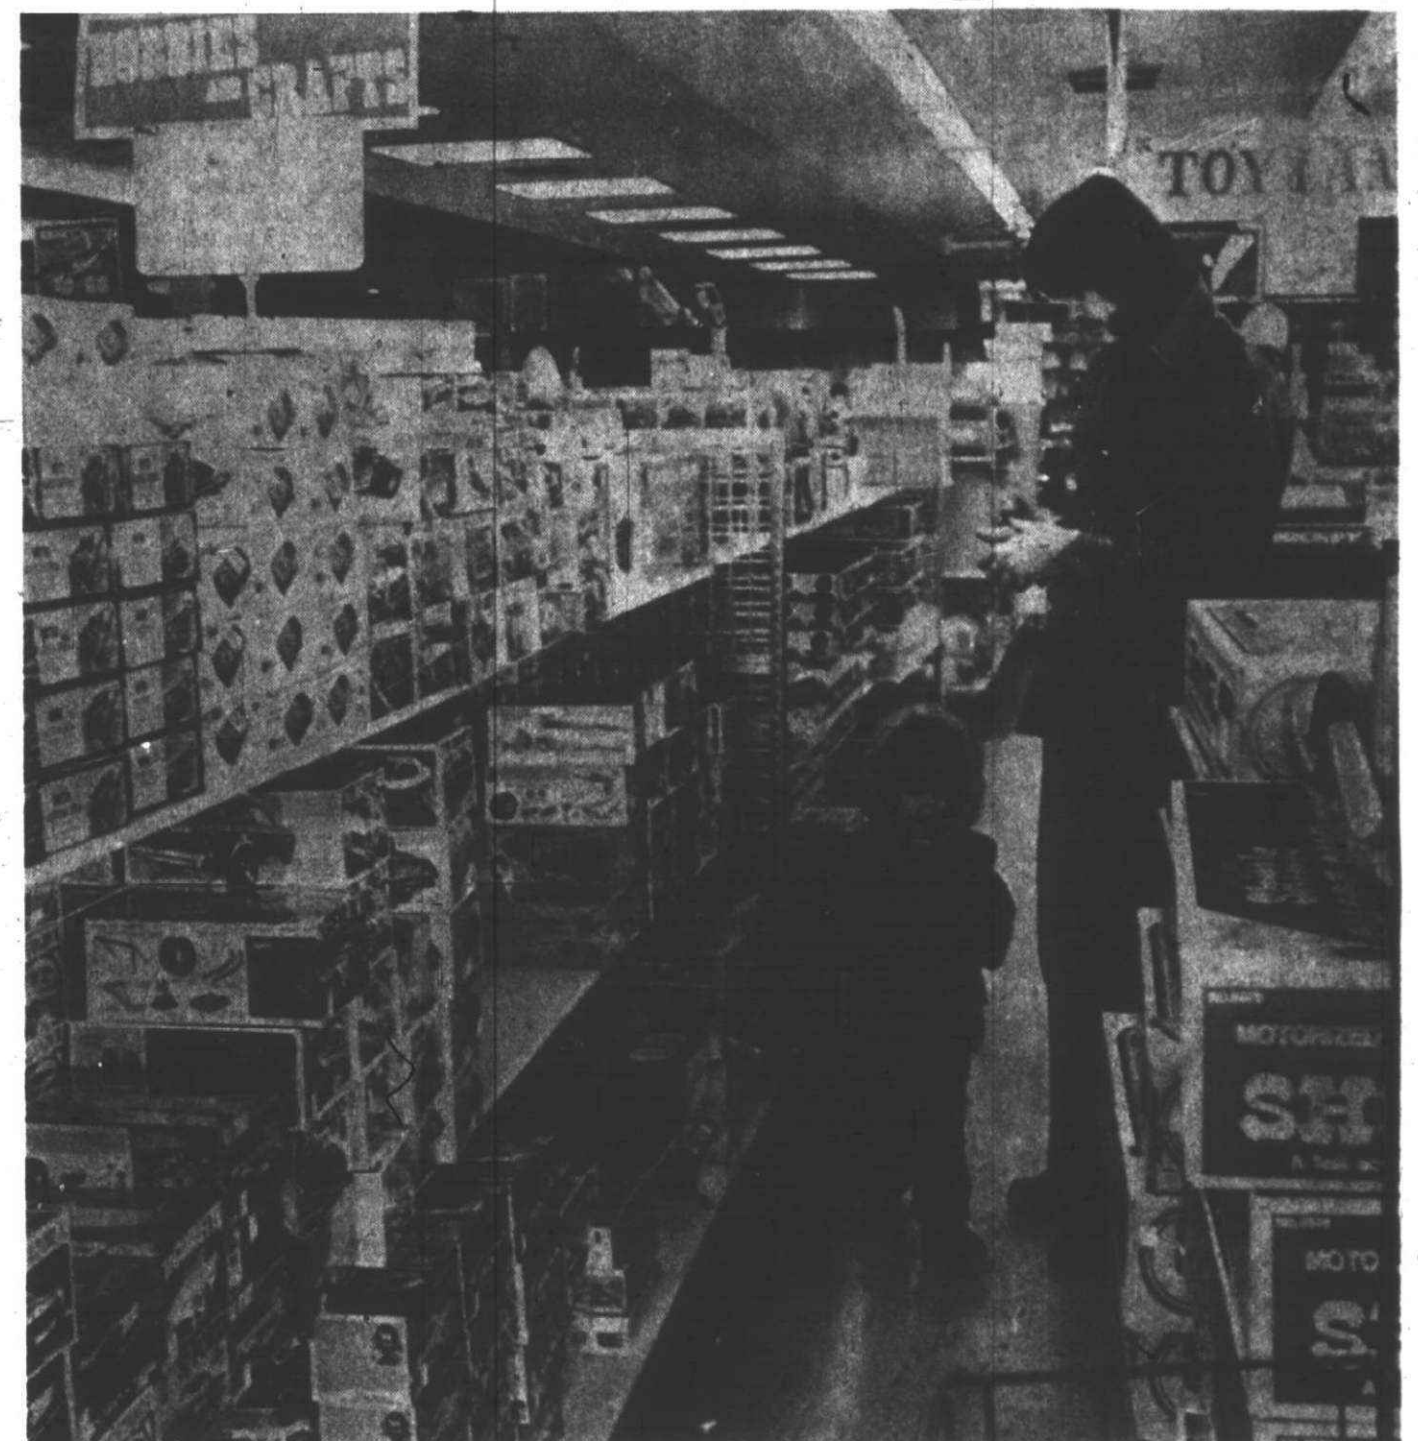

WAYNE MEMORIAL High School Principal George Bell supported his teaching staff, saying they deserved the money.

"I wouldn't keep a person who was doing a minimal job. Those coaches who missed meetings plan to make up the time," said Bell.

"We may end up owing them if we keep track of the hours."

It was Trustee William White who called for the secret meeting at this point in the debate.

"We are being put in a position of questioning the trust of the principals. Personally, I would like an update. I think it will be of much more help," said White.

Kids learn meaning of 'Thanks'

PLYMOUTH—We've all heard of the Scrooges who bemoan the coming of Christmas, but have you ever heard of someone believing he hasn't anything to be thankful for on Thanksgiving?

Well, it happened—at least in the Tanger School version of a Thanksgiving play in which the "villain" believes the Pilgrims had more to be thankful for than he does.

But it doesn't take long for the cast, comprised of Connie Moshimer's first graders and Sue Chapman's second graders, set the villain straight.

THE PLAY evolves around a group of children who are elated they won't have to go to school on Thanksgiving but who, at the same time, are curious about the feast day's origins.

The villain, or doubting Thomas played by Danny Bertell, contends that the Pilgrims may have had reason to celebrate, but he certainly does not.

Thanks to class magician Mark Radwick, time leaps back to the Pilgrims landing at Plymouth Rock and their struggle for survival.

After their first good harvest, one Pilgrim explains, the colony decided to celebrate and invited "good Indians who helped plant corn" to the feast as well.

The celebration was enacted with Pilgrim women dressed in paper bonnets and aprons and with the men sporting large black hats. Indians danced to the beat of tom-toms in brown garb complete with feathers and face paint.

After some thought, the Tanger villain decides he's never had to go hungry or worry about survival and he, too, will celebrate like the Pilgrims did so many years ago.

MRS. MOSHIMER explained that the two classes had little conception of the tradition in which Thanksgiving is steeped, and the children found it difficult to fit into their roles.

"Then we ran some film strips about the first Thanksgiving, and the children were able to identify more with the characters," Mrs. Moshimer said.

And not only did the children receive a lesson in drama but one in history as well.

Michele Heames, a second grader, confessed that she didn't know much about the first Thanksgiving but that the Tanger play was "pretty accurate." Her other concern was of stage fright.

"It was scary," she admitted. "I don't like being in front of all those people."

Paul Makara, a first grader, didn't know the history either, but decided he "liked being a Pilgrim" and was ready for the real Thanksgiving.

Parents of the actors served as the audience, and both children and parents got a taste of the goodness in cooking Thanksgiving has come to mean as they sampled baked goods.

She makes doll clothes for needy children

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—Mrs. Sharon VanDerGraaf of Plymouth Township will be loved by lots of children this Christmas, although they won't know who she is. Mrs. VanDerGraaf makes clothing for dolls which will be given to underprivileged children.

She first got the idea when her 4-year-old daughter cried tears of joy after opening a Christmas package containing a doll her daughter had so badly wanted. Mrs. VanDerGraaf thought it would be nice if an underprivileged child could shed these same kind of tears.

"I'm a softy," she said, "and I thought I'd enjoy doing it too."

In January of this year, she began collecting dolls from the Salvation Army, with a great amount of help coming from her mother who purchased most of the 100 dolls.

Mrs. VanDerGraaf noted that she spent on the average of three hours per doll. This included the scrubbing and cleaning of the dolls, the rolling and styling of their hair and the sewing of the clothes and shoes for each doll. Not all the dolls which she could have purchased could have been restored because of the lipstick and ink stains which marked some of the dolls, claimed Mrs. VanDerGraaf.

An outfit of blue denim trousers and a blue and white checked blouse was worn by a teenage doll with blond braids and typified a country girl. Another, donned in an aqua chiffon gown, dramatized a fashion doll. Still another, cuddled in a baby pink bunting outfit, characterized a sleeping child.

All the clothes, from scraps of previous projects, or material given to her from friends, are machine sewn. The doll shoes, made of vinyl material, were made from a pattern her husband devised for her.

The 100 dolls were finished in seven months and were all she could handle because of lack of space in their mobile home located in Plymouth Hills Mobile Home Park off of Ridge Road. Her husband, Bill, had stored some of the dolls at work.

"I had so much fun doing it; the dolls almost seem to acquire a personality of their own," she said.

The Goodfellows will distribute 50 of the dolls to underprivileged children, but the other 50 still need a charity service to distribute them.

Mrs. VanDerGraaf, who also sews clothes for her daughter and 8-year-old son, took four years of sewing in high school. Noting that she came from a family of eight children, she said she learned and enjoyed to make her own clothes.

Aside from sewing, Mrs. VanDerGraaf crochets, babysits and teaches the art of quilting at the Busy Bee Craft Store located on Main Street in Plymouth.

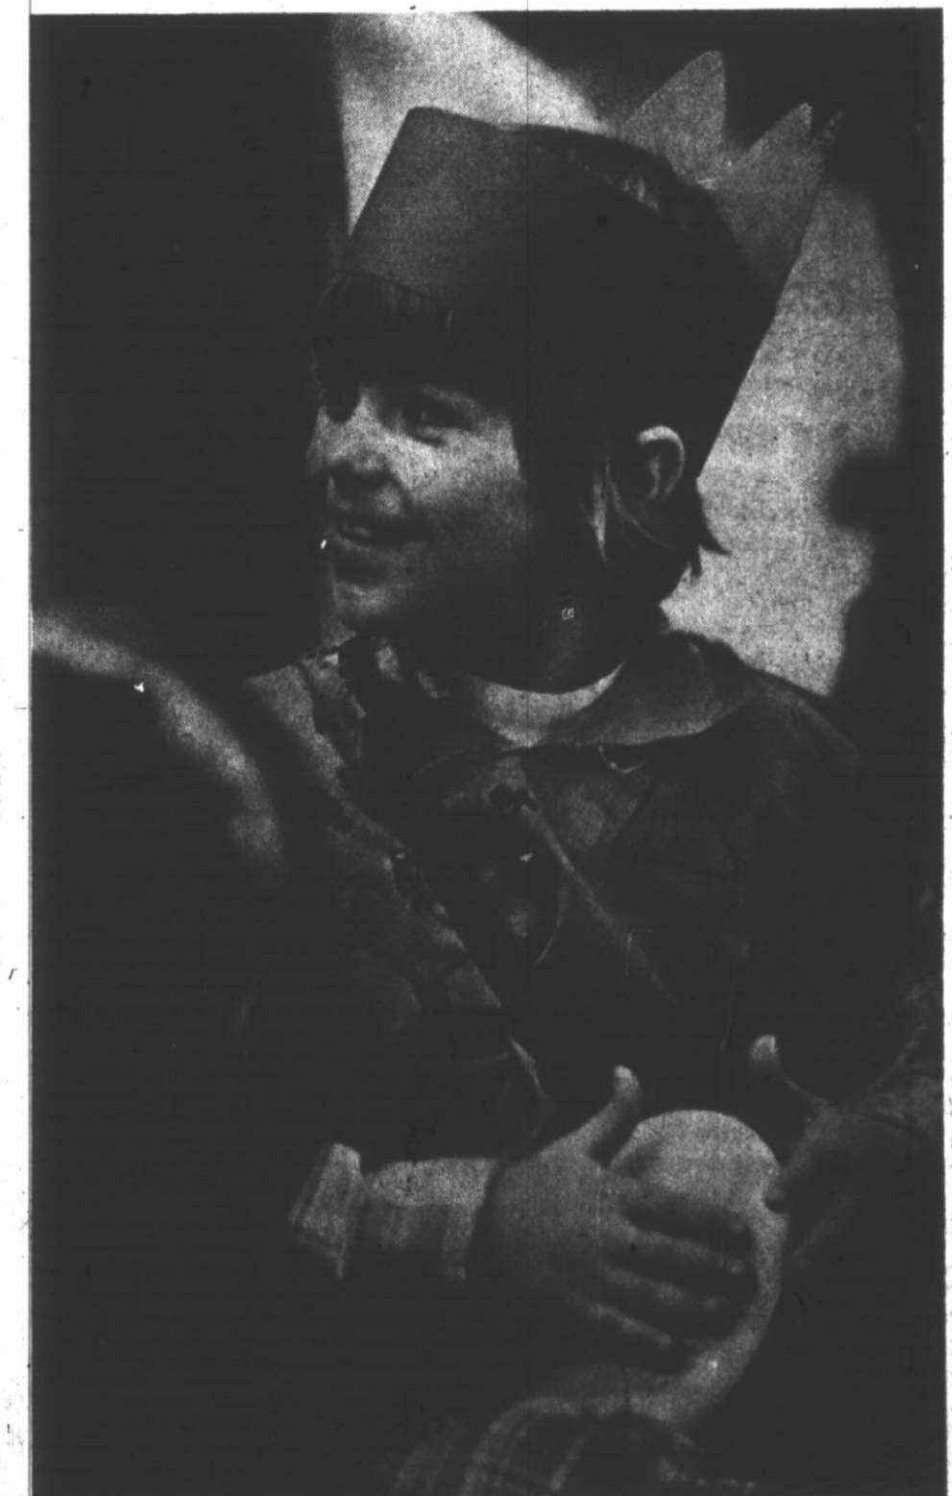

Quilling is the creation of intricate designs using rolled strips of paper, yarn and a hat pin. Mrs. VanDerGraaf said her pride and joy is a flying balloon which hangs in her living room. It is made of yellow and orange paper strips and yarn and is set on a black background.

4 residents win in lottery

Four area residents were among the many winners in the jackpot drawing conducted by the Michigan Bureau of State Lottery on Nov. 8. Albert Nutton of Garden City won $3,000. John Lazosky of Livonia and Essa Aneed of Westland each won $1,000. Sylvia Kusza of Livonia won $4,000 in the Oct. 17 jackpot drawing. The jackpot final drawing will be held Dec. 13 with top prize being $333,333 in cash with the option of receiving $20,000 a year for life. Minimum prize is $20,000. The jackpot winners mentioned above will participate in the Dec. 13 finals plus finalists from the Nov. 21 and 29 drawings. The gold jackpot tickets for the eight drawing dates Oct. 10 through Nov. 29 which don't qualify for any prize on the particular drawing will be eligible for a losers' drawing Dec. 3. The losers' prize is $1,000 cash.

Council names consumer chief

The Michigan Consumers Council, a state agency, has named Linda Joy, 27, to the position of council executive director. Ms. Joy, a former aide to Attorney General Frank Kelley and former council staff member, was selected by the nine-member council. She succeeds N. Lorraine Beebe who resigned the directorship under pressure last July and made a recent unsuccessful bid for the office of Secretary of State. Ms. Joy is expected to assume her duties in the job, which will pay between $15,000-20,000 by the end of the year.

Madonna receives grant for volunteers to aid aging

Some 200 volunteers are being recruited for a program at Madonna College, Livonia, to train them to assist the aged.

Volunteers to Assist the Aging (VAA) is being formed through a $25,000 appropriation from the Michigan Legislature. It will provide course work on problems of the aging and related laboratory experiences.

THIS IS THE first such volunteer training program to aid the aging in the state and could serve as a pilot project for other volunteer programs.

That prediction was made by Sister M. Danatha, president of Madonna, who was joined in announcing the grant by Sen. Carl D. Parsell (R-Plymouth) and C. Patrick Babcock, director of Services to the Aging, Michigan Department of Social Services.

Tuition-free training classes for volunteers will be scheduled at Madonna during the winter term. While taking classes, volunteers will be assigned to work with elderly persons who have been referred by social agencies, church groups, or governmental units.

The college will grant two semester hours of credit to those who qualify for admission.

MADONNA, which has had degree programs in gerontology since 1970, will contribute more than $15,000 in faculty services and facilities.

Course work will include discussions, lectures, videotapes, and films on the physiology and psychology of aging, nutrition and health, spiritual wellbeing, legal and financial planning for the elderly, services of social security and other government agencies, and family relationships.

Volunteers will be assigned initially to elderly who are homebound, mobility limited, physically or emotionally handicapped.

The VAA is one component of a multi-faceted program to provide professional courses in gerontology for persons wishing to be or already employed in care of the elderly.

Volunteers might be nursing home aides, recreational therapists, nutritionists, community health workers, or social work aides.

ANOTHER PHASE, to be effective in the 1975 fall term, will offer college classes designed for the elderly themselves.

They will be both recreational and academic in nature, ranging from painting and sewing to economics and philosophy. The senior citizens may enroll in one course each term tuition-free.

The Madonna VAA program was developed on recommendation of a committee of Wayne County senior citizens and social service personnel.

Serving on the advisory committee to assist Sister M. Lauriana, Madonna dean, in developing the proposal were: Miss Elizabeth Peck and Mrs. Catherine Joyce of Westland; Mrs. Evelyn McGuire of the Westland Mayor's Council on Aging; Mrs. Mildred Wieland of the Livonia Mayor's Commission on Aging; James Middleton and Edward Wilson of the Livonia Senior Citizens.

Also: Mrs. Dorothy Vary, director of Homemakers' Service, Detroit; Edward Vary Jr., Detroit; Mrs. Beatrice Scalise, director of Westland Senior Citizens Agency; Mrs. Mary Ann Naboychik, coordinator of the Livonia Senior Citizens; and Mrs. Irene Smith, Wayne County Regional Aging Specialist.

VOLUNTEERS WHO wish to apply for training should contact Madonna College, at Levan and 5 Mile, immediately for an application.

Sister Colleen Morris, RN with a master's degree, will direct the program and be assisted by Sr. Bridget Woods, MA, who will coordinate volunteer training and placement.

Orientation conferences will be scheduled in December.

The VAA training follows in the successful pattern of Madonna programs to train probation officers and child care aides, adds Sr. Danatha.

Alcohol, drug help program is started for county employes

A program to help Wayne County employes with problems related to alcohol, drug abuse and emotional disorders has received initial approval from the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Meeting as the ways and means committee, the commissioners unanimously voted Nov. 15 to approve first-year funding of $55,400 and to create an eight-member advisory committee. Final approval is expected today (Thursday).

TOM F. TAYLOR (D-Westland), whose district includes Garden City, and George Killen (D-Detroit) jointly proposed the "troubled employe rehabilitation program."

Taylor is chairman of the county board's human resources committee and Killen has long been active in substance abuse rehabilitation.

Initial staff will consist of a counseling supervisor-instructor, a counselor, and a stenographer.

County employes with appropriate backgrounds will be recruited to serve as unpaid volunteer counselors. The program will be similar to those that are increasingly being used in industry, such as the one instituted by Detroit Diesel in Redford Township, and other levels of government.

EMPLOYEES WILL be able to seek help on their own initiative or by referral by their supervisor when poor job performance indicates a problem.

Taylor stresses employe contacts with the program will be kept confidential.

Killen estimates there are at least 900 persons with substance abuse problems among the approximate 9,000 county employes.

"If we can rehabilitate even one-fourth of them, the savings to the county, and to society will be tremendous."

"This program will save dollars and cents far beyond the $55,000," Killen continues. "Another thing it will save is the dignity of a human being who has a problem but doesn't know what to do about it."

Abuse of alcohol or other substance is a factor in 85 per cent of the cases of chronic employe absenteeism, Killen states. "This program really isn't going to cost the county a dime because of the savings in reduced absenteeism and improved job performance."

TROUBLED EMPLOYEES will be referred to existing community resources such as Alcoholics Anonymous and other organizations with proven success in substance abuse rehabilitation.

SC approves procedures on student record access

Written permission from a Schoolcraft student will be required in most instances before the school's administration releases any information about him beyond what is considered public information.

The only exceptions are circumstances specifically authorized by the college president, by court order or subpoena.

Inquiries that will be answered without a release include whether a student is currently enrolled, his dates of enrollment, the degrees earned, if any, and the dates.

THE COLLEGE'S BOARD of trustees has accepted procedural guidelines implementing its policy on the confidentiality of student records which had been adopted in September.

David Heinzman, Schoolcraft's director of college relations, said the policy probably was prompted by the new federal Family Educational Right and Privacy Act which cuts off federal funds to any school district which denies parents (or students over age 18) access to their child's school records and to challenge the contents they feel are in error.

He stressed the college had experienced no problems with the privacy of student records.

STUDENTS ARE entitled to a copy of their own college transcript and an explanation of information recorded on it. The examination will be conducted under the supervision of the administrator in charge.

Documents submitted for admission or transfer credit will not be returned to the student nor sent elsewhere at his request unless the transcript is unobtainable elsewhere.

Faculty and administrative officers who have a legitimate interest in transcript material and demonstrate a need to know its contents will be permitted to see the documents. However, the contents cannot be released or removed from the office without the president's permission or a court order.

Appraisers will discuss obsolescence

"Techniques of Determining Functional Obsolescence" is the topic for the Dec. 4 meeting of Michigan Chapter 10 of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

The business-dinner meeting will be held in the Holiday Inn of Farmington, 38123 W. 10 Mile, I-96 at Grand River.

The talk on functional obsolescence will be supplemented by slides. The program also includes installation of 1975 officers.

Student directories will be released by the registrar for administrative use only.

No grade reports, transcripts or diplomas will be released until all the student's financial obligations—including traffic, library and physical education equipment violations and student loans—to the college are removed.

UNDER A SEPARATE, but related policy covering destruction of student records, the board has agreed each student's transcript will be considered a permanent document of the college, and a duplicate copy will be stored in a different place for safekeeping.

Student folders will be destroyed two years after a student's last date of attendance and/or graduation.

Records of students who apply for admission but do not register will be maintained for two years and then destroyed.

In other business, the board:

- Received the college's tentative budget development calendar which shows planning on the 1975-76 budget beginning immediately. A public hearing is scheduled on the budget on May 28, 1975.

LAURENCE MASTEN has been appointed manager of the three regional Red Cross offices located in Livonia, Dearborn and Wyandotte. He is responsible for noting the needs of the region and to help volunteers meet those needs. He will make presentations to groups demonstrating the aspects of Red Cross programs and the chance for community service as a Red Cross volunteer. Masten was a field representative serving several Red Cross chapters throughout Michigan. He is a Dearborn resident.

Pilgrims vs. Puritans

Despite their common heritage,
Plymouth was colorful and happy while Salem was plain Dullsville

BY SHERRY KAHAN

With Thanksgiving close at hand there is a great deal of talk in the land about the Pilgrims and Puritans.

Generally, these esteemed ancestors are remembered collectively for the matching buckles they wore on their hats and shoes, and because that they were a pretty grim lot.

One group gave us Thanksgiving and the other hanged some witches. But which gave us the feast and which the witches?

To remove the suspense immediately, it should be noted the Pilgrims are bracketed with the joyous occasion and the Puritans with the somber one.

YET DESPITE this notable difference in outlook, the two groups were similar in many ways. They had a common heritage in England and came to the new world at about the same time for much the same reason.

The New Politics group of their generation, they both wished to change the established church of England. It was much too posh and bureaucratic for them.

The Pilgrims made the Massachusetts scene first, sailing along Cape Cod in the Mayflower and finally dropping anchor for good in 1620 in Plymouth, a town they established south of present-day Boston.

The Puritans began to arrive in numbers in 1630 to settle in a picturesque spot north of Boston. They named it Salem and it proved to be even more bewitching than they thought.

YET WHILE the two colonies were somewhat alike, there was one essential difference. The Pilgrims were swimmers, the Puritans were not. Salem was Dullsville, USA, and while Plymouth was not exactly Las Vegas, the Pilgrims were at least a good deal less repressed and conformist than their northern neighbors.

For their clothes, they chose way-out browns, greens and even a daring touch of scarlet upon occasion. The Puritans felt strongly against adorning the body with anything more dashing than grisly grey, chaste white or satanic black.

THE PILGRIMS also enjoyed cutting loose once in a while with robust songs they had learned in Elizabethan England. The hymn-singing Puritans claimed self-denial as their principal form of entertainment. Just about everything interesting in life was considered wicked except, perhaps, snooping.

They constantly spied on each other to ferret out the tiniest piece of devilry to report to the authorities. Fun was out. Repression was in.

When they weren't busy thinking elevated thoughts, they struggled to repress the baser ones. The strain was too much. The Salem witch trials are considered by many historians to be an hysterical reaction of the Puritans to this sort of thing.

Of course, it might have helped to calm matters had Salem's dynamic minister, Cotton Mather, tried to put the lid on. But because of his own psychological and religious hang-ups he was leading the pack. Before it was over, 150 had been imprisoned, 20 hanged.

THE PILGRIMS were a little more easy going. They didn't talk about it much but enjoyed liquor and women. The Puritans may have also, but hated themselves for it.

When the first settlers came to this country, they were astonished to find water was something you drank. That had not always been the case in merry England. But by that time it was hard to break old habits. Beer was important in those days and the founding fathers fussed a lot to the founding mothers when they were served water.

Owing to the many tragic deaths from childbirth, these pioneer fathers were also the marrying kind. Writing about the Pilgrims, George Willison said, "They married early and often and late."

And, if we are to judge from the enormous number of people who subsequently claimed to be descendants of those who arrive on the Mayflower, the begetting must have been awesome.

IN HIS BOOK, "Saints and Strangers" Willison provides a rather delicious footnote about the Pilgrims.

He wrote, "The Pilgrims believed that if a child were born on Wednesday, it had been conceived on a Wednesday — which led to great embarrassment at times for many a child was unhappily born on the Sabbath."

In those strict days people were not supposed to do ANYTHING on on Sunday.

Nor were the Pilgrims without their shotgun marriages. When Thomas De Lannoy (Delano) married the daughter of Priscilla Mullens Alden, the bride delivered a son on her wedding day.

The children born in this era often received names which their parents believed were highly inspirational. That well-known trio, Faith, Hope and Charity, was very big in old New England.

But these were only modest hopes for godliness and virtue compared to some of the other names used. Wrestling-With-The-Devil, Thankful-to-God and Fear-the-Lord were a few of the handles they hung on their helpless offspring.

It must have made a lively sound on the brisk New England air when all these children were called in to supper.

IN THEIR GROUP the Pilgrims had the greater number of celebrities. They had William Bradford, Captain Myles Standish, John Alden and Priscilla Mullens, that whole crowd.

John Winthrop was the principal big name among the Puritans. But even without star talent, the Puritans managed to make their colony at Massachusetts Bay the dominant one in New England.

As they became bigger and more powerful the Puritans took a turn for the worse. A strong group of self-righteous moralists turned the colony into a theocracy and proceeded to throw out into the cold people like the personable Roger Williams and the brilliant Anne Hutchinson.

Possibly it was to be expected. Contrary to popular belief, the Puritans did not come to the new world to establish a colony dedicated to religious liberty. Rather, they came here to win for themselves the freedom to be prejudiced.

THEY WOULD ESTABLISH a colony of saints and exclude all the wicked people of the world. Wickedness, they knew, would soon bring down the wrath of God in some terrible way on them all.

That was why they rooted it out so fiercely in their colony. But in so doing they made their government the most repressive and totalitarian this country has ever known.

At Plymouth, life was easier. The Pilgrims were not exactly red hot on the freedom question, but were far more tolerant than the Puritans.

For example when the Quakers arrived, the Puritans hanged them or cut off their ears. The Pilgrims may have felt like doing this, but considered it unworthy of them.

BUT WHILE the Pilgrims were far ahead on the question of tolerance, they were drop-outs as far as education was concerned.

An indication of how strongly the Puritans felt about schools lies in the fact that a mere six years after they arrived in a wilderness completely empty of dwellings or sustenance, they established Harvard College. They also started "Dame" schools for the children.

The Pilgrims pled poverty as their reason for the school gap. While a few of them taught their children at home, the group as a whole in those early days is estimated by historians to have lagged 50 years behind the Puritans, education-wise.

HOWEVER, THESE WERE the people who gave us Thanksgiving, so perhaps it doesn't matter that for a time they couldn't read. We know they could eat.

As for the holiday after Thanksgiving, the less said the better. About the worst thing you can say about the Puritans is they tried to do away with Christmas.

Its joy and color made them nervous. Its fun and brilliance even offended some Pilgrims. But here again they were never as restrictive about it as the Puritans.

BY NOW IT SHOULD BE apparent that religion was very serious to both groups. To us today it may seem all it did was to make them two colonies of party poopers.

But it had its uses. It sustained and disciplined them for their tough fight for survival. Also, interestingly enough, it introduced them to democracy.

Back in the old country they had not only been against the rich pageant ry of the Anglican Church, they were also against the way it was run. Policies were determined at the top. Rules were made at the top. Directives descended from the top.

The Pilgrims and Puritans wanted a topless church.

IN ENGLAND, without realizing it, they had daubed themselves with the essence of democracy by choosing their own pastors and voting on local church matters.

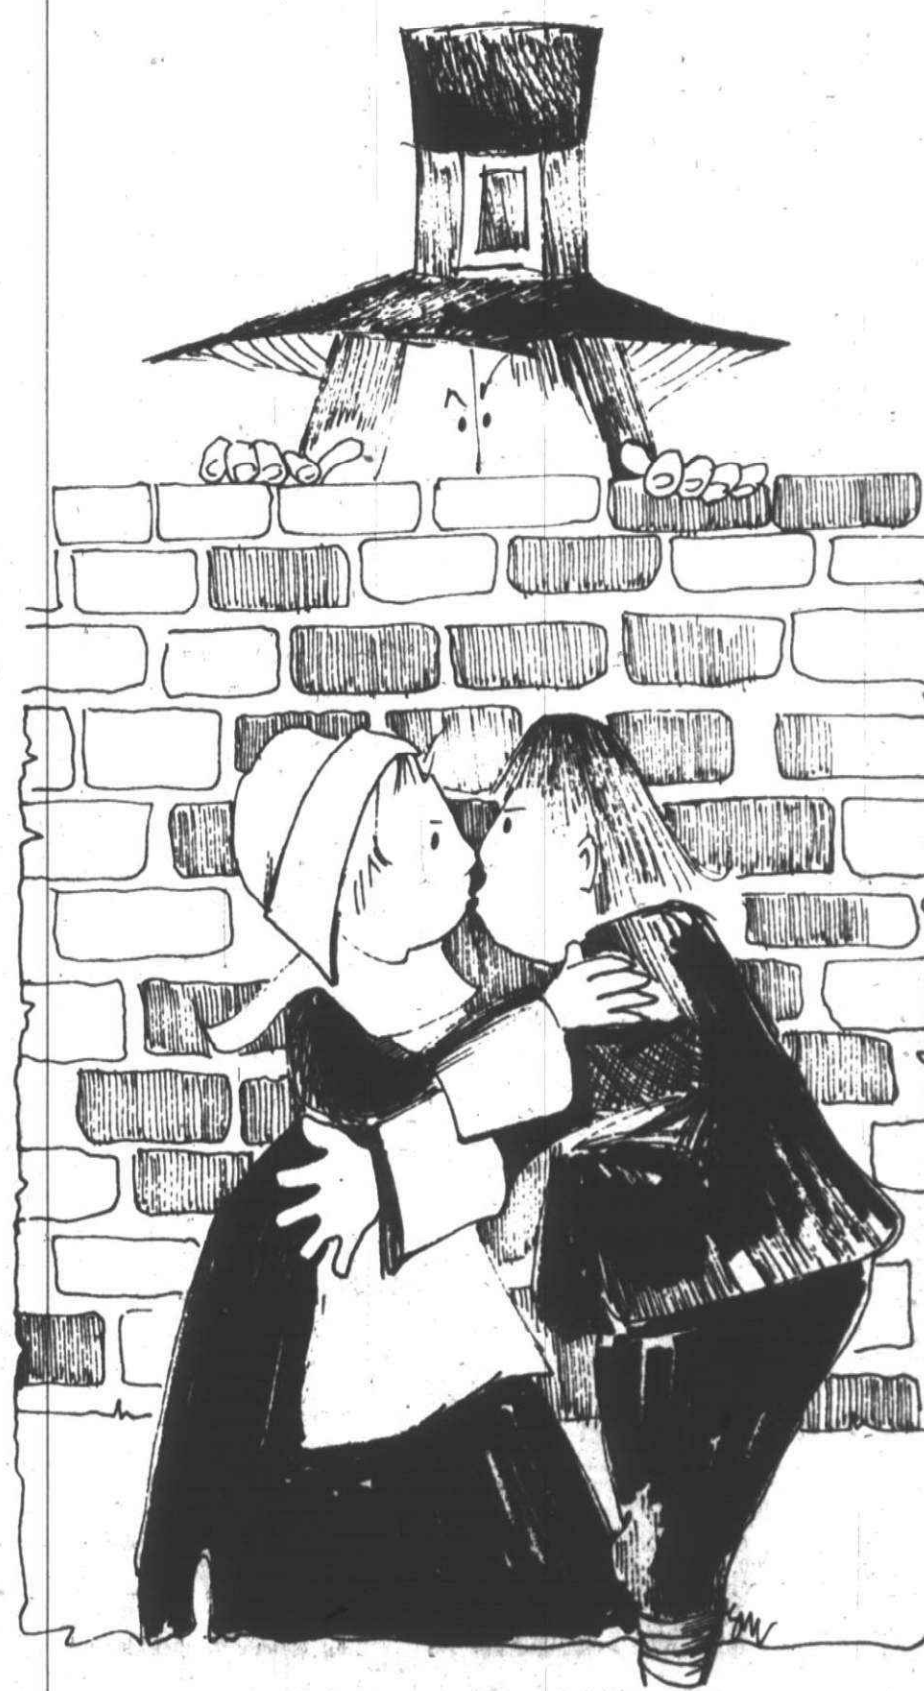

Some of this kind of thinking made its way east on the Mayflower. Before the travelers even moved permanently off the ship, the Pilgrims signed an agreement to keep united the various elements in the colony.

Under the Mayflower Compact they all voted to live together under "just and equal laws."

It was certainly never their intention to create a democracy. Once elected their officials were often dictatorial. But at least with their simple voting procedures they introduced the machinery of democracy.

You know how Americans are about machinery. They know how to adapt it to their needs. Voting procedures applied first to church matters gradually made their way into civil affairs. The town meeting was born.

Presently, other colonists looking for the best methods by which they could survive together, picked up these ideas and carried them across the continent.

Business club to meet Dec. 3

The Livonia Business and Professional Women's Club will meet Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 6:30 p.m. in the Hillside Inn, Plymouth.

Those interested in making reservations may contact, Jane Hopper, 18596 Shady Side, Lillian Kerr, 34936 W. Chicago, or June Watson, 33605 New Hampshire, all in Livonia.

We're a family of football nuts—a fact that may somehow have come to light in these paragraphs on previous occasions.

But the events of the last two Big Ten races have us crying "Enough already." Almost.

Our super interest, of course, has lain in the fact that our No. 1 daughter is one of the most enthusiastic clarinetists in the marching band at this state's top contender.

That means that twice she—and her family as well as her fellow marchers—have built up all season for the prospect of the Rose Bowl trip for her.

And twice a pigskin that refused to go through the uprights has ended the dream.

NOW USUALLY I can enjoy a good game of football, but in last year's final game of the season I found myself in a state that can't be called enjoyment at all.

I thought I was alone in that regard until this year the man of our house—who certainly has taught the rest of us our gridmanship—announced he thought he'd head for Kensington Park, anywhere away from the television screen, during the big game.

He didn't, of course, and neither did I. But we both managed to intersperse some home chores with football viewing to break the tension. All the time telling ourselves it was only a game.

m.m.memos

OUR BAND DAUGHTER had been absolutely confident. No way could she be brought down to earth. No way could her team lose.

The other girls had a variety of bets made with people who had gone to school south of the border. They were glued to that TV set. Stronger constitutions, I guess.

We made it through the first two quarters and at half time got a glimpse of our gal on the television screen. But there was still a second half to watch.

And on that final missed field goal, two teenagers burst into tears. Then one of them looked up at the kicker and wailed, "I feel so sorry for that guy."

THE NEXT DAY we got in touch with our non-traveler, definitely back to earth but she'll make it.

And then my husband sat back to watch a pro football game.

"Sure is nice," he sighed, "to be cheering again for my money instead of my sentiment."

I couldn't agree more. But then, there's always next year...

Tips for Tom Turkey

Before gobbling up your gobbler take a few steps to make sure that the turkey you serve on Thanksgiving is both safe and delicious.

The first step in preparing your bird is thawing it.

"Do not thaw at room temperature," warns Kathy Bufton, Michigan State University Extension home economist. She suggests that you thaw the bird in the refrigerator. Leave it in its original wrapping and place it on a tray to catch the drippings.

"If your turkey is too large to thaw in the refrigerator, thaw it under cold running water," suggests Mrs. Bufton.

Or immerse the turkey in cold water, changing water frequently. A small bird will thaw in three to four hours, a larger bird in six to seven hours.

The problem with thawing at room temperature, she said, is that bacteria has too good a chance to grow. For the same reason, she advises against partially cooking the turkey at one time and finishing it later.

"ALWAYS COMPLETE the roasting in one continuous period," says Mrs. Bufton. "Low temperatures — 325 degrees F — assure better flavor, appearance, less shrinkage and less loss of juices."

Stuffing inside a warm turkey is also a great breeding place for bacteria. It is safest to cook the stuffing outside the bird and stuffing cooked this way is easier to serve to a large crowd.

"If you do cook the dressing inside the bird, cook until the meat thermometer inserted into the stuffing reaches at least 165 degrees F," warns Mrs. Bufton. "Never stuff the turkey the night before cooking."

If you buy a commercially frozen stuffed turkey, do not defrost it. Place the frozen turkey directly into the oven and follow cooking instructions on the package.

WHEN THE MEAL is over, refrigerate the turkey immediately. Remove the stuffing and refrigerate it separately.

After stuffing the defrosted turkey place poultry pins across the opening of the body cavity. Lace across pins with string. Wrap the string around the tail and ends of legs and tie.

To roast a whole unstuffed turkey, close the body cavity with poultry pins.

Place the bird breast side up on a rack in a shallow pan. Brush the skin with butter or soft fat. Cover the turkey with a loose tent of aluminum foil or a piece of thin cloth moistened with fat. This will prevent excessive browning.

If desired, baste or brush turkey occasionally with pan drippings or butter.

When turkey is two-thirds done, cut the cord or band of skin at the tail to release the legs to permit heat to reach the heavy meat part.

MRS. BUFTON suggests cooking a four to eight pound stuffed turkey from three to 4 1/2 hours, a six to 12 pound bird from 3 1/2 to five hours.

Speakers consider special education

Mrs. Dorothy Jens and Mrs. Fran King will speak at a meeting of the Livonia-Redford Chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities Wednesday, Dec. 4, at 7:30 p.m. in Franklin High School, 3100 Joy, Livonia.

Their topic is "Mandatory Special Education, Public Law 198—Expectations and Realities."

Mrs. Jens is a school psychologist with Lakeview School District in St. Clair Shores. She has been vice-president in charge of education for MACLD at the state level for the past seven years.

She is supervisor of the learning abilities laboratory at Wayne State University.

Mrs. King is state parent advising coordinator for MACLD and president of the Royal Oak Area Chapter. She has been involved with MACLD since 1965.

The Stroller

Fickle Lady Luck frowns twice

A few years back when the Stroller was gallivanting around the country covering the major sports events of the day, it always was customary for the denizens of the press box to ask: "Who do you think Lady Luck will smile upon today— or will she just frown?"

These writers had become calloused to the glamour and tension of the championship games, or fights and they knew that most often, when two equally matched teams met on the field of play, it invariably would be a smile from the fickle lady—or a frown—that would play the major role in deciding the winner.

The Stroller recalled some of these press box meetings last Saturday afternoon when he sat in his easy chair, far removed from the field of play, to watch the Michigan-Ohio State game on the tube.

AS THE PICTURE came into view in living color he couldn't help saying, "Well, I wonder who will draw the smile or frown today."

As the opening formalities were taking place right there on the screen The Stroller was positive that Mike Lantry, the Michigan kicking specialist, wouldn't be the target of the fickle lady's whims.

He had been in the press box in Ann Arbor last year when, with the score tied at 10 points, Mike stepped back to attempt a field goal that, if successful, would give the Wolverines the Big Ten championship over Ohio State and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

It was at that moment, with so much riding on the one play, that the fickle lady cast a frown on Mike and his kick fell short. Had it been successful there would have been no need of a vote by the directors to decide which team to send to the Rose Bowl.

It was the memory of that disastrous moment a year ago that caused The Stroller to say to himself, "Well, I don't think it will be Mike this year."

But one never knows just how fickle Lady Luck can be. And before the shadows fell on the stadium in Columbus, she had frowned on Mike again—proving that lightning can strike twice in the same place.

THE SCENE was almost identical of a year ago—when a field goal would have brought a title, possibly a vote for the national championship and a trip to the daddy of all bowl games.

Whereas a year ago Mike's kick was short of the uprights, this time it was wafted by the wind and was just a bit wide.

So Michigan, with the best collegiate football record in the country for the last three years, must sit back and let others take the glory.

These are the moments the veteran sport writers used to look for in the big events. And the record books are filled with cases where Lady Luck decided the outcome.

Michigan's misfortune last week stirred many memories for the Stroller.

Well he recalls that way back in 1924 the world series in baseball was decided when a simple ground ball hit a pebble in front of Freddie Lindstrom, the New York Giants' third baseman. The ball bounded over his head and the Washington Senators won the game on that "freak"—and the series.

Back in 1926, Bennie Oosterbaan, Michigan's all-time All-American end, picked up a fumble on the frozen turf of the stadium at Minnesota and scampered for the touchdown that beat the Gophers, 7-6. It always was claimed that Bennie was playing out of position when he grabbed the fumble. But Lady Luck smiled on him.

On another occasion the Stroller was sitting the press box at Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass., watching a game between Holy Cross and the University of Detroit.

IT WAS A gruelling game and with only a minute to play, Detroit was leading 7-6, when Holy Cross sent in a player to try a field goal.

As the kicker trotted out on the field Fr. O'Donnel, president of Holy Cross, sitting in the press box, remarked: "I never heard of this boy as a kicker." Neither had any one else. When he took the pass from center, he held the ball like a loaf of bread and dropped it to the ground. He put his foot to it. The ball wobbled but hit the crossbar and went over for the three points that brought defeat to the Detroiters.

No wonder football coaches become prematurely gray...and it all comes about on the whims of the fickle Lady Luck.

Bound for the Galapagos Islands on the first leg of their trans-Pacific crossing, Maurice and Maralyn Bailey were cast adrift in a 5-foot rubber dinghy when a wounded whale struck and sank their 31-foot ketch. "Staying Alive!" is the story of their astonishing courage and uncanny ingenuity, and of an unswerving faith in each other as they endured the dangers of the sea until they were rescued 117 days later.

The beautiful Aspasia, companion of Pericles, ruler of ancient Athens, is reincarnated in Taylor Caldwell's "Glory and the Lightning." In pursuing her destiny, Aspasia finds herself increasingly in rebellion against the helpless position of women in ancient society.

Balancing the intricate moves and countermoves of terrorists and pursuers, Colin Forbes ushers in the "Year of the Golden Ape" with the murders of Arab leaders whose sympathies were with the West. As the plot to immobilize the West—and thus prevent arms supplies to Israel—unfolds, the action races from the Near East across Europe to the United States—and a homemade nuclear bomb fashioned from hijacked plutonium.

Business conventions are routinely similar: present the line, review new figures, renew old friendships. Fletcher Knebel takes us to Arc-Horn's convention in "The Bottom Line," where there is a difference—one of degree. Even so, nobody was prepared for certain unscheduled developments.

"Companions Along the Way" recounts the parallel lives of author Ruth Montgomery and the late medium Arthur Ford as they shared a Group Karma with a cluster of brilliant souls on the upward path through time, stretching from a Palestinian life at the time of Christ to nine other meetings on earth. Details of their twentieth century lives check out uncannily with their previous existences on earth.

Based on Dan Rather's interviews, on-the-scene observations and hard pursuit of the facts, "The Palace Guard" shows how Nixon's disciples acquired so much power, how they used it to elevate or destroy each other, and how, eventually, they set in motion the forces that have "left an indelible moral stain on the American Presidency."

In her fifty-odd years of covering the news, Adelle Rogers St. John came to the conclusion that "Some are Born Great." There are memorable thoughts, scenes, and facts on every page as she writes about Amelia Earhart, Carry Nation, Rachel Carson, Anne Morrow Lindbergh, Judy Garland, Mother Cabrini, Bess Truman, and scores of others. A mixed bag, to be sure, but full of excitement, drama—and surprise at the author's final selection of the greatest.

"Maigret returns to penetrate the world and minds of the super-rich and their motives. He knows he walks on mined ground and that a single faux pas will get him into serious trouble.

However, Simenon is, of course, on the side of the detective in "Maigret and the Millionaires," and the case is solved with the author's usual finesse.

Of particular local interest is Mabel Cooper Skjelver's book of "Nineteenth Century Homes of Marshall, Michigan," originally published in 1971. Her goal was to compile a record of some of the worthy houses of Marshall.

T-bird gets a new owner

THIS WILL BE the third chapter in the Thunderbird Inn's history since the original restaurant was opened by Walter Smith in 1958. After Smith's death a short time later, the establishment was closed until taken over in 1961 by the three-man partnership of Arthur Koberzynski, John Kline and John Carlo. Under this management, the Thunderbird became one of the most popular night spots and noon-time restaurants in the area.

In the late '60s the triumvirate decided to expand by adding a luxury type motel and found a group willing to invest in such a venture. Work started some four years ago, dragged through several stoppages when the financing didn't work out as planned, and then halted entirely in August 1973.

When efforts to arrange revitalized financing fell through, Investors Diversified Service decided to take action for foreclosure on its reported mortgage of $3.8 million. Because of inflation, new estimates place the cost of finishing the project and furnishing the motel close to the $6 million mark.

Sources close to the transaction report that Baker's purchase from IDS permits him to start from scratch, and that any holdover financial obligations remain matters of negotiation between the former owners, their creditors and IDS.

THE FIRM which Baker heads builds office, industrial, commercial and warehouse structures, as well as developing office, industrial, and commercial parks, together with other real estate oriented ventures.

The company has had one venture in the Plymouth area building the 41,000 square foot commercial building on Five Mile Road west of Sheldon which has been taken over entirely by Michigan Bell. It was while involved with this venture, says Baker, that the stagnant Thunderbird construction caught his eye and he decided to investigate its potential.

The Deane Baker Co. was founded in 1972 after Baker had served several years as president and treasurer of the H. F. Campbell Co., a major Detroit contracting company. In the past he also has been an officer of pipeline construction firms and active with others in construction aspects of the petroleum industry.

Baker, a native of Marquette, earned his bachelor's degree at the University of Wisconsin and holds a master's degree in business administration from Harvard. He served as a pilot in the Air Force from 1943-45 and again between 1951-53, and currently has a commercial pilot's license.

He has received Business Week Magazine's citizenship award for outstanding contributions to the solution of inner-city problems, and in 1970 received Religious Heritage of America's businessman-of-the-year award in the construction category.

Baker is an elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor and serves on two major committees involving the national church government.

He is a director of the Employers Association of Detroit, Detroit Rotary Club, Ann Arbor Senior Citizens Guild and the Detroit Area Council of the Boy Scouts. He formerly was president of the Detroit Urban League and is now president of the Laymen's National Bible Committee. A member of the Economic Club of Detroit, he has served as a director of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce.

There's been a change in turkeys propagation of the flock is done by means of artificial insemination.

In fact, the present trend is to keep the gobblers and the hens in separate areas.

Out at the Gottschalk Farm on North Territorial Road in Plymouth Township, Loyd Sharland walks through the flock separating gobblers from hens, claiming they'll claw all the white meat on the hen's breast and make it a second grade bird.

At the Roperti Farm at 34700 Five Mile, almost in the heart of Lovonia, the gobblers are kept in a separate area.

"I don't know much about the breeding of turkeys," Chris Skrabut, one of the managers at Roperti's explained. "We just buy the chicks and raise them—several thousand each year."

This year, through the breeding process, the white birds have larger breasts than ever with the result that the breast bone is almost hidden. So there will be white meat aplenty for the Thanksgiving Day feast.

The rapid transit case gets reopened here

The cards were stacked against western Wayne County when it came time to decide where in southeastern Michigan the rapid transit lines were to go.

This area — Redford, Livonia, Plymouth, Northville, Garden City, Westland and Canton — has been left out of the 1990 rapid transit plans of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. Instead, we're scheduled for "intermediate level" service.

In layman's terms, rapid transit means things such as commuter trains, subways, monorails — any method that moves on a right-of-way other than a highway. Intermediate level, for all practical purposes, means fast buses on expressways, possibly using exclusive lanes.

WHY DID SEMCOG's otherwise proficient and talented planners do it that way? Their own report, published last March, spells it out.

"The most cost effective system of high level service... was based on an evaluation which took into account the following:

"1. Provision of service to corridors with severe freeway congestion."

That alone wipes us off the rapid transit map. Our freeway, the I-96 Jeffries route along the Haggerty-Schoolcraft corridors, isn't completed yet. Original plans had it opening in 1972, then '74, now '76, or '77 or goodness-knows-when.

You see the reasoning: Transit lines are to alleviate freeway congestion, and if you don't have a freeway, you're out.

Point 2 on the SEMCOG list is "provision of service to areas with a high number of CBD oriented trips."

Relatively few persons who work in Detroit's central business district live out this way precisely because the transportation connections are so bad. This will undoubtedly change once the Jeffries freeway is complete, but the freeway isn't complete yet. So we're schnitzeled.

SOME LOCAL leaders, as you'll read elsewhere in today's edition, are seeking to get the regional authorities to reconsider the 1990 plan. They're tentatively planning a meeting Dec. 17 at 8 p.m. in Schoolcraft College's Forum building.

There's a good case for reconsidering the SEMCOG plan.

One point is that our traffic volume, traffic patterns and sociology will change greatly when the Jeffries freeway is complete.

Another is that by SEMCOG's own standards, point 4 calls for "provision of service to areas with high employment concentration." That certainly includes the industrial corridor in the "golden mile" between Schoolcraft and Plymouth roads, stretching through Redford, Livonia and Plymouth.

Another consideration is that western Wayne County has yet to have a representative on the board of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority. Detroit has several. Even the Birmingham-Bloomfield area has two. Our lack of political clout has certainly worked against us.

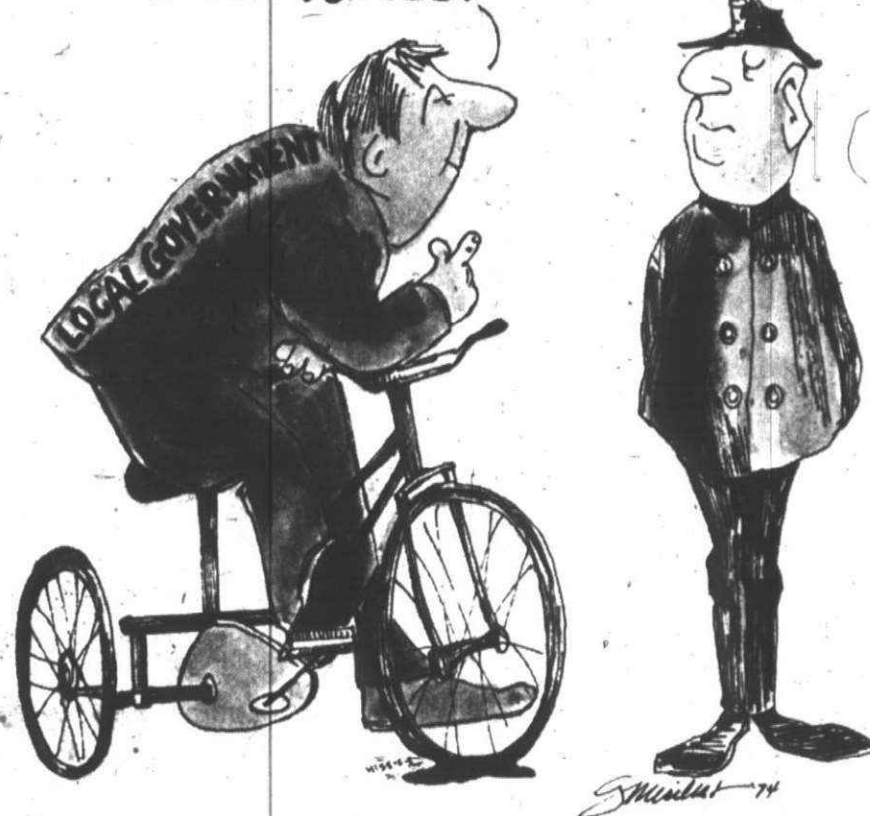

Finally, local units of government out here should reconsider their lack of participation in SEMCOG. Redford Township was an early member when the late, statesmanlike Al Bellaire was supervisor, but things went downhill after his death. Garden City has been almost paranoid about regional agencies. Westland would be in if Mayor McKinney had his way, but the council has been hesitant to join.

We shall see on Dec. 17 how interested western Wayne County folks really are in the future of transportation.

"CAN YOU TELL ME WHERE I GO TO JOIN SEMCOG?"

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

Little sympathy, just honesty

Last week Douglas Fraser, a vice president of the United Auto Workers, went to see Governor Milliken to see if he would use his influence to help keep open the Jefferson Avenue plant of the Chrysler Corporation.

After what Fraser said about Milliken during the recent campaign, the governor probably should have told him to ask his favor of Sandy Levin, Milliken's defeated opponent.

On a serious note, our country is still suffering from stagflation. That is, stagnant business combined with rampant inflation.

Inflation cannot be stopped until prices stop increasing.

BUT THE PRICE of a manufactured product is determined by the cost of the raw material, the cost of the wages of the persons who produce the product and the margin of profit that the manufacturer adds to the finished product.

The sale of automobiles is very slow. This is why Chrysler is considering closing the Jefferson plant.

Experts say that it is the fact that the automobile has increased $500 in cost that has discouraged many people from buying at this time.

WE KNOW from the financial reports of the automobile companies that they are not reaping huge profits by putting a big margin of profit into the cost of each automobile.

The automobile apparently has been priced out of the market because of the increased cost of raw material and labor.

Also, in the case of the automobile, there is an artificial cost increase caused by the new regulations that the federal government has imposed on the automobile industry which has added new equipment to each car.

What all of this amounts to is that if Douglas Fraser wants more of his men to work, instead of seeking more government interference he should look at himself in the mirror and see that he is part of the cause of the automobile's being priced out of the market.

EVERYBODY WANTS more money, and those who are working are getting more money than ever before in history. But because they have more money in their pockets they are causing manufacturers to raise their prices. Then they complain about the increased costs.

Many economists have said the only way we are going to hold down prices in this country is to have a good depression. A good depression would hold prices down because the cost of labor would go down. With a lot of people out of work people would be willing to work for less. Hence, prices would drop.

Anyone who is asking for more for members of his labor union has to understand that if the car maker has to increase his prices to cover this increase in cost, at some point the public is going to rebel and not buy the product and his people will be out of work.

While this is seemingly an unsympathetic article on the plight of the unemployed, somebody has to frankly say that the more wages increase, the more prices are going to increase and, eventually, the more the economy will suffer and more people will be out of work when the product is overpriced for the market.

How teachers could keep out of jail

A new page is about to be written in Michigan's chapter of law which gives public employees the right to bargain. That page will be written by the Michigan Court of Appeals, and possibly rewritten by the Michigan Supreme Court, as it reviews the jailing of 11 Garden City teachers.

I am convinced the appellate court will uphold the ban against strikes by public employees. But I am equally convinced the appellate panel will define in very specific language under what conditions striking teachers can be jailed.

Recollect that Wayne Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman sentenced 11 teachers to jail for contempt on Thursday, Nov. 14, without bond being posted. The very next day, the appellate court ordered a stay of sentencing with teachers released on personal recognizance until a full hearing could be held.

THE EASIER COURSE would have been for the appellate judges to have gone home Friday without taking action because the bail sentences for 11 teachers would have expired Monday afternoon. But apparently, word had reached the appellate court there would be widespread walkouts in many school districts if teachers remained in jail over the weekend.

Saturday's meeting of the Oakland County Education Association made it clear walkouts would have occurred throughout that county.

The OCEA is now mobilizing MEA units statewide to prepare for any future jailing of Garden City teachers, and reportedly has pledged $100,000 to the GCEA to help meet strike expenses.

WITH THIS SETTING, it seems clear the appellate court won't make any decision which will result in the 11 teachers going back to jail — 10 of whom have four remaining days to serve, and the union chief negotiator with 29 remaining days.

In appellate proceedings, the court only examines the record of circuit court proceedings.

Any additional information or testimony which wasn't introduced in the contempt hearings cannot be considered by the appellate court. The contempt hearing is now closed and only the correctness of that hearing can be reviewed.

IF TEACHERS are to be kept out of jail, the court must conclude they were not in violation of Judge Kaufman's order when they went on strike Nov. 11.

I believe the appellate court will apply the "reasonable man" test of law, and determine that Kaufman ordered teachers not merely to return to work BUT to return to work and negotiate.

The teachers DID return to work. The appellate court must look at the record of the contempt hearing to determine if: (1) The teachers' union bargained in good faith and (2) The Garden City school board bargained in good faith.

If there is nothing in the record to indicate the school board bargained in good faith, or if there is indication of bad faith bargaining, then it can be reasoned legally the teachers' union DID NOT violate the court order.

Teachers cannot reasonably be held accountable for not bargaining if, in fact, the school board engaged in bad faith bargaining. Yet, of course, the law provides only for jailing of teachers who strike and contains no clout against school boards or administrators who refuse to bargain.

The new page the appellate court might write, then, is teachers or other public employees may not be jailed for contempt of a "no strike" order unless the trial court first has evidence in its records that the public employer (i.e. school board) bargained in good faith.

IT IS UNLIKELY that punishment will be provided for those elected officials or administrators who refuse to bargain.

But the handwriting seems to be on the wall that the courts will, in the future, hold public employers accountable for their role in the negotiating process.

Significantly, this ruling wouldn't weaken trial judges' authority to issue contempt citations — a power which must be maintained to insure orderly process. The ruling, if it comes out in this manner, would merely state the record was insufficient to prove contempt.

Once the ruling is made, the Legislature can then take a hard look at Public Act 379. Obviously it is a law which isn't being universally followed and appears to punish one party in a conflict without considering the guilt of the other.

The Felicians celebrate

Weather wise, Sunday was anything but a day for holding a celebration. But for the Felician Sisters, who have their Livonia Province Motherhouse, Madonna College, St. Mary Hospital and Ladywood High School on that plot of ground bounded by Schoolcraft, Levan, Five Mile and Newburgh Roads, it was a day for celebrating the final events of the centennial.

It was just 100 years ago that five sisters were sent to the United States to found the order and they did such a fine job that now there are 11 provinces in the U.S.

SUNDAY WAS the climax of a year of honoring the centennial, a year in which the fame and the achievements of the Felician Sisters were acclaimed throughout the land.

Thus it was only fitting that the first province of the order in the new land should have the honor of holding the centennial celebration.

Livonia became the host province since it was the successor to Detroit where the first province in North America was started in 1882. It was moved to Livonia in 1936.

Regardless of the weather conditions, the Felicians put on a great banquet Sunday night as the closing event of the centennial, proving that women's lib may have helped but this group of religious sisters proved definitely that it could plan, invite and arrange a dinner for 1,500 without a hitch. And the Sisters did the work.

THE SAME WAS true of the Eucharistic liturgy mass held Sunday afternoon in the chapel of the motherhouse.

Catholic church leaders from all parts of the state joined in the solemn affair with Cardinal John Dearden, Bishop Joseph Breitenbeck of Grand Rapids, Bishop Francis Reh of Saginaw and Bishop Arthur Krawczak of Detroit participating.

Members of the Felician Order came from Rome, Brazil and Poland to join in the happy occasion.

It was something all of us could well have attended, but space limited the attendance at the afternoon ceremony to less than 400 and then 1,500 were on hand for the more joyous and less religious program at the banquet which officially closed the centennial celebration.

It was a day all of the Felician Sisters at the Livonia Province will always remember and one that all in attendance won't soon forget.

The Felicians have accomplished a great many things in their years in Michigan and are continuing their efforts. They deserve warm congratulations from all for 100 years of service in communities in the United States and almost that long in Detroit and Livonia.

Less mail for the money

What's the mail service going to be like for Christmas, especially since the costs of mailing cards has gone up to 10 cents? Does that mean faster delivery or does it mean that now we are paying more to get less?

Judging from information from those who carry the mail and deliver it to your homes, the situation will probably be worse this year than ever before.

Although those in charge of local post offices consistently deny any cutbacks in personnel, it is known that the Postal Service was told to make cutbacks by a rather large percentage. Orders for these reductions reportedly came from Washington, where the new administration plans to make as many cutbacks as possible.

We brought the question to the attention of local postmasters after hearing some of the carriers tell of having additional stops added to their routes.

Which means the carrier is handling mail for 25 to 35 more homes now than he did a few weeks back, and if that isn't cutting back service, then we don't know what more work with less men means.

It was our impression every effort would be made to speed up things after the last increase in the cost of stamps. Apparently that was just so much hogwash. The increased salaries of the workers did not reflect much of a hike and the mail is slower now than in several years.

So once again we raise the question, will we be able to mail a Christmas card a few days before the big day and have it arrive in Livonia when sent from Plymouth?

Do you know that recently we checked deliveries and found that it took three days to get a letter from the two adjoining cities?

Just think what will happen starting the middle of December. We know it isn't the fault of the carriers who do their best, it is the fault of a system that apparently talks a good game but hadn't played one for a long time.

Sen. Pursell a socialist?

EDITOR:

In your Nov. 7 issue of The Livonia Observer & Eccentric on page 3A, you featured a picture of State Sen. Carl Pursell being given a victory party at the YMCA with a number of people showing their clenched fist salute, which is well known to be a Communist salute.

We know that Sen. Pursell is a liberal, but we were shocked to see his acceptance of this notorious Marxist clenched fist salute! Is he a Socialist? Please reply.

MRS. HERMAN JAQUSCH, Livonia

EDITOR'S NOTE: The clenched fist salute was around centuries before Marx and Lenin. University of Michigan cheerleaders raise a clenched fist on the word "Hail!" when singing

"The Victors." We would say the clenched fist is common property, not a Communist symbol. And Sen. Pursell doesn't have a socialist bone in his body.

Meijer's gets big welcome

EDITOR:

We have lived in Garden City since the birth of my eldest son—for 26 years.

I am writing this to welcome a fine grand opening at Meijer Thrifty Acres new store in our community. I have been to the one in Lansing and told them it was just great. I wished we had one here, before the store was built. They told me one is on the way in our part of town. It was a dream that became a reality!

Easter Seal article fine

EDITOR:

May we please offer our sincere thank you for the two articles about the Easter Seal Society of Wayne County that appeared in the Nov. 7 issue. The articles were accurate, informative and delightfully written.

I am sure this account of our programming will assist us to find those disabled persons that cannot find us. This is community service in the truest sense of the words.

Would you be kind enough to pass our thanks along to others involved in this article, specifically Sherry Kahan and Denny Coffman.

Dump Redford Union, 53-44

Stevenson wins district

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Like a bottle of first rate wine that can do nothing but improve with age, the Spartan girls of Livonia Stevenson are getting better as they go along.

Liz Embree's Stevenson girls basketball squad has been doing it all the past six years in compiling an overall mark of 67 wins and only nine losses.

Last year her Stevenson team advanced as far as the state semi-finals before losing to Farmington Our Lady of Mercy.

The time is right now for '74 and carrying an unbeaten 15-0 mark into state play, Stevenson knocked off Churchill, 55-37, and dumped a stubborn Redford Union crew in its district finale, 53-44.

It's now onto the regionals for a 17-0 Stevenson team.

"We earned this district title," commented Miss Embree. "Our girls played one heck of a game."

"We surprised RU with a new defense and we contained their high scorer. This is the best team I have ever coached in my six years."

"It was also exciting for me to coach against a man and come up on the winning end," added the Stevenson coach after her Spartans defeated Ken Dursey's RU team which finished as Suburban Eight champions and 14-3 overall, two of those losses coming against Stevenson.

Stevenson's opening win in the districts came against city rivals Churchill, 55-37. Sharon Solack paced the Spartans with 17 points with Lori Hyman next with 12. Patty Bryans topped Churchill with 13.

At the same time, RU was toppling Franklin, 69-31. Amy Gierak scoring 20 and Linda Kosovac 19 for the Pantherettes.

It was then into the district finale and Stevenson got off to a 2-0 lead on two charity tosses by All-Area performer Lori Hyman.

Buckets by Jeri Isanhart and Sharon Solack at the close of the quarter pushed Stevenson in front to a 16-7 margin.

Four straight free throws for RU in the opening minutes of the second stanza by Gierak and Kosovac sliced it to 19-12, and this was to be the closest the Pantherettes could get to the powerful Spartans.

Stevenson led, at the half, 29-18.

Free throws by Hyman pushed it to 31-18, one minute into the third quarter and RU was having its problems finding the hoop, twice going through three minute spans of no points.

A two-pointer by Hyman at the buzzer gave Stevenson a 41-26 lead heading into the final eight minutes.

RU quickly moved into a full-court press and Stevenson into a stall but the Spartans held their poise and allowed RU no closer than nine at the final buzzer.

Hyman was high scorer with 17 points. Solack followed with 16, Isanhart with 11, Melissa Youngberg had seven and Laurie Holmes popped in two to round out the Stevenson attack.

RU's scoring attack was led by Gierak with 18, Kosovac with 12, Marsha Paulsen and Cindi Rossi with six each and Lori Slack with two.

It's now on to the regionals at Southfield High this Tuesday (Dec. 3) against the winner of the Henry Ford district, game time set for 8 p.m.

U-D cagers drum Borgess, 57-30

It was a rude awakening for first year coach Mike Guza on the Bishop Borgess basketball court.

And it was U-D High that made Guza's debut one of sour taste.

U-D jumped off to a 12-9 first quarter edge, upped it to 29-17 at the half, and after Borgess went scoreless the first five minutes of the third quarter it was strictly no contest. U-D was a 57-30 victor.

"We are just too green," commented Guza, who replaced Jim Brisky behind the Spartan main cage whistle. "Half of our squad is made up of seniors but it doesn't look like they will be able to do the job."

"I am going to have to start weeding in some of the juniors and sophomores and get some spark in the lineup."

U-D got off to a 12-2 lead before Borgess scored seven straight points to slice it to 12-9 after one period. The second quarter saw U-D take the eight minutes, 17-8, to make it 29-17 at the half.

Borgess then hit a tailspin and went scoreless the first five minutes of the third quarter while U-D rattled off 10 points and both clubs started to empty their benches.

U-D sported three players with 10 points each in Kevin Halloran, Tim Anderson, and Shawn Bradley. Borgess travels to Redford St. Mary this Friday. Box score:

Bentley survives scare in Lathrup opener, 6-5

After a shaky season opening win over Southfield Lathrup, Mike Dudley's Bentley Bulldogs got it together in easier fashion to dump the Blue Jays of Southfield, 7-4, and stand at 2-0 in the Suburban Hockey loop.

Lathrup slapped in three goals in the third period to take a 5-4 lead over Bentley before Mark Sabuda scored with 1:21 remaining to tie it and Glen Stevens tallied with 12 seconds remaining for the win.

Goals by Bentley's Tony Givas and Lathrup's Curt Hoff made it one-all after one period. Sabuda, Steve Lemieux and Dave Manogian tallied in the second and the Bulldogs had themselves a 4-2 lead.

That's when Lathrup found the range and Tim Oakley was hit by a three-goal barrage. Bentley wound up outshooting Lathrup, 53 to 27.

Stevens paced the Bulldog attack in the Southfield High conquest with two goals as the Bulldogs outshot the Blue Jays, 38 to 29. It was Bentley 3-2 after one period and 5-2 heading into the final 15 minutes with each club scoring twice in that period.

First place Livonia Vikings crush Royal Oak, tie Ecorse

The Vikings of Livonia remained on top of the Michigan Junior B Hockey loop after dumping Royal Oak, 11-4, and tying Ecorse Big D, 4-4.

The one-sided affair with Royal Oak saw Livonia jump off to a first period 4-1 lead on goals by Dan Lerg, Steve Morrison, Curt Pauline and Lerg again.

After Royal Oak sliced it to 5-3 early in the second, the Vikings exploded for five goals in an 11 minute span to sew up the win. Ron Griffin and Grant Judd slapped in two goals each and Morrison one in that period for Livonia.

Livonia outshot Royal Oak, 59-23. The Vikings got off to a 2-0 lead against Ecorse on goals by Lerg and Curt Pauline but then fell behind, 4-2 after two periods.

Rick Pauline made it 4-3 at the 5:31 mark into the third stanza, Tom Graft and Griffin assisting. Less than two minutes later, Griffin slapped home what wound up being the tying score, Curt Pauline and Jeff Bond assisting.

Livonia hosts Waterford this Saturday, Nov. 30, face-off slated for 8 p.m. at Ford Ice Rink. Box scores:

Ski Heil

By BILL CAMERON

What are the Ski the Rockies resorts?

Twelve of the world's best ski destinations: Aspen, Aspen Highlands, Crested Butte, Breckenridge, 'Snowmass, Steamboat Springs, Vail and Winter Park, all in Colorado; Taos, in New Mexico; Park City and Snowbird in Utah and Jackson Hole, in Wyoming.

Why are they the finest? Twelve good reasons:

- Best snow in the world
- Unique western atmosphere
- Broad, wind sheltered, eminently skiable slopes
- Outstanding ski schools
- Copious sunshine
- Complete resort villages
- Superior slope maintenance
- Exceptional variety of dining, entertainment
- Breathtaking scenery
- Lifts designed for optimum skiing
- World's best slope safety record
- Accessible: maximum time on the slopes

If all these superlatives really apply to Ski the Rockies, how come everyone hasn't been there already? Good question. The answer lies, in part, with economic considerations, in part, with a set of popular misconceptions.

The economic barrier is now largely a thing of the past, thanks to rapidly escalating prices in Europe, the dollar devaluation, more competitive packaging of Rockies' Ski Weeks, and a general world equalization of prices for quality travel experiences.

The misconceptions, like any popular bugaboos, are harder to put down. But everyone is answerable in terms of today's Rocky Mountain resorts: "It's too far." Most Rockies' resorts are close enough to the majority of U.S. cities for "same day skiing" if you travel by air.

"I can't ski deep powder." - This used to be a valid concern. Today, all Rockies' resorts machine-pack close to 75 per cent of their slopes, leaving only a few steep areas for the powder hounds. Furthermore, modern boots, skis and instruction make learning to ski deep powder much easier than it used to be if you want to try.

"Who wants to be stuck out in the mountains at night with nothing to do?" There's been a happy revolution in ski resort night life in the Rockies in the last 10 years. Every Ski the Rockies resort has a fine choice of gourmet restaurants, swinging bars, and discotheques plus a fabulous variety of shops and personal services like hairdressers, banks, and even stock brokers.

"The Rockies are too big and steep - they scare me!" Sure, the Rockies are big and there are steep places, too. But the majority of Rockies ski slopes are gradual, broad, well packed and well marked. A delight for any skier to ski on. There's something for every class of skier at our resorts, including the hot-shot, too.

"I ski on a little hill at home, I'm not ready for the big time!" - Eighty per cent of the skiers on Rockies slopes today "ski on little hills at home." And those who are uncertain of their skills at first find our ski schools, with modern GLM instruction, the perfect way to master the big hills in a hurry and we even have ski guides for the better skiers, who guide a little, teach a little and lead you to out of the way slopes where the powder's still untracked!"

"I learned to Ski in Michigan - will they teach me the same out there?" All but one of Rockies resorts (Aspen Highlands) teaches the American Technique as approved by the Professional Ski Instructors of America (PSIA) so any skier can expect to learn basically the same approach to skiing wherever he goes in the Rockies.

"I can't afford to break a leg skiing in those big mountains." - If you are a skier, there's always danger of injury. But skiing in the Rockies, because of superior slope maintenance, safety measures and broad uncrowded slopes, is statistically safer than skiing on your little hill at home.

"I hear it's snobbish at the big resorts - I like an informal atmosphere when I'm skiing." - Rockies resorts, big or small, are as informal as any place in the world. Anything goes, bluejeans to Bogners, mod threads to lumberjackets to tuxedos. The rule in the Rockies is "Come as you are."

"Anybody can claim 'the best snow in the world' - why should Rockies' snow be any better than anywhere else? Snow is snow, isn't it?" - Glad you asked that, because Rockies snow is probably unlike any snow you've experienced at home.

Snow quality is a function of temperature, moisture in the storm and moisture in the surrounding air. Because of their distance from the oceans and high altitude (above 7000 feet), snow falls drier and stays drier, even on sunny days, in the Rockies. Even when a relatively moist storm comes along, snow dries out on the ground at night due to crisp temperatures and dry surrounding air. You haven't really enjoyed skiing until you've experienced carefully packed, silky Rockies' snow!

"If there's so much snow, how can you advertise 'copious sunshine'?"

In the center of the American Continent, the Rockies enjoy a dry, sunny, "continental climate." Most of the world's ski regions are in moist, cloudy, maritime climates influenced by nearby oceans. The reason the Rockies have snow is their altitude (when a storm does come along, the mountains lift and cool the air, resulting in snow). Much of the snow falls at night. Thus, an apparent contradiction: sunny days, snowy nights, ideal ski conditions.

Prep action set at Ford

Area high school hockey competition jumps into full swing this Friday (Nov. 29) at Livonia's Ford Ice Rink with Livonia Franklin taking on Trenton in the 7 p.m. clash and Stevenson with Austin at 9 p.m.

JOHN DAWE, freshman from Livonia Franklin High, was a member of Ferris State College's Great Lakes Conference championship cross country team this fall. Dave's highest finish was fifth in a win over Northwood. The 5-foot-8, 130 pound frosh is expected to be a key in the Bulldog attack next year.

Fall-pastime football is most hazardous sport

The Consumer Product Safety Commission in Washington, D.C., has tabbed football, the favorite fall sport of many Americans, the most hazardous to play.

A report just released says:

"An estimated 300,000 children and adults are treated in hospital emergency rooms, and about 20 people die annually as a result of football-related injuries.

"Staff analysis on non-professional football player injury records shows that 40 per cent of all injuries occurred among 15 to 19-year-old boys with most injuries taking place at school or other public playing facilities.

"Sprains and strains accounted for about 30 per cent of the injuries, as did severe bruises and scrapes. Broken bones followed with 22 percent and serious cuts were next with 10 percent. Only one percent of the injuries were concussions.

"Repeat injuries are the most serious threat to life.

"A hazard analysis has isolated several problem areas with one being the inadequacy of some protective equipment. Injuries did occur beneath the equipment, indicating that it may not be providing adequate protection.

In other cases, players sustained injuries because they had neglected to wear all their equipment during practice and play.

"A Study of North Carolina football players, revealed nearly 25 per cent of the injuries studied came as a result of a player receiving a hard blow from the helmet, shoulder pad or shoes of another player.

"In particular, the study said that external padding on the helmets and shoulder pads should be designed.

"Soccer shoes were also recommended over conventional shoes with long cleats to reduce ankle and knee injuries."

The average person doesn't realize it, but there is a big difference between the price of bowling and the cost of league bowling.

The price of bowling is what the proprietor charges for each line or game, and the cost of league bowling includes this price along with the bowler's contribution toward the prize fund, plus the salary of the league secretary, and other things such as special holiday prizes and the cost of the turkey at Thanksgiving Day.

It is the cost of league bowling that oftentimes forces a fellow to quit. And when this happens, more often than not, he'll explain that the price of bowling is too high.

This isn't true, as my old colleague, Sam Levine, editor of the Cleveland Kegger, pointed out in his latest edition.

THE GREAT INCREASE in the cost of league bowling can be traced to the bowlers' desire for a large prize fund. This is especially true in the all-star leagues where bowlers feel that the champions are entitled to prizes equal to those in golf and some other sports.

To meet this desire, they adopt prize lists with as much as $1,000 for first place. The other positions are downgraded from that figure.

What is lost sight of, however, is that bowlers themselves have to furnish the money through weekly contributions. Sometimes these ran as much as $5 per man.

When these prize donations, the salary of the league secretary and the other contributions made during the season are added, they run to a pretty figure.

But there is one thing to remember - no matter how much your league charges per week, the proprietor still only gets his regular league rate. The other charges the bowlers have brought on themselves.

So when a bowler quits his league because the cost is too high, it is not the cost of bowling itself, but the cost of league bowling that has forced him to forego the pleasure of bowling each week with his pals in the league.

IF MEDALS were given for a show of courage on the lanes one would have to be awarded to Betty Harper, a member of the Bel-Aire Women's League.

Determined not to miss a week in her league, she made an appearance last week with her arm in a sling. Fortunately it was her left arm. With that handicap she still bowled a 509 series.

CLOSE FINISHES were the order of the day along the bowling front last week.

One of the finest examples came in the Westland Classic where Jay Dishong turned in a 680 series to beat Edgar Wylie by a single pin. Jay had games of 236, 232 and 212, while Wylie opened with a 233, followed with 198 and closed with 238.

It was much the same story at Bel-Aire where Larry Kubert rolled a 647 to nose out Greg Hatter with a 646, in the senior house league.

Marie Vihonsky, a 161 average bowler in the Friday Night Classic at Garden Lanes, made a strong bid to capture high single game honors for the entire area. She found the range for a 278 in a 630 series. Her high single is the best in the metropolitan area thus far.

While she was making her bid, Sherry Mekro came through with a 246 in 605 in the same league.

IN THE WAYNE COUNTY Men's circuit, Gene Oestrich fired a 656 to take top honors and Don Howden landed in the runner-up spot with a 628.

Here's one for the books. Bowling in the Northville Commons League at Plymouth Bowl, Arlene Fogle rolled an all-spare game. But it was most unusual in that she converted three splits along the way.

Meanwhile, Lynn Dalley took high series in the Ford League with a 651 and John Hurley had a high single of 256 in 618.

In the Thursday Mixed League at Plaza Bowl, it was Paul Gitielle who showed the way with a 659. He had games of 265, 202 and 192.

TWO MORE SHARP shooters broke the 700 barrier at Bel-Aire Lanes. Bowling the businessmen's circuit, Don Nowak fashioned games of 259, 246 and 235 for 740. At this figure he beat out Aron Lipshay by 14 pins. Aron had games of 234, 269 and 223.

Other high scores in the loop included Greg Hatter with a 668, Ed Molar with 659 and Dave Jackson with 649.

Speaking of close finishes, Bob Benson and Steve Hester tied for top honors in the Bel-Aire Classic with counts of 675. And right behind them came Larry Brown with 664, Dave McIvor with 657 and Paul Horowitz with 658.

THANKS TO AN OPENER of 212, Helen Curtis paced the Westland Ladies circuit with a 585. Following her 212, she rolled games of 192 and 141.

Two new highs were established in the Coffee and Donut loop when "Steve" Henry posted a 232 in the 529 series and Carol Satala had a 586 for high series.

In the "B" section, Betty Kirkland had high single of 224 and Brenda Gilbert had high series with a 506.

Ocelots split in basketball

Schoolcraft College split its opening basketball weekend with an away loss to Kellogg Community College, 83-78, and a victory over Concordia Junior College, 74-58, at home.

The Ocelots of new coach Bob McGriff were paced by Ken Cox, who scored 20 points against Kellogg and Concordia. Dave Trowbridge had 20 and 15 points respectively, and Dave Kallman tossed in 18 and 13. Cox pulled down 11 rebounds in the opener, and Trowbridge took 15 against Concordia.

Schoolcraft is at home this Friday (Nov. 29) against the Hawks of Henry Ford Community College.

CENTRAL MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY'S '74 football team is well represented with varsity prospects from the Observerland area. It includes a pair from Bishop Borgess in frosh quarterback Greg Drypen(6) and sophomore wide receiver Shawn McCarthy (10). Soph defensive back Jim Szilagyi (16) is a grad of Plymouth Salem, junior offensive tackle Ron Reardon (79) comes from Livonia Bentley and senior guard Rob Hollandsworth (68) prepped at Franklin High. All were recruited by assistant coach Herb Deromedi (right).

Franklin girls finish 2nd best in tennis

The Raider girls tennis team of North Farmington and the Patriots of Franklin High tied for points in the Northwest Suburban loop match but the league crown was awarded to North on the basis of dual competition.

Oak Park, which finished third in the meet, wound up third in the league, John Glenn was fourth, Thurston fifth and Garden City East did not field a girls tennis squad.

Singles action saw Oak Park, Franklin and North Farmington cop top honors with John Glenn winning two doubles, Oak Park one and North one.

The All-Northwest loop squad consists of Oak Park's Karen Dunn at first singles, North Farmington's Nancy Tolwin at second singles and Franklin's Pam Newton at third singles.

Doubles action saw Mather and Ford take it for North in the first set. Oak Park's Maneil and Tatarka in the second, John Glenn's team of Kott and Kholmman in the third and Glenn's crew of Arthur and Soave in the fourth doubles.

Area design manufacturer ships systems to Japan

By W.W. EDGAR

For years Americans have been picking up all sorts of manufactured goods from toys to TV sets to automobiles that carried the stamp "Made in Japan."

Now, the trend is turning, thanks to such firms as Scans Associates, Inc., the Livonia-based firm of internationally known designers and manufacturers of testing and quality control systems.

ANOTHER turn in the trend happened recently when Scans shipped to the Aisan Industry Co. Ltd. of Nagoya, Japan, the first of two complete computer-controlled carburetor testing systems.

To obtain this testing equipment, the Aisan company sent a Japanese airliner to Metropolitan Airport to be loaded with the giant cartons and boxes.

While the Japanese airliner made the flight, the Scans firm has the full responsibility for all aspects of the project from design through installation.

"These systems will provide Aisan, a major manufacturer of automotive equipment, with the most advanced computer-controlled carburetor testing facility in the world," Vernon G. Converse, president of Scans, stated as the shipment left the Livonia plant.

He explained that each system consists of 16 testing stations, plus a production computer. A separate master computer monitors both systems and provides a variety of detailed reports for management. The master computer also has additional capacity available for future expansion.

The carburetors are manually loaded and unloaded by use of special time-saving fixtures. Otherwise, the entire testing cycle is automatically controlled in accordance with specifications programmed into the computers.

THE ENGINEERS, in explaining the testing device, stated that, in production, under accurately-simulated operating conditions, a testing cycle includes the use of a computer-controlled, servo-driven actuator to adjust the throttle and similarly controlled screwdrivers to automatically adjust the idle screws to achieve maximum performance.

Carburetors which perform to required standards are marked with the date of approval.

A mobile calibration cart also is provided to periodically check and adjust the sensitive air flow and fuel flow systems. This equipment is easily moved about on a cushion of air and includes all the other equipment necessary to make the testing machine the last work carburetor testing.

The entire assemblage was designed and built in Scans Livonia plant especially for the Aisan Co. It is anticipated the second system, now being completed in Livonia, will be shipped and installed in 1975.

Insurance legislation cuts business expense

Small businessmen may now reduce their workmen's compensation expense through new legislation allowing them to become self-insured employers.

Ernest C. Fackler, director of the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, Michigan Department of Labor, has authorized the Michigan Association of Timbermen Self-Insurers Fund to become the first self-insured group under Public Act 45 of 1974.

UNDER PA 45, two or more employers in the same industry may form such a group if their total assets amount to $1 million.

Many small employers such as these loggers and timbermen may now become self-insured employers and reduce their workmen's compensation cost.

Before enactment of the legislation, smaller employers couldn't become self-insured because they lacked both the financial strength and requisite number of employees that qualified larger corporations in the state.

SMALL EMPLOYERS may save about 15 per cent of their normal premium to begin with, Fackler explains. Thereafter, the group will be reviewed periodically to determine its need.

"This is one more way Michigan is providing alternatives to businessmen to help state employers meet their responsibility and do so without impairing any of the benefits to their employees."

Fackler also noted that several other trade associations have made contact with his office and he expects to approve several additional groups for self-insurance authorization under the act in the near future.

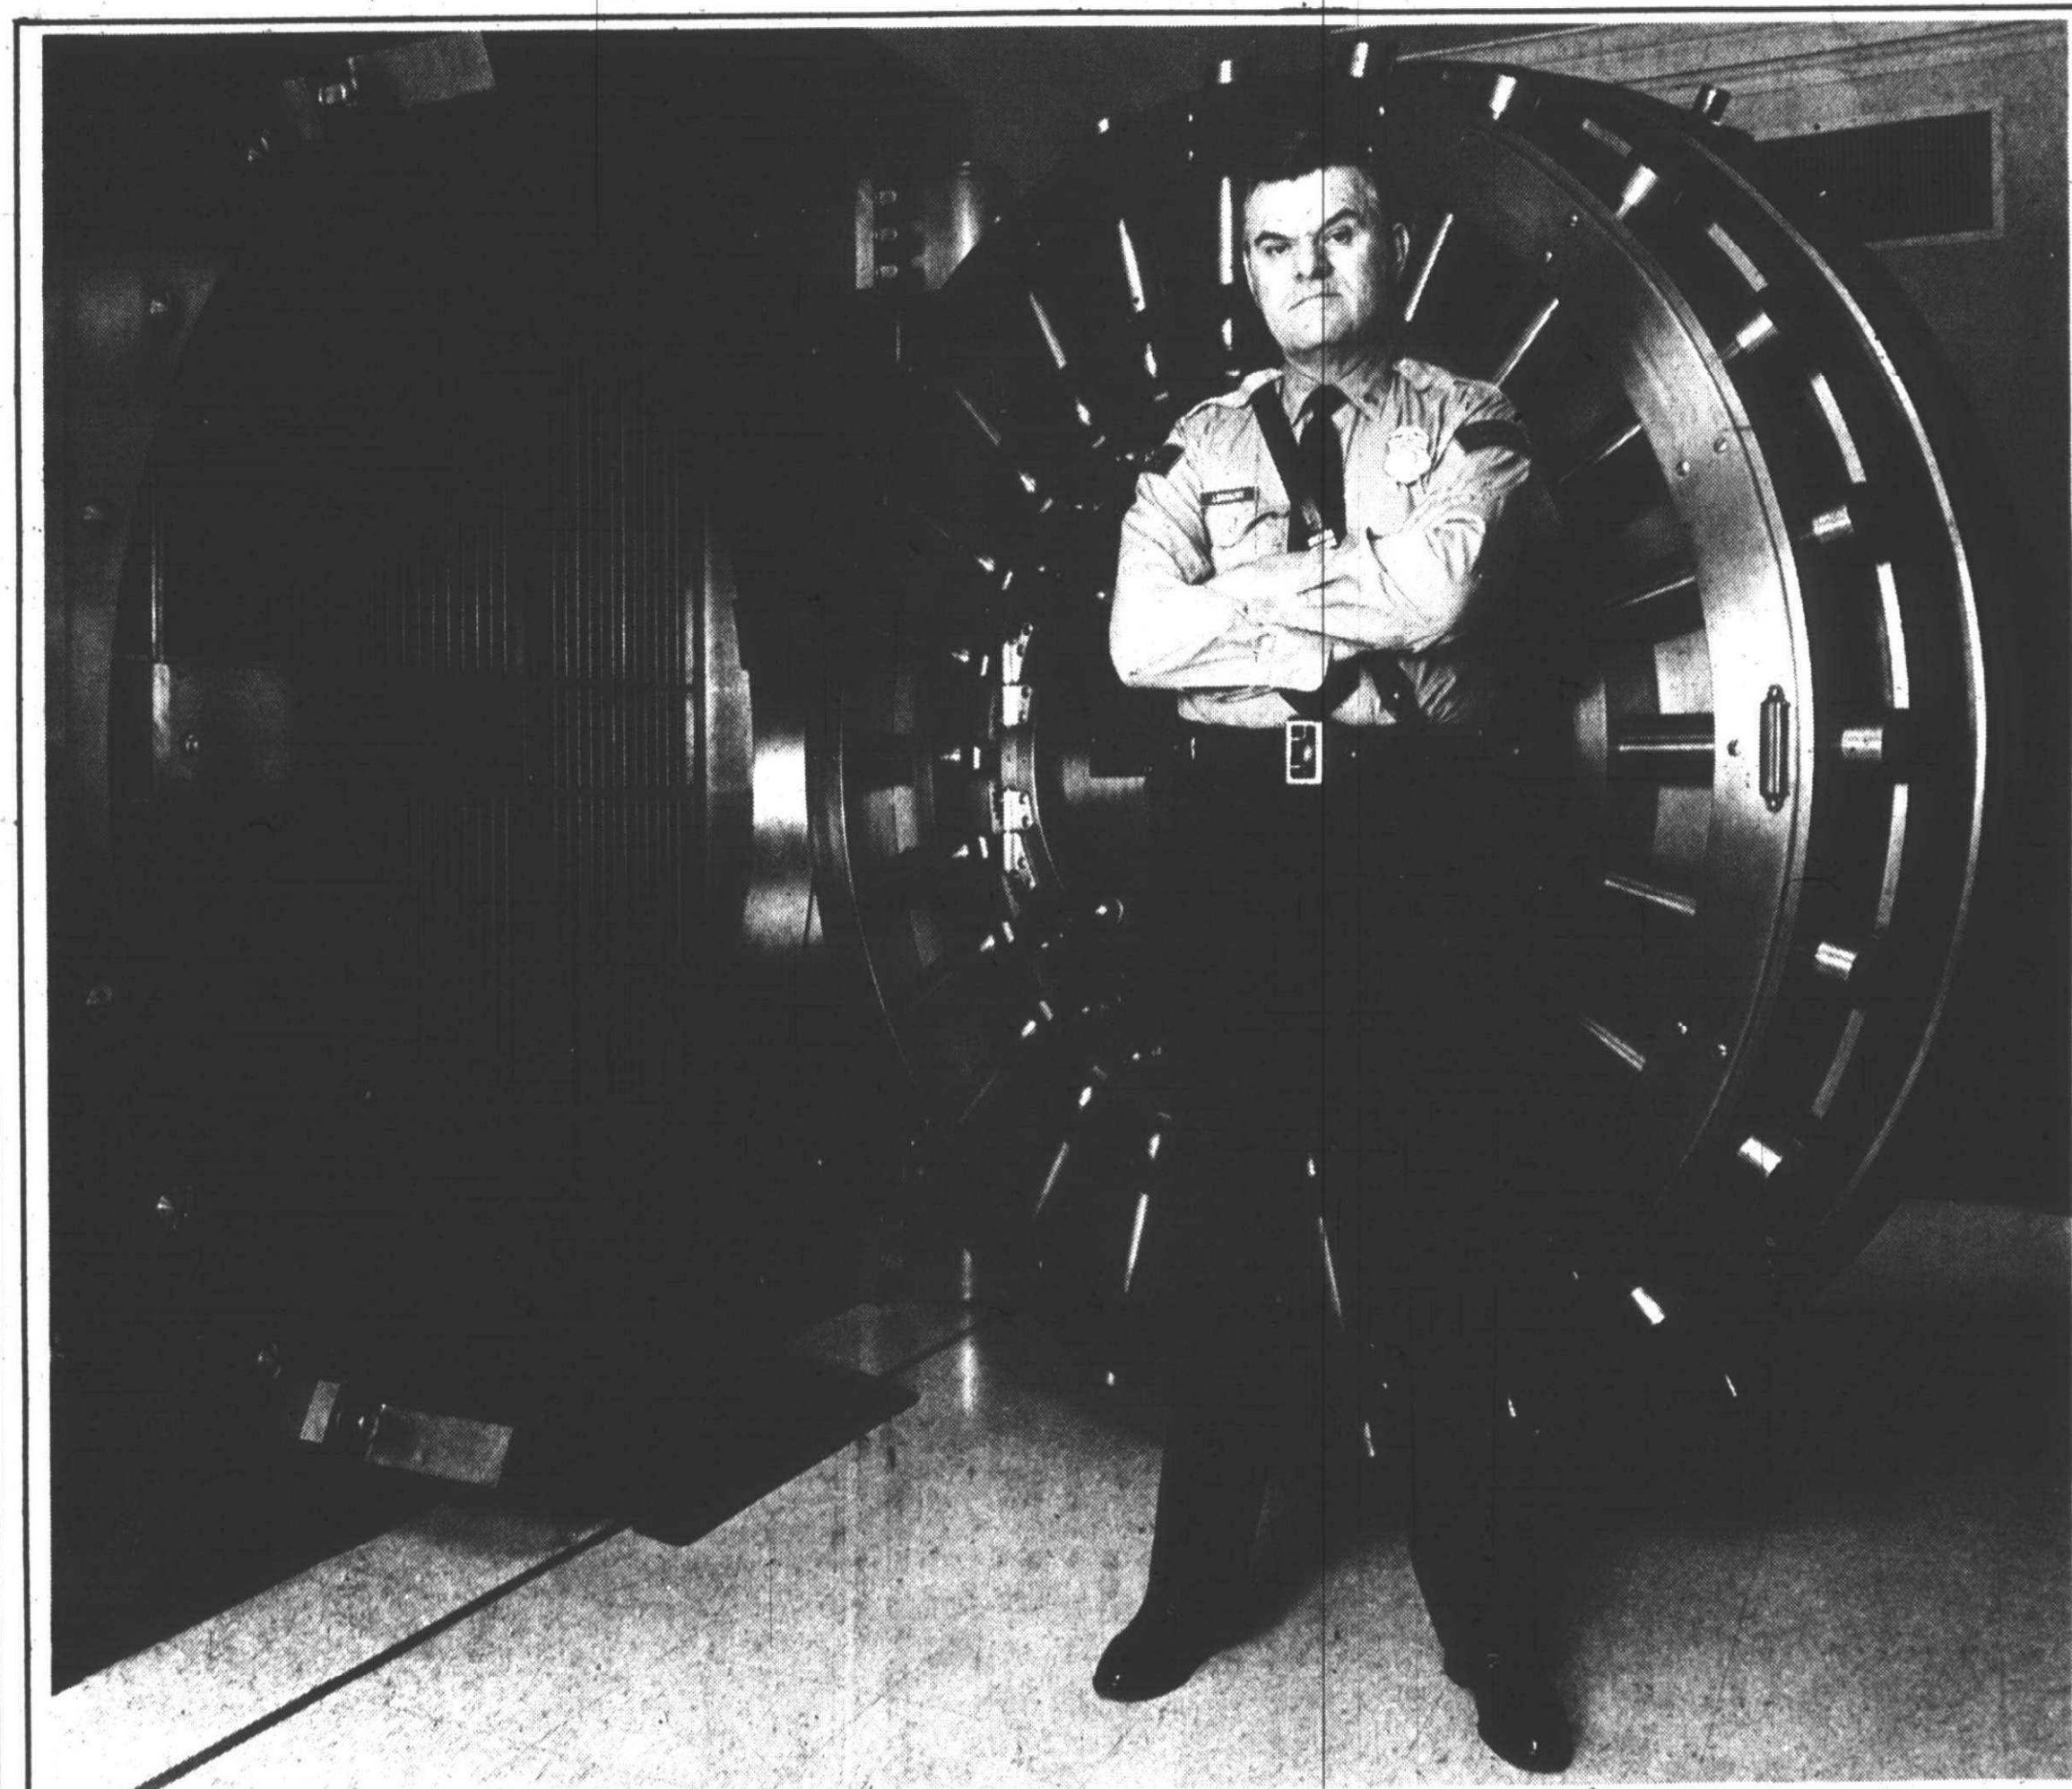

A COMPUTER-CONTROLLED carburetor testing system manufactured by Scans in Livonia was recently loaded into a transport jet at Metropolitan Airport for shipment to Japan.

At NBD, you get a lot more than 7 1/4% interest.

Let's be honest...just about every bank in Detroit will give you 7 1/4% interest on savings certificates of $1000 or more left on deposit for 4 years. And so will National Bank of Detroit.

But NBD can give you something extra no other bank in Michigan can give you — the security of dealing with Michigan's biggest bank, with assets of more than $8,000,000,000.

And you don't have to have a thousand dollars, or leave your money on deposit for 4 years, to have your savings protected by NBD. The same $8 billion in assets, and long-time reputation for financial soundness, stand behind every NBD savings plan...even if you open a regular EveryDay Interest account with only a few dollars.

Why not get the safety and security of Michigan's biggest bank, by starting a savings program at the NBD office near you?

We have what it takes to make banking a lot better for you.

Making banking better for you.

Honors presented by Madonna College at Founder's Day

Four present and two former faculty members of Madonna College in Livonia were honored recently at the college's annual Founders Day dinner.

Noting their "devotion to the welfare of Madonna College," Sister M. Danatha, president, presented them with the President's Citation. The four have amassed 136 years service to the college.

SISTER MARY ANGELINE, professor of art, was cited for guiding the growth of the art department since 1948.

She joined Madonna in 1948 after receiving the master of fine arts degree from Catholic University of America (CUA), Washington, D.C. For 22 summers she taught summer sessions at CUA.

She has a PhD in art history from the University of Michigan. In her college studio she produces a large line of inspirational note papers, cards, and school posters and does calligraphy and illumination.

SISTER MARY JOELA headed the college chemistry department for 16 years before becoming director of institutional research in 1967.

She has received National Science

Foundation grants for study at many universities and completed the master of science degree at the University of Notre Dame.

She is now research statistician for Madonna.

SISTER MARY HUGOLINE has taught French, Spanish, Latin and Polish since 1961.

She earned advanced degrees at the University of Notre Dame and the University of Montreal and has a PhD from Catholic University of America.

SISTER MARY MARTINA has directed the psycho-educational center at Madonna for 21 years.

She is now serving as professor of education and psychology. She has a doctorate from Fordham University.

The former faculty members honored were Sister Mary Vigilia, who served the college for 20 years as professor of mathematics and director of financial aids, and Sister Mary Paulette, who taught music at Madonna for 22 years.

Sr. Paulette is now on the faculty of Felician College, Lodi, N.J., and Sr. Virgilia is assistant to the treasurer of the Livonia province.

CPAs to meet next on Dec. 4

The next meeting of the metropolitan Detroit chapter of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA) will be Wednesday, Dec. 4, in the Raleigh House, Southfield.

The meeting will begin at 11:30 a.m. with a reception for the speakers.

Speaking on "Mandatory Continuing Education, Current Status and Prospects" will be Edwin G. Olsen, president of the MACPA, and James J. Leisenring, CPA with Doeren, Mayhew, Grob and McNamara of Battle Creek.

The meeting will be chaired by Norman J. Stricof, chapter chairman and CPA in Birmingham.

Esch credits NEA support in successful re-election bid

Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) is among those politicians who give credit to the National Education Association (NEA), national teachers union for teachers, for assistance in re-electing them Nov. 5.

Esch, whose 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth, hails the teachers for their support in his re-election victory over Democrat John Reuther. One of the issues was Reuther's UAW backing.

"The participation in the 2nd District race on my behalf by the teachers of this district has been invaluable from the standpoint of marshalling support in setting the record straight on a number of education issues," Esch says.

Esch, a member of the House Education and Labor Committee, added: "This kind of active involvement is what the electoral process is all about."

THOSE COMMENTS were included in a report from the NEA that 80 per cent of candidates backed by the NEA won in the election and that the union's political activity helped sweep four out of every five pro-education candidates into office.

Teacher-supported candidates won in 229 of 282 House contests and were successful in 21 of 23 Senate races. The NEA political action committee (PAC) endorsed 310 federal office seekers in 48 states, including 165 who received contributions amounting to $225,000.

The funds were given to candidates in 44 states. In addition, state and local association political action groups contributed $2.5 million to federal, state and local races.

In the House, it is estimated friends of education were increased by at least 46 members. This could provide a potential vote of 290, enough for a veto override, on educational issues, the NEA reports.

JAMES A. HARRIS, NEA President, says teachers will press for passage of a collective bargaining measure for teachers and other public employees, increased general federal aid to education, unemployment compensation, and other NEA legislative goals.

The NEA feels these goals may be more obtainable once the 94th Congress convenes in January.

The NEA is optimistic not only because of those who won, but also because of some of the losing candidates

Plymouth presents Christmas crafts

Interested in buying something original and unusual for Christmas? Looking for that one-of-a-kind item or handmade gift?

The first annual Christmas arts and crafts show, Dec. 7, 8, and 9 in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer, will offer that and more.

Some 40 exhibitors will display a wide range of items including leather, handmade dolls, stuffed animals, stained leaded glass, applique quilts, porcelain and pottery.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. There is no admission fee. Prices range from 50 cents and up for art and craft items.

"The show is sponsored by the Plymouth Department of Parks and Recreation, in an effort to promote art events in the community," says Mrs. Daisy Proctor, show director.

"Artists from more than 50 communities in the metropolitan area will display their art."

Smit discusses super sewer

Rep. Raymond J. Smit (R-Ann Arbor) discussed controversial "super sewer" for sewage treatment in Washtenaw County and southeastern Michigan at a recent meeting of the American Water Resources Conference.

Smit and Jonathan W. Bulkley prepared a paper for the conference on the question of whether it is better to treat sewage at its source and re-use the water resources or transport the sewage via a large pipeline to the Great Lakes.

"It is our conclusion," said Smit, "that it is better to treat sewage at its source and re-use the resources."

SMIT, whose district includes Plymouth and Plymouth Township, chose not to run for re-election and will return to his civil engineering practice early next year after serving eight years in the legislature.

"Public involvement in the super sewer controversy did occur and did temporarily delay the bureaucratic dogma of the project," he said.

"One of the lessons of super sewer is that provisions must be made to start the implementation process and at the same time be assured of the long-range effectiveness of such a project."

"In other words what may have been a good concept 10 years ago, may not now be a good concept unless up-to-date technology and policy tells us that it is still the best way to go."

IN THE PAPER, Smit and Dr. Bulkley take a swipe at Congress for the excessively detailed and contradictory Clean Water Act of 1972.

The confused planning policy and the paperwork that is involved in complying with the act has overwhelmed local officials who are attempting to comply with unrealistic deadlines," Smit said.

"The object of the act—to develop detailed technology by July 1, 1977, has already been found to be unachievable and complete compliance by July 1, 1983, portends significant economic dislocation if it is to be achieved."

"The act impedes accomplishment of the clean water goal by requiring procedures that tie the hands of officials."

"This will continue unless the clean water program is revised to set forth truly achievable goals and provides manpower, money and the knowledge to reach the goals," Smit asserted.

"The act as it presently stands threatens to further destroy the credibility of government programs."

Sports guide available

The 1974-75 edition of the Michigan Winter Sports Guide, which pinpoints snow fun areas, is now available.

Published by the Michigan Tourist Council, in cooperation with the state's four regional tourist associations, the guide has been scale-keyed to the official Michigan highway map for convenience in locating specific winter sports centers and snowmobile areas.

The guide includes locations of 66 winter recreation areas, many featuring cross country and downhill skiing. It lists the number of slopes, lifts, towes, accommodations and other features.

Snowmobile listings are similar, including locations of 154 areas, trail names, length of trails in miles or size of the area in acres, and the closest town.

A free copy of the guide can be obtained by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48913.

ORDINANCE NO. 74-8 AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 5.207(3), ARTICLE XV, OF CHAPTER 52, ZONING, OF TITLE V OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH.

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS: Section 1. Section 5.207(3), Article XV, of Chapter 52, Zoning, of the Code of the City of Plymouth is hereby amended by adding new sub-section (f) to read as follows:

- 5.207. Site Plan Review (All Districts).
- A site plan shall be submitted to the Planning Commission for approval of:
 - Any use or development for which the submission of a site plan is required by any provision of this Chapter.
 - Any development, except One-Family Residential, for which off-street parking areas are provided as required in sections 5.195 and 5.196.
 - Any use in an RM-1, RM-2, O-1, O-2, B-1, B-2, B-3, I-1, I-2 or P-1 District lying contiguous to, or across a street from, a single-family residential district or RT-1 district.
 - Site plan approval shall not be required for any use or development in an "I-1", or "I-2" District except where such use or development is to take place within two hundred (200) feet of the zoning district boundary of any owner other than the owner of the property to be used or developed, or where it is proposed that a driveway intersect a public street within two hundred (200) feet of an intersection of two or more public streets.
 - Any use which lies contiguous to a major thoroughfare.
 - All residentially related uses permitted in one-family districts such as, but not limited to: churches, schools, and public facilities.
 - Every site plan submitted to the Planning Commission, shall contain such information and be in such form as the Planning Commission may prescribe in its rules. No site plan shall be approved until same has been reviewed by the City Engineer, Chief of Police, Fire Chief, and the Building Inspector for compliance with the standards of the respective departments.
 - In the process of reviewing the site plan the Planning Commission shall consider:
 - One-family residential development on the basis of a subdivision.
 - The location and design of driveways providing vehicular ingress to and egress from the site, in relation to streets giving access to the site, and in relation to pedestrian traffic.
 - The traffic circulation features within the site and location of automobile parking areas; and may make such requirements with respect to any matters as will assure:
 - Safety and convenience of both vehicular and pedestrian traffic both within the site and in relation to access streets.
 - Satisfactory and harmonious relations between the development on the site and the existing and prospective development of contiguous land and adjacent neighborhoods.
 - The Planning Commission may further require landscaping, fences, and walls in pursuance of these objectives and same shall be provided and maintained as a condition of the establishment and the continued maintenance of any use to which they are appurtenant.
 - In those instances wherein the Planning Commission finds that an excessive number of ingress and/or egress points may occur with relation to major or secondary thoroughfares, thereby diminishing the carrying capacity of the thoroughfare, they may require marginal access drives as follows:
 - In approving the site plan the Planning Commission may recommend marginal access drives. For a narrow frontage, which will require a single outlet, the Planning Commission may recommend that money be placed in escrow with the City so as to provide for a marginal service drive equal in length to the frontage of the property involved. Occupancy permits shall not be issued until the improvement is physically provided or monies have been deposited with the City Treasurer.
 - The Planning Commission shall require marginal access drives for all subdivisions having residential lots facing onto major thoroughfares. Where practical, the Planning Commission shall require side lot or rear lot relationships to major thoroughfares.
 - The Planning Commission may further require the provisions of rights-of-way for fire-fighting and other emergency vehicles based upon the recommendation of the City Fire Chief as to (1) when said rights-of-way shall be essential, for safety purposes and (2) the location and necessary width of said rights-of-way.

Section 2. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 10th day of December A.D. 1974. Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, on the 18th day of November A.D. 1974.

Wayne-Westland offers quality theater

By STEVE BARNABY

It's good to see a community theater group which continually strives for quality entertainment even though the odds are stacked against it. The Wayne-Westland Civic Theater group is such an organization. In last weekend's presentation of a "Night of One Acts," the group demonstrated its ability to present good entertainment, although strapped for funds. As anyone knows who has traveled the community theater circuit, the going can get pretty rough. Little money, cramped facilities, and small audiences can frustrate even the most hardy thespian. A year ago the W-W theater group was fighting to stay alive. Let it be known, they are alive and raring to go.

THE FIRST selection was the "Pot Boiler," by Alice Gerstenberg. It is a satire about a zany playwright Thomas Sud (Bob Weibel) who drives his actors crazy. More than a bit flaky, Sud, who seems to have had more than his share of the suds, wanders about the stage imploring his actors to "use their imagination" when coming to a section of the script where Sud has left out a line or two. When absolutely stuck for a line, Sud goes to his stack of old scripts, cuts out a portion and pastes it into the new play. Needless to say, the script is without an ending. Weibel, an old hand with the group, handles his part masterfully. Also adding to the slapstick is the villain (Riley Tadlock) who quivers and shakes at the most inopportune times at the command of the playwright. Memorable is the scene where Tadlock is beaten on the chest most vigorously by Weibel and the vampiress (Betty Grisi).

"FOOTSTEPS OF DOVES," by Robert Anderson, deals with the plight of the middle-aged couple who have finally decided to purchase separate beds. George (Tod Hissong) is reluctant to make such an arrangement, maintaining that his wife will soon feel the urge to "return to combat with fierce desires." He swiftly gives up the battle when meeting young, voluptuous Jill (Rita Urbaniak). Miss Urbaniak, a young but dedicated member of the W-W group, steals the show with her portrayal. Also appearing were David Calhoun as the salesman and Modene Stabenow, as the wife.

Second Avenue," which literally brought the audience to its feet. The plot, with a definite relevance to the times, tells the story of Mel (Bill Barish), who has been unemployed for seven months. Trapped in his apartment, he bemoans the plight of a person who has read every book, watched every soap opera and memorized every inch of his meager dwelling. Adding to his frustration is a neighbor who inadvertently threw a pail of water on poor Mel's head. Manned with a snow shovel, Mel is bent on revenge, waiting for the first snow, so he can bury the hated neighbor. Barish, who has performed with many of the neighboring theater groups is great. Adding to the entertainment is Mel's wife, Edna (Karen Anderson), who supports the family through the trying times. Also in the cast are Nancee Farrel, Isabel Barret, Marvin Nochman and Ginnie Tadlock, who are the perplexed and dimwitted sisters and brother of Mel. TRYING SOMETHING new, the W-W group performed in St. John Episcopal Church in a cabaret setting. A much smaller facility than the John Glenn auditorium, where the group usually performs, it proved to be far superior for their needs. The audience seemed to genuinely enjoy the performances. It is hoped the group has the same kind performance in the future.

'Nutcracker' slated by Oakway, ballet

The Oakway Symphony Orchestra and the Michigan Ballet Theater will present the fantasy world of the "Nutcracker" Dec. 7 and 8 at Harrison High School Auditorium, 12 Mile between Orchard Lake and Middle Belt Roads, in Farmington. A performance of the complete "Nutcracker Ballet" by the dance company and orchestra is scheduled for Saturday at 8 p.m. Single adult admission is $3.50 and $2 for students and senior citizens. The ballet theater will perform highlights from the "Nutcracker" on Sunday at 4 p.m. The orchestra will share the program with Francesco Di Blasi conducting the Haydn Symphony No. 88. As an added attraction, Vivaldi's

"Concerto for Four Solo Violins" also will be heard. The soloists are Peruz Zerunian, Alyze Dreiling, Ann Cannell and Margaret Nagey. Adult admission for the 4 p.m. concert is $3 and $1.50 for students and senior citizens. Tickets for all performances can be purchased at Hudson's and Grinnell's. The Michigan Ballet Theater, designated as a performing company by the Mid-States Regional Ballet Association in 1972, is now in its sixth year. The company has a repertoire of some 15 ballets and has staged concerts every year since it began. It is headquartered in Farmington Hills. Dancers come from the entire metropolitan area including Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Bagged or tubbed, geraniums survive

If you're keeping your geraniums in the front window, be prepared to pinch them back or they'll grow three or four feet tall. Outdoor geraniums will bloom indoors but the plants are apt to be leggy if they aren't pinched. We'd like to mention again a few tricks gardeners use for keeping some geraniums over the winter:

(1) HANG plants upside down. Plants are dug up in fall and hung upside down in plastic bags. Most of our modern cellars are too hot and dry to keep plants well. A little moisture is needed to keep the plants thriving inside the plastic tent. Soak a piece of cotton or rag in water and slide it inside the bag once a month or so. This provides enough moisture to keep the plants alive, and sometimes the stalks will even bloom inside the bag. In late February you can take the plants out, soak them in a pail of water for one-half hour, cut the tops back and pot them up in a mixture of one part each of sand, peat and loam.

(2) STORE plants in tubs. Of all the methods used for keeping geraniums over, this seems to be the most practical. Plants (pots and all) are set in moist peatmoss in a tub, usually in a bright cellar or attic window. When the peatmoss gets a bit dry, keep it watered.

In spring, the plants can be taken up, cut back to within three or four inches from the pot and repotted in a fresh soil mixture of one part each of sand, peat and loam. Gardeners are amazed to see how quickly new growth is produced when the plants are cut back and watered.

THERE'S STILL plenty of time to start your plants from cuttings.

Look over your healthiest geraniums and take cuttings three or four inches long. Remove the lower leaves and insert the cutting ends in moist sand, vermiculite or perlite, or plain tap water. A 10-inch clay pot filled with sand makes a good "greenhouse" for starting your geraniums.

Place a clear plastic sheet over them, and place in a bright window.

Note: If you've been having trouble getting your geraniums to root (many turn black and rot), it's probably because the plants are diseased. Always take cuttings from healthy plants only. Don't try rooting them in soil or a soil mixture.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: Is it true that winter cold will kill many insects?

Answer: No, weather actually has little or no effect on insect mortality. Most insects are equipped with a mechanism which carries them over winter, regardless of how cold it gets.

Easy-to-make

Milk carton Santa Claus

To make a perfect Santa Claus for the mantle or table, all you require is a gallon-size milk carton, construction paper, glue, cotton balls and spray paint.

Collect: One empty gallon milk carton, rinsed thoroughly; two packages 280 count cotton balls; one medium size bottle of glue; one 8 1/2 by 11-inch sheet construction paper for face; one small can red spray paint; and one small piece construction paper for eyes, nose and mouth.

DO THE CAP first. Close and tape shut the pouring spout of the carton. Start at the top of the carton just below the gable and work around the carton applying cotton balls one on top of the other in offsetting rows to form a cone. The cotton balls can be glued by dabbing them first in a small amount of glue spread on a sheet of paper.

Use facial tissue to fill the space between the cotton balls and the carton top. When the cone is complete, spray thoroughly with red paint and let dry. Top with a few white cotton balls.

FOR THE FACE, cut the sheet of construction paper to 7 1/2 by 11 inches. Tape the paper to opposite sides of the carton to form a curved surface for the face. Cut circles for the eyes, nose and mouth.

Glue a small amount of cotton on the back of the eyes, nose and mouth then glue to the paper to form a face. This will make it stand out from the face giving it a three-dimensional appearance. Be sure to leave enough space between the nose and the mouth for the moustache.

For the eyebrows and moustache, take a cotton ball and carefully stretch it out to the desired length. Glue to the face.

Now, cover the balance of the carton with balls of cotton. The beard can be made as long as desired. Additional cotton balls should be glued around the bottom of the cap to form its brim.

Christmas carpet

One to keep and one to give away

The glitter of tinsel, the jingle of bells, the beauty of holly and great kitchen smells. December can truly be a whole month of "house beautiful."

Welcome Christmas this year in an unusual way with an area rug you've made yourself—a super red-carpet treatment for the holidays.

It's easy to create your own design. Using just two contrasting colors (like red and green), you can interchange the cut-outs and get custom-designed carpets for front and back door welcomes.

Illustrated is a simple pattern created by designer Cathy Erb. With red and green carpet, the basic inverted tree pattern is decidedly "December."

This Christmas tree design has nice straight lines to cut. Precision fitting is important for a professional look so this makes it easier to cut carefully.

To determine exactly how much carpeting you'll need, make a drawing to scale on graph paper, one inch to one foot. A carpet dealer can help you figure the yardage from the diagram.

1. On the back sides of two carpet pieces of contrasting colors, transfer the scale proportions, and then with a wide-tipped felt pen and carpenter's square, draw the design to scale.

2. Use a carpet knife to cut sections on the floor from the carpet back.

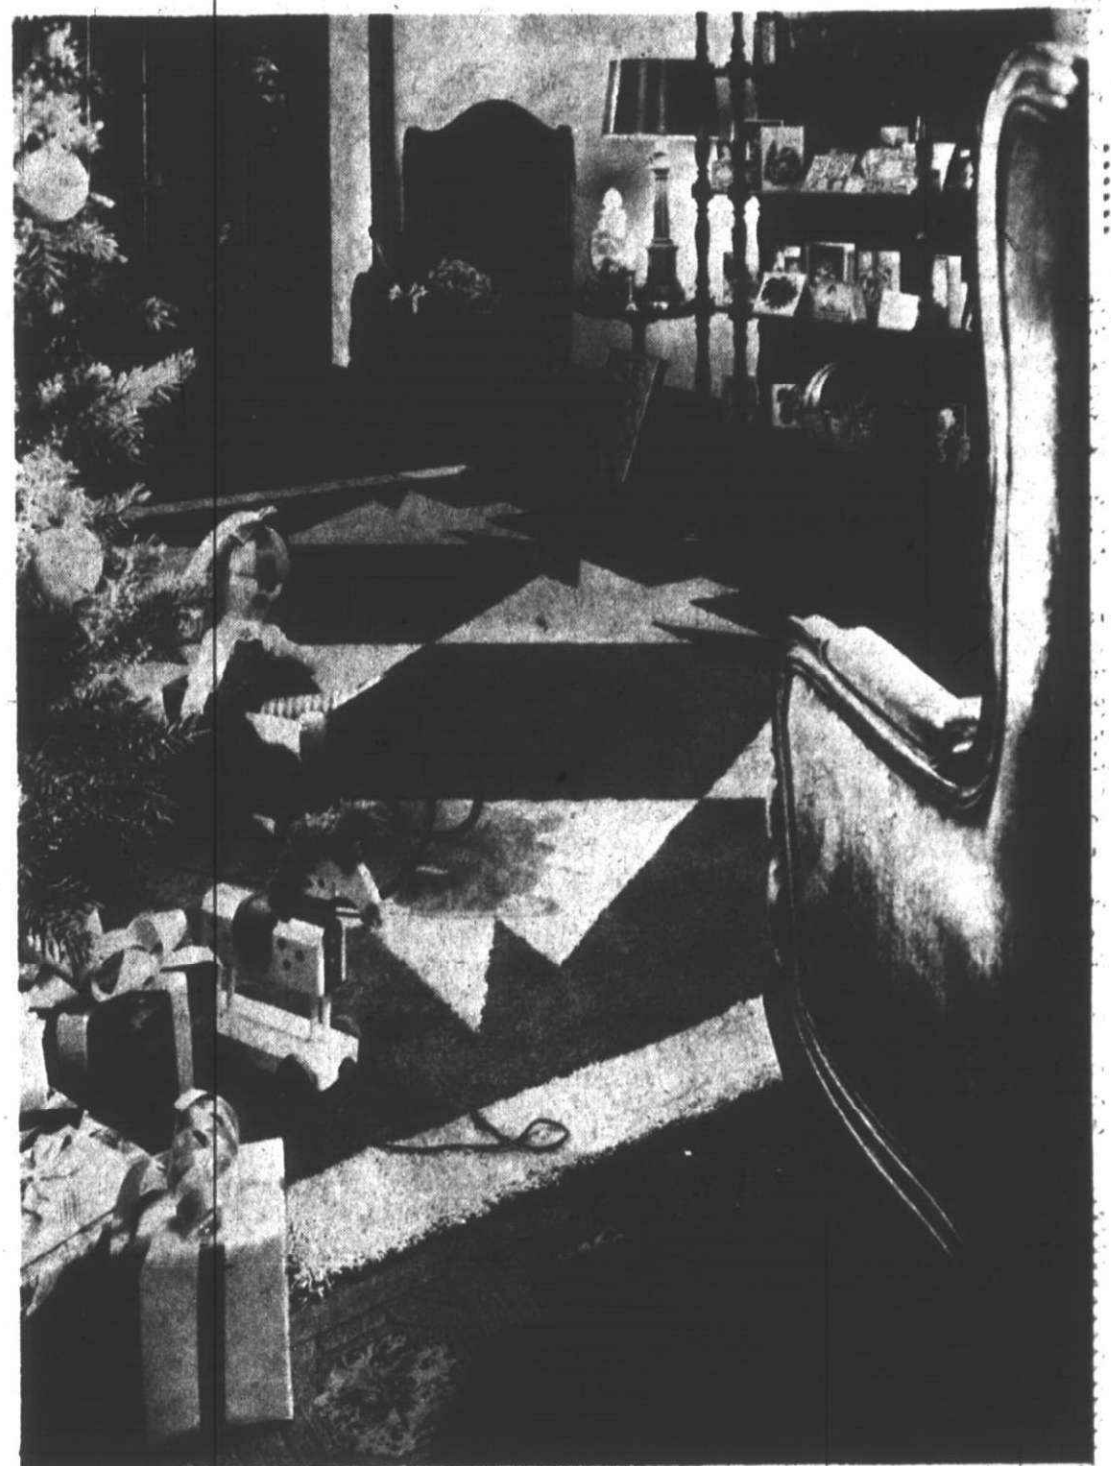

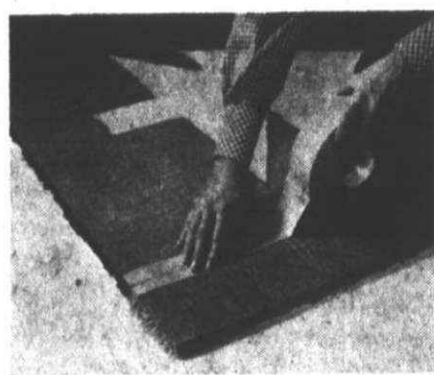

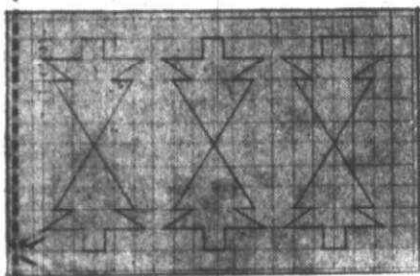

3. Lay sections on the floor checking to be sure they fit properly.

4. Reverse the carpet and tape sections together using extra wide tape available at most hardware and dime stores.

5. For a finished look, there is no need to buy knotted fringe when you can cut five-inch bands of carpet from the shorter ends for a good looking border effect.

In a six by 10-foot size, as shown, you have a handsome rug for the foyer; on a smaller scale, a great fireside conversation piece.

Now, when the winter evenings lengthen and the daily chores are done, you can gather around the hearth for a bit of family fun, knowing you are ready with a red-carpet reception for Christmas.

THE FINISHED PRODUCT of a few hours effort is a custom-designed area rug to welcome the Christmas season. And there's a bonus—it has a color counterpart—one you can keep or give away as a special gift for the home.

Economist predicts drop in price of sugar

Consumers who think they can force down the price of sugar by boycotting are misguided, say several Michigan State University (MSU) researchers. The reason: American consumers are competing in the marketplace with Russians, Nigerians and other overseas consumers.

The sweet tooth that has increased the price of sugar to record levels is a worldwide phenomenon, explains Gordon Gemmill, MSU doctoral candidate in agricultural economics. If sugar producers can't sell their commodity here, there is plenty of demand for it elsewhere.

Sugar, most nutritionists agree, is mostly wasted calories. Yet worldwide sugar demand is soaring—not just among the rich, but among developing nations as well.

THE WORLD SUGAR market has fluctuated dramatically for years, MSU Agricultural economist Vernon L. Sorenson says. But until recently, the United States has been isolated from the fluctuation by price support and trade legislation that has kept the price here at between eight and 10 cents per pound, usually well above the world market price.

The supported price attracted imports and required setting allotments for foreign producers eager to take advantage of it.

Earlier this year, Congress removed U.S. price supports and foreign allotments. The move was anti-climatic, however, since world prices shot above U.S. levels late last year. Producers became more interested in the world market than in U.S. demand for sugar.

taste, but not to improve the diet, says Rachel Schemmel, MSU professor of food science and human nutrition. Sugar can be an energy source to a diet deficient in calories, but cereals are more practical

IF CYCLICAL patterns had prevailed, the rise in sugar prices should have peaked about 18 months ago, say Gemmill and Sorenson. Production to meet demand has not merely involved planting more cane and beets, but requires new processing facilities—that creates about a three-year lag.

Other sweeteners, such as corn syrup, can be used in place of liquid sugar for commercial purposes, but that, too, requires more processing

Plant of the week

Piper ornatum is one of 600 species of shrubs belonging to the Piper family. Numerous in tropical America, some Piper plants are economically valuable because of their pungent, aromatic and stimulating properties. Some varieties are used as medicines.

Black pepper is made from the whole fruit of the Piper nigrum species. White pepper is made from the fruit, minus its external coat.

PIPER ORNATUM

Piper ornatum is an excellent decorative houseplant. It is a tall climber with slender reddish stems. The waxy, shield-like leaves are deep green with silvery pink markings turning to white as the plant ages. The underside of the leaves is pale green.

Horticulturists recommend the following ideal conditions for Piper ornatum in your home:

SOIL should be rich in humus or other organic matter. Add a little rough manure and some loam for structure.

WATER—Keep the soil evenly moist but not constantly wet.

TEMPERATURES can range between 50 and 65 degrees F at night and 70 to 85 degrees F on a sunny day.

LIGHT—Diffused sunlight is ideal—a place near an east window.

PROPAGATION is by stem tip cuttings.

The high price of sugar—now above 50 cents per pound on the world market—will likely be a short-term occurrence, Sorenson believes. His guess is that the price will drop to below 20 cents within a year or two, when production catches up to increased demand.

Here in Michigan, high retail prices don't necessarily mean big profits to producers, says Dr. Milton Erdmann, MSU crop and soil scientist.

This year's Michigan sugarbeet production will be about seven per cent less than the 1973 crop. Farmers planted fewer acres to sugarbeets and more to higher-priced navy beans, wheat and corn, Erdmann explains. Also costs were nearly double those of 1973 for fuel, fertilizer and land rental.

County will join in study of Detroit River waterfront

Wayne County has agreed to join the state and City of Detroit in the most comprehensive study ever undertaken for the Detroit River waterfront.

County participation was approved by the board of commissioners Nov. 21 upon recommendation of the commissioners' public works committee.

The public works committee includes John Lesinski (D-Dearborn), chairman, James DeSana (D-Wyandotte), Edgar L. Harris (D-Taylor), Michael Murray (D-Detroit), Paul Silver (D-Detroit) and Ervin A. Steiner Jr. (R-Grosse Pointe Farms).

THE BOARD authorized the county planning commission to serve as the local coordinating agency for the year-long project and to accept $44,000 in state funds to finance the project.

Over-all coordination will be provided by the Michigan Department of Commerce. The bulk of the work will be performed by participating city, county and state agencies. The Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce will also participate.

State funds will be used primarily to retain independent expert consultants for some phases of the study. Total value of services to be rendered by participating agencies is estimated at $96,600.

"This project will be unique," says Lesinski, "and represents a new degree of sophistication."

"For one thing, it will be the most comprehensive study of the waterfront in history. Unlike past studies, it will go beyond port-related uses and analyze the entire range of possible land uses, and make recommendations concerning future uses."

"Secondly, this will be the first time the state, county and Detroit have combined their resources to achieve maximum public benefit from our invaluable waterfront."

DESANA, public works vice-chairman, said the traffic problem along waterfront streets will be one of the key areas of study.

"I look to this study to produce plans for dealing with the traffic problems along the waterfront. Truck and train traffic are causing serious problems in the downtown area, especially along West Jefferson. Jefferson is becoming a truck route which it was never meant to be. Motorists on Jefferson are held up many times each day at railroad crossings."

This study will have to come to terms with the traffic problem because waterfront development and related activities will be impeded until this problem is solved. The public will not accept more traffic-generating activities under present conditions.

C'ville yearbook earns 1st place

Clarenceville High School's 1973-74 yearbook has been awarded first place from the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association.

Clarenceville was especially praised for use of spot color in the advertising section. Editors were Dawn Haapala and Yvonne Campbell.

"For this reason, participation of the state highway department in the study is most welcome and necessary."

Counties set hearing on water waste

Improved sewage management for portions of Wayne, Oakland, and Washtenaw counties will be subject of a public hearing by the Wayne and Washtenaw county departments of public works on Thursday, Dec. 5, at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will be in the Hilton Inn, 31400 Wick, Romulus, near Metropolitan Airport.

Information provided at the public hearing will concern engineering studies of alternate plans for sewage treatment.

Areas affected by the study include the Lower Huron Valley, and the western portions of Wayne, the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area, and the southwestern sector of Oakland County.

The engineering studies are being developed under grants from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

Public comment and suggestions on these or other alternatives are encouraged by citizens in the affected area, a DPW spokesman said.

Gymnastics begins Dec. 7

The instructional gymnastic program of the Clarenceville School District will be held again during the winter session with registration on Saturday, Dec. 7.

Persons may register from 9 a.m. to noon in the Clarenceville High School gym on the west side of Middle Belt, south of Eight Mile, Livonia.

The program is designed to give instruction in the various aspects of gymnastics to youngsters six years and older.

Classes will be divided according to age and ability.

Classes will be offered in beginning tumbling, advanced beginning tumbling, intermediate tumbling, apparatus and trampoline.

Each class will meet for one hour each Saturday for eight weeks. Registration fee is $8. All classes will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis. All classes are taught by highly qualified instructors.

Confirmation date slated

Area confirmations for St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Livonia, and Church of the Holy Spirit and St. John's of Westland will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 5 at Christ Church, 120 N. Military, Dearborn.

PLANS FOR THE study were developed by a task force representing a total of nine city, county and state agencies plus the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

The task force was brought together by Richard K. Helmbrecht, director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, at the request of Rep. William R. Copeland, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, after county officials approached Copeland about such a study.

The study will "assess the costs and benefits of alternative modes of future waterfront development, including the effects on future tax revenues and job development."

The study will delve into port activities, industrial development, potential demand for waterfront residential development, potential recreational uses, state port involvement, federal-local relationships, and transportation and traffic problems. Past port and waterfront studies will be analyzed and updated.

Land, water and air transportation facilities will be among the study subjects.

Another key phase will be analysis of the current competitive position of the Port of Detroit in light of new shipping technologies and competing rates and services.

With words like "inflation" around, do words like "luxury, performance, and economy" mean anything?

These days the word luxury is almost as inflated as the dollar. The fact is, the Audi 100LS actually is a luxury car at a reasonable price. Because of German engineering and craftsmanship the Audi handles easily and rides smoothly.

It's luxury because of the orthopedically designed seats that help prevent fatigue. And because of the legroom and headroom for a person well over 6 feet.

It's performance because of front-wheel-drive, front disc brakes, rack-and-pinion steering, a synchromesh transmission and independent front suspension.

It's economy, 24 miles to the gallon.

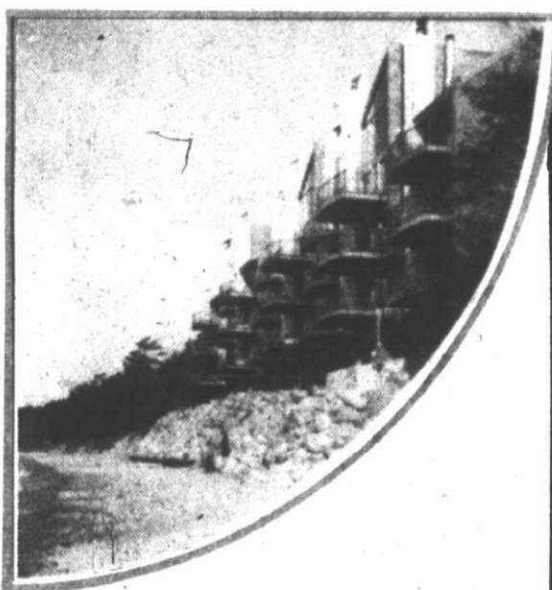

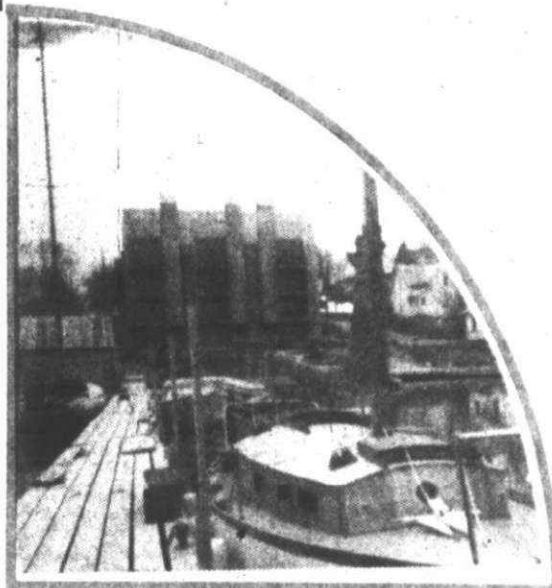

"Luxury, performance and economy, in times like these?"

No question about it.

What..?
$13,900 for a condominium in CHARLEVOIX
and Financing too!

That's right . . . you can move into a "mini-condo" in Charlevoix the Beautiful for only $13,900. And you can get financing, too! Small but excitingly unusual aptly describes the unique "Weathervane Terrace." From its castle-like fieldstone exterior to the warm paneling of its rooms, the "Weathervane Terrace" says "Welcome to Charlevoix." Units at the "Weathervane" range from $13,900 to $29,900.

An avid sailor would undoubtedly find his home port in "Le Havre," a condominium located directly on Charlevoix's famed Round Lake. Your own private docking facilities are situated only yards away for convenient accessibility. The units at "Le Havre" range from $44,900 to $67,900.

A luxury condominium designed for the ultimate in resort living is the "Dunes." Located on the sandy shores of Lake Michigan, its beach and view are second to none. The "Dunes," with its enclosed game room and 20' x 40' indoor swimming pool, stands out as one of the finest projects in Michigan. The prices at the "Dunes" range from $61,900 to $78,500.

Rising six stories above Lake Michigan's famed beach is "La Croft," the epitome of resort living. "La Croft" offers a panoramic view of Lake Michigan and of the entire town of Charlevoix while providing you with all the comforts and amenities you could desire. Prices at "La Croft" range from $61,900 to $75,900.

But how can you justify purchasing a condominium in this age of inflation? That one's easy—real estate has long been a proven "hedge" against inflation. With prices of building materials, property, and almost everything else rising, it's smart to invest in real estate. In addition, you can rent your apartment when you're not using it; there are rental management firms located right in Charlevoix to take care of this for you. Need even more convincing? Consider that all interest and taxes on your condominium are deductible. Contact us today for complete details on how easy it is to buy your own small piece of Charlevoix the Beautiful.

LET'S HAVE A SAFE HOLIDAY

CAN YOU THINK of anything more exciting for a parent or grandparent than to watch the undisguised and instant joy that appears on the faces of children on Christmas morning? Sometimes it seems as if the lights in their eyes sparkle more than the lights on your tree! Christmas is, indeed, a day for families to enjoy each other.

PART OF the Christmas joy could quickly be transformed into disaster, however, if those new and shiny toys turn out to be too dangerous for the child to handle. A toy with many small, removable parts may provide endless hours of stimulating entertainment for an aggressive six-year-old, but if baby brother were to play with the same toy, he might easily swallow such a small object. The tools or chemistry set appropriate for a mature twelve-year-old could cause serious injury to a younger child.

MEIJER, INC. attempts to stay in the vanguard of toy retailers concerned about safe and lasting toys. Our buyers make certain that electrical toys, for instance, that do not carry the approval of the Underwriter's Laboratory do not find their way to our toy shelves. We try to display our toys according to the age group the toys are intended for. Many toys carry a label with the manufacturer's suggested age group to assist you in judging whether or not your child would appreciate and be able to safely enjoy a particular toy.

THE PEOPLE working at Meijer are in the business of selling merchandise, but we are also concerned about product performance and safety. We hope your Christmas is a happy one, and that the toys that "Santa" brings provide many months of fun-filled and SAFE enjoyment for your children.

A financial bonanza?

Lottery no panacea—legislators

By DENNY COFFMAN

As the Michigan State Lottery completes its second year of operation, it seems to arouse only ambivalence among legislators.

Even though the lottery, and other forms of legalized gambling could provide alternate sources of revenue to offset some of the losses from the food and drug sales tax—its potential appears limited, according to one state senator and three state representatives.

"I would hope," says Rep. John Markes (D-Westland), "that we could find a more appropriate way to find funds for services."

"As far as being a money-maker, the lottery is in fact growing. But something doesn't quite set well with me. I'm torn between need and philosophy. There are a lot of things we could have in the form of legalized gambling but I feel there must be some point where we draw the line," says Markes.

MARKES PROPOSES that lottery income be used to combat crime.

"I'm grateful the money is going to the state and not to crime. But I would like to see the money turned around and used to fight organized crime."

The argument in favor of a lottery contends gambling will always exist and the state might as well capitalize on it, Markes says. "But by the same token, I know there'll always be prostitution, too."

Rep. John Bennett (D-Redford) feels the lottery has "exceeded expectations."

Says Bennett: "It has been a great success."

"But I'm sort of opposed to the lottery on moral grounds, though I know the state depends on it, and it would be sort of foolish to eliminate it."

"We would have to make up that income or cut expenditures if it were abolished. It requires a constitutional amendment to get rid of it, anyway," he says.

BENNETT POINTS OUT the state will have to look for new sources of revenue, now that the sales tax on food and drugs has been eliminated.

"It will be difficult to get by without a tax increase. The sales tax provided about $170 million to the state."

"Under normal growth, we are able to obtain about $240 million in additional funds each year without new taxes. But because of the recession, this will go down some."

"With fewer car sales, the state will receive less tax revenue from the sale of cars. On a $3,000 car, that's $120."

"We will have to start cutting expenses."

SEN. WILLIAM FAUST (D-Westland) agrees the lottery has been a success, but fears the spread of gambling sources for state revenues.

"I'm leery of some of the pilot programs for football gambling. It seems like a negative approach," says Faust. "Any form of gambling is not the answer."

"The daily lottery is more appropriate. But even the present lottery only generates a small portion of the budget. The lottery and horse racing combined account for only about $100 million of a total budget of $2.3 billion. That's not significant."

Faust expects to see a "bureau of gaming or gambling" established in the state.

Such a bureau would oversee such activities as dog racing, bingo, off track betting, and the lottery.

But Faust contends that gambling is not an adequate source of revenue.

"The main source for a tax increase must still remain the people, in the form of an income tax increase," pipes in Bennett. "I don't think the increase will be as severe as some persons have suggested, but I don't agree with Sander Levin's contention that a tax increase is unnecessary."

REP. ROBERT GEAKE (R-Northville) also believes the lottery has been successful.

"It has brought money to the state and made it possible to provide more state services without increasing taxes."

"But I have to ask how it is being used. I was under the impression the funds were earmarked for education, when actually they go into the general fund. But, I think the lottery ought to be continued."

Rep. William Keith (D-Garden City), a member of the House Education Committee, says the lottery netted $55 million for the general fund which provided $1.8 billion to education.

"And so the lottery provides a very small portion of the total education budget. It might be a good public relations gesture to earmark lottery revenue for education, but from an operational standpoint it would make little difference."

"To put things in perspective, Garden City School District has an annual budget of about $13 million. So we could only finance four school districts the size of Garden City, and there are 600 such districts in Michigan."

"The $55 million net lottery income would be enough to keep Detroit School District operating for only one day and four hours."

Keith added the lottery has been successful but hasn't been a panacea to reduce taxes. Keith surveyed his 33rd District, which includes Garden City and Inkster, and 80 per cent of the responses favored off-track betting and dog racing.

"When I asked around, the response was that residents felt legalized gambling would be another revenue source and help reduce taxes. That's the mood of the people, and it's because they are weary of taxes. But the lottery just hasn't generated enough revenue to lower taxes."

FIGURES RELEASED by the Bureau of State Lottery suggest the lottery has been a success.

Weekly sales in August, 1974 averaged almost $3.4 million, a new high. Total sales so far this year are well ahead of last year's.

With all this going for it, the odds are pretty good that the Michigan Lottery will continue. You can bet on it.

Success spurs expansion plans for the lottery

The success of the Michigan Lottery has prompted plans for further development of the system.

Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison said some ideas in the planning stages include instant payment, daily drawings and more winners.

Instant payment would allow minor prize winners to collect cash immediately at any of 8,000 agent locations instead of waiting for a check from Lansing.

A daily game is under consideration. The game would be an added attraction to either of the two existing games and would be provided at no extra cost.

Both the Green Game (50 cents) and the Gold Game ($1) will be revised to provide more winners. Some prize structure revision may be necessary to accommodate these changes.

How lottery fund is being spent

Most people assume Michigan Lottery proceeds go toward education but actually the funds are not earmarked for any single purpose.

"After two years in operation one of the most frequently asked questions we still hear has to do with what happens to the money raised by the Lottery—$127 million to date," said Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison.

He explained that while most people assume the money goes toward education, the proceeds actually go into the general fund and are not earmarked. The largest single category of general fund expenditures is, however, for educational purposes.

Using current general fund expenditures as a guide, it might be fair to say the money raised by the lottery has been used as follows:

GENERAL FUND EXPENDITURES		LOTTERY CONTRIBUTION
Education	44%	$ 55.88 million
Human Services	39%	$ 49.53 million
Other programs	17%	$ 21.59 million
TOTAL	100%	$127.00 million

The $127 million includes $62.5 million in net revenue for the period of November 1972-November 1973. For the next year (until November 1974) net revenues jumped $2 million to $64.5 million.

Out of its two-year total gross revenue of $274 million the lottery has paid $16 million in commissions to agents and banks.

Consumers Power to cut back construction

A further cutback in construction, and a delay in effective service dates of two major power plants, has been announced by Consumers Power Company.

The utility recently told the Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC) that inability to raise funds needed for continuation of its electric building program was the reason for the cutbacks.

These cutbacks are in addition to those announced by Consumers Power officers while testifying last September to the PSC in Grand Rapids. At that hearing, the company reported depressed earnings caused by inadequate revenues had prevented it from selling new securities.

This forced additional deferments which will postpone the in-service dates of the two Midland nuclear units by one year each, to 1980 and 1981, and the in-service date of the oil-fired fourth unit of the Dan E. Karn plant by eight months, until the fall of 1976.

THE COMPANY'S decision to reduce its building program still farther was announced by A. H. Aymond, president and chairman of the board, in a letter to the PSC chairman.

"Should earnings fail to be restored to the level necessary to attract capital," said Aymond, "it seems certain it will be necessary for the company not only to defer indefinitely all major construction, but also to discontinue the connection of new customers and the environmental and safety programs needed to keep existing plants operating.

"Consequences of further deferment or elimination by the company of major construction programs could have serious effects as early as next summer and may, in the longer run, be disastrous for the residents of Michigan. We hope such actions will not become necessary."

THE MIDLAND complex represents a total of 1.3 million kilowatts of generating capacity, and Karn Unit No. 4 a capacity of 660,000 kilowatts.

Karn Unit No. 3, an oil-fired generating plant with a capacity of 644,000 kilowatts, is nearing completion and is expected to be in service about Feb. 1.

Two months ago, the utility informed the PSC it was compelled by financial difficulties to cancel plans to build a 2.3 million kilowatt nuclear power plant near Quinacasee, Mich., and to defer construction of an 800,000 kilowatt third unit at the coal-fired plant near Port Sheldon, Mich., from 1979 to 1981.

"We have wrung everything we reasonably can out of costs over which we have some control," said Aymond. "but uncontrollable costs continue to depress earnings."

"The company's earnings haven't kept pace with cost increases, and despite our efforts, earnings have fallen to the point where, during the third quarter of 1974, they failed to even cover the dividends on the company's preference stock. Clearly, capital expenditures must be brought into balance with the company's ability to attract capital."

Aymond estimated the utility would have spent about $413 million on new facilities in 1975 if it had been able to maintain its present building schedule. Such a program, together with the necessity of refinancing $86 million in mortgage bonds maturing Sept. 1, 1975, would have required the company to raise $370 million in long-term securities. This, Aymond said, was impossible.

The most recent cutbacks will reduce the 1975 construction budget by $147 million. Even then, the company still is faced with the need to raise $220 million in new capital in 1975.

The deferments of the two Midland units will create additional construction and operating costs of about $200 million when the facilities are built.

"In the final analysis," he concluded, "the company's ability to finance its curtailed construction program will depend on the restoration of earnings to adequate levels. Accordingly, it is a question of real concern to the management of the company whether the cuts made are deep enough."

Consumers asks for rate relief

Consumers Power Company has applied to the Michigan Public Service Commission for additional "partial and immediate" rate relief by raising electric rates to produce another $27 million annually.

The company has pending a general rate case asking an increase in rates to produce more than $72 million annually. In September the commission allowed the utility more than $27.5 million annually in interim relief, and later decided the utility was entitled to $56 million in additional revenue.

A company official cited critical need for the additional rate relief pending an order in the main rate case which is expected early in 1975.

A. H. Aymond, president of Consumers Power, claimed earnings per share of common stock have declined since 1973.

Because of its financial condition and inability to sell additional securities, the company has had to drastically reduce construction of new electric generating facilities and other work.

Two months ago, the utility canceled plans to build a 2.3 million kilowatt nuclear generating station, and deferred for one year construction of an 800,000 kilowatt addition to a coal-fired plant.

Despite the cutbacks, the petition filed by the company states that declining earnings have left no revenue for reinvestment.

Willow Run plans to close for 2 weeks

Area residents working in the General Motors Willow Run Plant will be laid off for two weeks in December — the weeks of Dec. 2 and Dec. 16. Production will be temporarily suspended at nine of 22 U.S. car assembly plants, including Willow Run, for periods ranging from one to two weeks.

Also included in the shutdowns is the Vega assembly plant in Lordsburg, Ohio, which will be down the week of Dec. 16.

Despite these shutdowns, almost all of the approximate 30,000 hourly employees to be affected will receive pay for the nine December paid holidays, announces GM, including Sunday, Dec. 15, and the week between Christmas and New Years.

Major Development in Women's Haircoloring.

Get Rid Of Gray Hair Some Of It Or All Of It

Time-lapse photographs show how gradual action of Lady Grecian Formula lets you control just how much gray you slowly get rid of—some of it or all of it.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (Special)—Thousands of women all over the country are discovering a remarkable new product specially developed and tested for women's hair. It not only takes the guesswork out of hair coloring but also eliminates the gray roots problem that has for years been a thorn in the side of all women who color their hair. Lady Grecian Formula is not a dark messy dye. It is a colorless liquid as easy to use as water. There is no mess, no complicated instructions, no strand tests, no clock watching. Simply brush Lady Grecian Formula through your hair every day and you will see the gray slowly 'fade away.' You are in complete control. You can get rid of as much gray as you want—some of it, or all of it. When your hair reaches just the lovely natural-looking color you want, weekly use thereafter is all that's necessary to keep your hair just the way you want it with no gray roots problem ever. Lady Grecian Formula is available now at:

Comprehensive health plan expanding in area

Comprehensive medical care for more than 30,390 patients will be provided with a growing health care network encompassing the Detroit metropolitan area, developed by Michigan Health Maintenance Organization Plans, Inc. (MHMOP).

Part of the "network" includes 127 participating physicians at 17 different health centers, with the closest in this area being the Northwest Medical Center at 17621 Joy, Westland.

More than 40 different hospitals in the three-county area are also cooperating in the program. In addition, backup medical support involves hundreds of related support staff, medical specialists, pharmacies, skilled nursing facilities and ambulance services.

"The health care delivery system we have, and are continuing to develop, is comprehensive," says W. Melvin Smith, MBA, senior executive vice-president of MHMOP.

"It will be the foundation for our move into the prepaid group health care plan we will be offering employers and individuals in Michigan within 90 days as an alternative to the traditional fee-for-service plans that now exist."

THE AGENCY received a boost recently when it was awarded a grant in excess of $250,000 by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's bureau of community health service, health maintenance organization service from Region V in Chicago.

The grant, entitled "Future Approach to Comprehensive Health Care," will assist MHMOP in enlarging its Health Maintenance Organization (HMO) health care delivery system to the general public.

The $266,141 grant is the largest under the first round funding cycle in HEW's Region V — Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois — and is the only one awarded in Michigan under the new Health Maintenance Organization Act of 1973.

The act is intended to provide assistance and encouragement to establish and develop health maintenance organizations.

The MHMOP was formed after three years extensive planning and research by the Detroit Medical Foundation, a non-profit organization.

The HMO concept offers its members the following: an organized health care system; delivering comprehensive medical services; a voluntarily enrolled group of members; and, a fixed periodic prepayment plan.

The plan makes it possible for members to receive comprehensive care from a medical team which includes medical generalists and specialists, hospitals, pharmacies, skilled nursing facilities, ambulance services and 24-hour, seven-day-a-week emergency service with related support staff.

Under the approach, all out-of-pocket costs to members for medical treatment will be eliminated. This contrasts with the usual payment plan for typical hospitalization coverage which requires additional out-of-pocket funds for physician office services.

The MHMOP member will not pay

Service guide is available

"The Living Handbook" — an innovative three-edition directory including one exclusively for Wayne County — has been published by United Community Services (UCS) of metropolitan Detroit.

It is a guide for retiree groups, unions, and churches to give to their senior members. UCS describes it as a vital pre-retirement tool for companies to give to their employees and as an indispensable reference manual.

The handbook is available at 50 cents each for 1-49 copies and 30 cents each for 50 copies or more. They can be obtained by writing "Living Handbook," United Community Services, 51 W. Warren, Detroit 48201.

E. RAY PRICE of Livonia has been appointed assistant director of buildings and grounds by Harper Hospital Division of United Hospitals of Detroit in the Detroit Medical Center. Price joined Harper in 1970 as foreman of medical electronics and electrical services and was promoted to maintenance supervisor in 1973. He received a degree in industrial communications from Tulsa Technical College, and served with the U.S. Army in South Vietnam.

any out-of-pocket expenses when visiting participating physicians. Cost to employer groups for the coverage will be comparable to health insurance carrier rates and will generally provide more benefits for employees, says an MHMOP spokesman.

The plan will be made available to the public the first quarter of 1975.

THE SEARCH for alternatives to existing health care delivery systems was spurred by mounting health costs with Americans spending some $100 billion a year for medical care in 1971.

A Rand Corporation report states the HMO concept "tends to reduce the demand for hospital beds" and an article in the New England Journal of Medicine says studies "strongly indicate that prepaid group practice plans help contain inflation in medical costs, lower the total cost of medical and health care services to the individual enrollees without sacrificing the quality of care."

The MHMOP administrative staff is currently computerizing a medical profile on each enrollee. The data will be available and projected instantly on a screen in the office of each participating physician simply by manipulating a few buttons.

In addition, MHMOP will use its centrally located Univac Information System to analyze all health care benefit costs, thereby maintaining a continuing evaluation of the hundreds of variables that comprise health care costs.

Eucharist liturgy, banquet end Felician centennial

The centennial celebration of the founding of the Felician Sisters on American soil had a double ending Sunday. The first was an impressive Eucharistic liturgy in the afternoon in the chapel adjacent to the Motherhouse of the Livonia Felician Order community at the huge plot of land in the area bounded by Schoolcraft, Levan, Newburgh and Five Mile Roads.

Felicians from Rome, Poland and Brazil gathered for the celebrations that started a year ago on the anniversary date and ended in dramatic fashion Sunday.

Following the liturgy, the centennial banquet, attended by more than 1,500 at the Raleigh House, in Southfield, marked the close of the year-long event.

CARDINAL JOHN DEARDEN, Archbishop of Detroit, served as the principal celebrant and homilist at the liturgy. Concelebrants included: Bishop Joseph Breitenbeck of Grand Rapids; Bishop Francis Reh of Saginaw and Auxiliary Bishop Arthur Krawczak of Detroit.

The master of ceremonies was Rev. Michael Twardzik of Orchard Lake Schools.

The ceremonies opened with the traditional processional march in which sisters from the order were followed by Cardinal Dearden, the three bishops and other priests from all sections of the state.

One of the most solemn parts of the liturgy of the Eucharist was the presentation of offertory gifts as the symbols of the ideals, the apostolates and the facets of life dear to the heart of each Felician sister.

The gifts offered by the general and provincial superiors included the bible, the icon of Our Lady of Czestochowa, the first book of final profession, the symbols of the three major apostolates, the flags and soils of Poland and America, the Rule, Constitutions, and Felician Emblem, the chalice of Father Dabrowski, water, wine and bread.

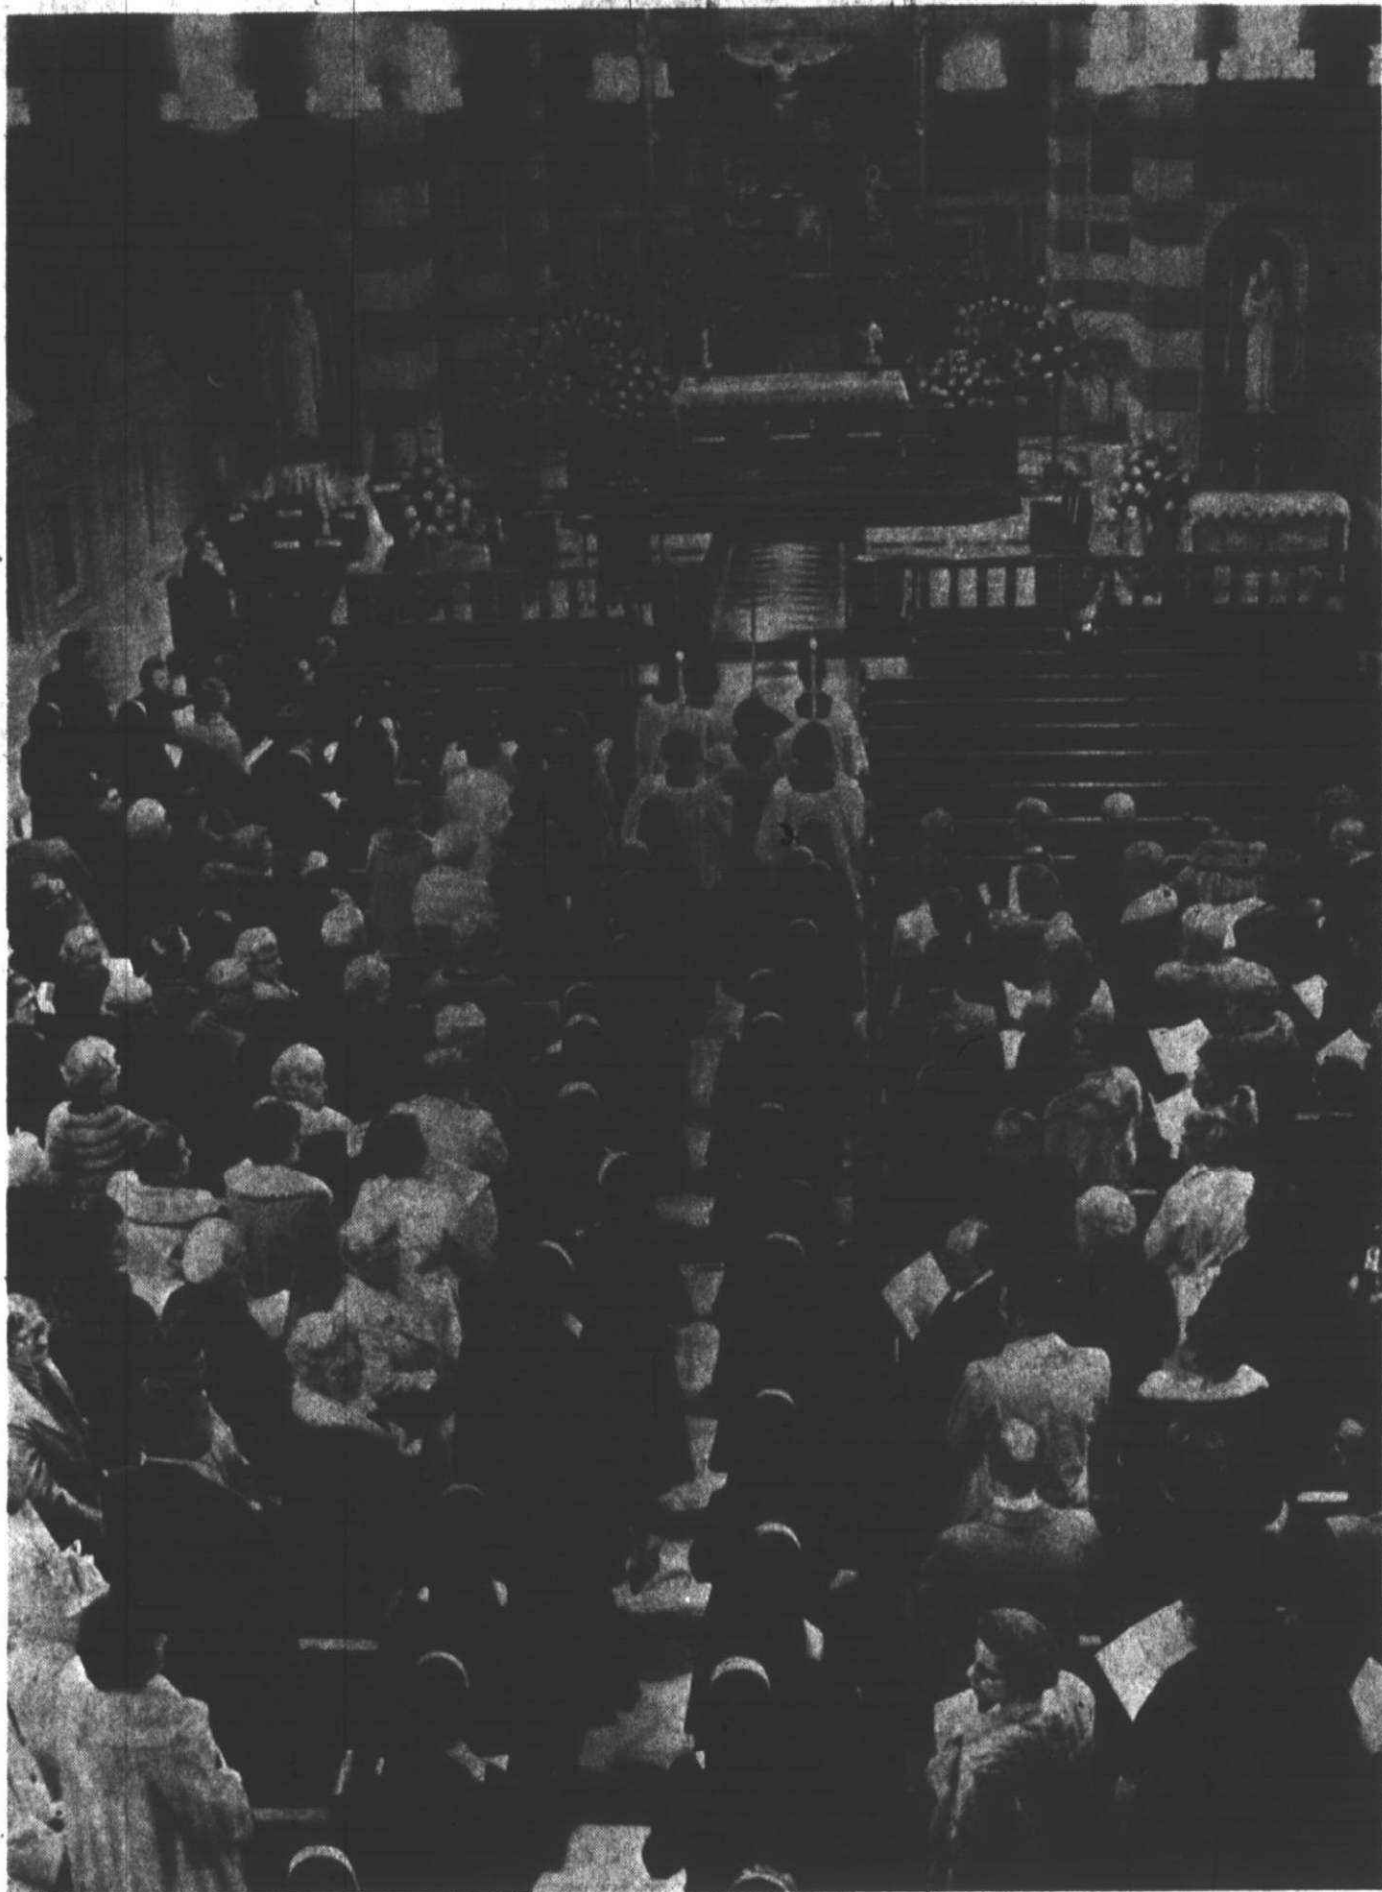

THE GIFT-BEARERS included Mother Mary Virginette, superior general from Rome; Mother Mary Aniele, delegate of the superior general in Poland; Sister Mary Gonzaga, vicar general, Rome; Sister Mary Antonelle, general council, Rome; Sister Mary Mercedia, general council, Rome; Sister Mary Angelita, general council Rome; Sister Mary Siena, general council, Rome; Others were Mother Mary Columbine, provincial superior, Livonia; Mother Mary Benice, provincial superior, Buffalo, N.Y.; Mother Mary Innocenta, provincial superior, Chicago; Mother Mary Amadeus, provincial superior, Lodi, N.J.; Mother Mary Helen, provincial superior, Coraopolis, Pa.; Mother Mary Landeline, provincial superior, Enfield, Conn.; Mother Mary Liliose, provincial superior, Ponca City, Okla.; Mother Mary Alexandrette, vice provincial superior, Mississauga, Ontario; and Mother Mary Claudia, vice provincial superior, Curitiba, Brazil.

The choir from the Livonia Motherhouse, under the direction of Sisters Caroline Marie and Mary Franceline with Sister Edith Marie as organist, sang during the services and during the processional and recessional marches.

THE CLOSING BANQUET was a combination of religious ceremonies marking the end of the celebration the joviality that could be expected of fun-loving members of Polish ancestry.

Dr. John Shuey, vice president of the board of trustees of St. Mary Hospital, was the toastmaster and introduced Mayor Edward McNamara for a welcome from the city of Livonia.

Congressman Marvin Esch and State Representative John Markes

THE PROCESSION moved slowly down the center of the chapel for the beginning of the solemn Eucharistic liturgy as the Felician Sisters marked their centennial in the Livonia Motherhouse.

were among those introduced at the speaker's table.

The invocation and a toast to the centennial celebration and the Felician Sisters were given by Rt. Rev. Walter Ziembra, of Orchard Lake Schools.

Rev. Richard Jozwiak, of Bay City St. Stanislaus Church, traced the history and development of the Felician Order. The Bay City parish was the first in Michigan to be staffed by the Felician Sisters in 1876.

MOTHER MARY Virginette, Superior General of the Order in Rome, praised the work of the Felicians wherever they have provinces and predicted bigger and better things in the future.

Rev. Stanley Milewski, vice rector and treasurer of Orchard Lake Schools, spoke on behalf of the priests who have worked alongside the Sisters in numerous schools throughout the state.

The response was given by Mother Mary Columbine, Provincial Superior in Livonia, who served as host of the opening ceremonies a year ago and the closing mass and centennial banquet.

Shaker display at U-M library

The Shakers, or the United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Appearing, are exhibiting through November the sect's collection of records and manuscripts in the main hall of the University of Michigan Clements Library.

The sect was founded in 1774 by Ann Lee, who believed she was an incarnation of Jesus Christ, according to Georgia Haugh, who arranged the Shaker Bicentennial exhibit.

"Mother Ann," the name given to the sect's founder, fled her native England in 1774 to escape persecution, Mrs. Haugh said, and founded a Shaker community near Albany, N.Y. She established 11 more communities in New England by 1800.

Mother Ann preached celibacy, confession of sins and the dualism of God, with Jesus Christ representing the male order and she the female, Mrs. Haugh said. All property belonged to the community, and men and women were treated equally. Thrift, strict discipline, hard manual labor and self-sufficiency were stressed.

The Shakers dwindled to only a fraction of former membership after the Civil War, Mrs. Haugh said.

"After the Civil War, the Shakers suffered a decline in the face of better opportunities in a more industrialized world and less interest in the spiritual," Mrs. Haugh said.

Church women host luncheon

More Yule cards can aid favorite charities

Christmas cards offer an opportunity to combine the sending of greetings with a contribution for a favorite charity.

Increasing numbers of organizations are offering such cards as a yearly fund-raiser, and more and more families are turning to this method of making Christmas card money do double duty.

In recent weeks, this newspaper has published pictures of several of the cards available, and two more are shown here.

Many other charities also have offerings. Listed below are organizations, brief descriptions of the cards and information for ordering them in time for Christmas mailing.

MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY Association of America, Inc.—A silvery wooded scene and the message, "Happy Holidays" is offered on a card priced at $4 for a box of 25. The association is located at 400 W. Marshall, Ferndale, 48220.

LIFESPAN, INC.—Three different designs, all priced at $4 for 25 plus 75 cents for mailing, raise funds for the pro-life group which works to educate against abortion, infanticide and euthanasia. Two of the cards show a mother and child, the other a youngster by a fireside. Order from Wayne County Lifespan, 14194 Rutherford, Detroit, or from Mrs. R.J. Dreslinski, Plymouth chairman, 43195 Fernwood, Plymouth.

NATIONAL CYSTIC FIBROSIS Research Foundation—Cards offered are made with the greeting "Peace on Earth." The cost is $3.75 for 25 and they may be ordered from the foundation, 1528 Woodward, Detroit, 48226.

METROPOLITAN SOCIETY FOR CRIPPLED Children and Adults—"On earth peace" reads in gold across a bright red background. The cards are $4 for a box of 25. Order from the society, 17330 Schaefer, Detroit.

CHILD AND FAMILY Services of Michigan, Inc.—A snowy winter scene adorns a greeting card being sold for $3.50 for a box of 25. The address for ordering is 9880 E. Grand River, Brighton, Box 1-D.

NEW HORIZONS—The women's auxiliary of New Horizons is offering a bright red Santa on a white background for its holiday greeting for 1974. Cards are $4 for a box of 25, with an extra shipping charge. Call Mrs. Norbert List, 29155 Glendarden, Farmington.

MICHIGAN HUMANE SOCIETY—Cards bearing a brown sketch of a furry dog and sleeping cat may be ordered for $4.25 for 25 or $15 for 100. They can be ordered from the society's Detroit headquarters, 7401 Chrysler Expressway.

KIDNEY FOUNDATION OF MICHIGAN—This organization is offering a wide selection of cards, ranging in price from $2.50 to $8.75 for boxes of 25. Call Mrs. Russell Brockmiller, 31820 Mayfair, Birmingham.

MYASTHENIA GRAVIS Association, Inc.—An all-faith holiday greeting card to raise funds for research and treatment of this disease of the nerve impulses is offered by this Torch Drive agency. Further information about the card is available from the association, 6131 W. Outer Drive, Detroit.

A YOUNG ASTHMA sufferer drew the Christmas tree for one of two cards offered by CARIH (Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital). This card and a second design bearing the word peace is available from the Northwest Chapter CARIH. Mrs. Ernestine Medow, 32021 Pembroke, Livonia, will accept orders. The cards are 20 cents each in lots of 50, with an additional 50-cent handling charge. Money raised will help supply medical care and treatment of intractable asthmatic children and research in the field of asthma and allergies.

West Wayne vicariate sets seminar on death

Western Wayne Vicariate Adult Education will present a seminar on death and dying Friday and Saturday, Dec. 6 and 7 in St. Norbert Religious Education Center on Inkster Road between Cherry Hill and Michigan.

Friday's session will begin with registration at 7:30 p.m. followed by the Rev. Dan Worhty's keynote address, "General Attitudes on Death and Dying." He will touch on fears, feeling and faith related to death. He is archdiocesan director of hospital chaplains and clinical pastoral education.

WORKSHOP hours on Saturday are from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. with seven presentations, giving persons the chance to hear three sessions.

Sr. Janet Percyk, chaplain at Grace Hospital, will speak from 9:30 to 10:20 a.m. and again from 11:30 to 12:20 p.m. Her topic is "Terminal Illness—Coming to Peace Without Going to Pieces."

Fr. Patrick Cooney, Western Wayne Vicariate chairman of worship, will also speak at 9:30-10:20 a.m. and again from 10:30 to 11:20 a.m. on the sacrament of the anointing of the sick and dying. He will discuss the rite, pastoral considerations and life giving and growth aspects.

Sr. Ruth Glaser, chaplain of REHAB will discuss ministering to the permanently disabled from 9:30 to 10:20 a.m. Her talk will also take in the sensitivity of the disabled's situation and meeting the needs of such persons.

HUTZEL HOSPITAL chaplain Sr. Joyce De Shano will speak from 10:30 to 11:20 a.m. on responding to the terminally ill.

Fr. James Meyer, chaplain at Children's Hospital, will discuss critically ill children and their parents. He will consider working through emotional responses, dealing with guilt and bitterness and the dimensions of relationships with the dying child. He will speak from 10:30 to 11:20 a.m.

When to let a patient die—the aspects of the morality and the responsibility of the family will be discussed by Mt. Carmel Hospital chaplain Sr. Bonnie Woods from 11:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m.

At that same time local funeral director Patrick Curtin will consider the practical aspect of burial or cremation and the appropriateness of funeral arrangements.

The workshop is open to the public. A donation of $1 will be accepted.

Missioner to speak

Clarenceville United Methodist Church will host the Rev. Joseph Davis, a missionary from Zaire who has served there since 1950 when the country was known as the Belgian Congo.

Rev. Davis will show slides and tell the story of the changes the country has seen in its fight to become an independent state.

His presentation will be followed by an informal discussion at the church's cookie jar hour in Fellowship Hall.

The public is invited to attend. The church is located at 20300 Middle Belt.

REV. JOSEPH DAVIS

Amahl coming to St. Paul

"AMAH AND THE Night Visitor," an opera depicting a miracle granted a small shepherd boy on Christmas night, will be performed in St. Paul United Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia, on Sunday, Dec. 8 at 7 p.m.

Cast members include, from left, Judy Gordon, Donald Stromberg, William Walker, and Robert Stromberg as Amahl.

There is no charge for the performance and the public is invited.

Advent wreath to be lit

Children of Livonia Christian Church, 36075 Seven Mile Road, will participate in the lighting of the Advent wreath at the 9:30 a.m. worship service Sunday, Dec. 1.

The preschool class of Charlene

Groce and Mixine Keathley will light the first candle following children's moment in the service.

What Does the Future Hold for YOU and for ALL MEN?

This question has been asked by generations. Men now almost believe it can't be answered. Even men and women of faith often ask:

- WHY DOESN'T GOD DO SOMETHING?
- DO YOU KNOW why Israel has become a nation?
- DO YOU KNOW that the world is on the threshold of a Golden Age?
- DO YOU KNOW that the Bible is a time-clock—that history is happening right on the Bible's preplanned Schedule?

These and other questions are answered in the FREE book, "The Divine Plan of the Ages." Write for your copy:

A chess set designed to commemorate the Bicentennial Celebration of the United States.

Each chessman is historically significant to the American Revolution. The KING is George Washington; the QUEEN, Martha Washington; the BISHOP, Benjamin Franklin; the KNIGHT, Paul Revere; the ROOK is the Liberty Bell, which bears a readable inscription of the Proclamation of Liberty. This set is unique in that all the Pawns are not identical. Six of them are minutemen; the KING'S PAWN is a drummer and the QUEEN'S PAWN is a fifer. Molded from the finest quality high-impact styrene, the figures stand on hexagonal bases which reflect the style and craftsmanship of the early American cabinet maker. A 16-page booklet giving a historical outline of each chessman and complete basic rules for the game of chess is included in every set. An exciting gift-with an education background.

Collectors' Series Chess Set No. 603
 The KING is 5" tall. All other chessmen are in proportion. Molded from the finest quality high-impact styrene in maple and walnut. They are extra-heavy weighted and have quality felt bases. The complete set is packaged in a sturdy presentation chest. $25.00

Collectors' Series Chess Set No. 604
 Each chessman is hand-antiqued to a fine gold and silver patina. Same full-size figures as in set no. 603, but more heavily weighted. Elegantly packed. $50.00

Helping us to help you.

ACD

Have you called the Observer & Eccentric to place a classified ad, and gotten a "busy" signal? If you have, we're sorry. We don't like to keep our customers waiting. But it happens sometimes, because we do business with more than 155,500 families. That's why we installed a special Bell Telephone System. It's called the Automatic Call Distributor, and it's designed to promote smoother and faster handling of calls to the classified advertising department.

It means that when you contact us to place a classified ad, your call will automatically be directed to one of the 19 friendly advisors who handle classified ads for the 11 Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. The "A-C-D" system will put you in direct touch with an ad-taker who is available, allowing you to do business quickly and efficiently.

So -- be ready for prompt service, because our new telephone unit can handle up to 28 simultaneous calls. And, if you should happen to be caller number 29, the ACD will hold your call for a moment, and then give it to the first available ad-taker. The classified advertising numbers -- 522-0900 in Wayne County and 644-1070 in Oakland County -- will remain the same.

We like ACD, because it means that our classified service to you will be improved. When you have pets to sell or homes to rent, our ad-takers will now be able to reach you faster, and offer you the greatest possible courtesy and efficiency. With our new, high-speed equipment, we'll be able to meet the needs of special situations ... your needs ... when you're calling us. And that's what quality service is all about. ACD...Helping us to help you.

Christmas present. Christmas future.

From the good stuff store.

With special savings.

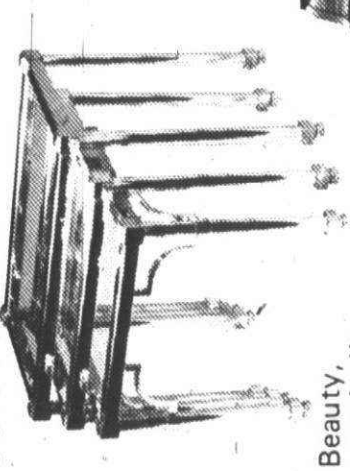

Gifts worth giving. And keeping, always. This season, look to the good stuff store.

And enjoy some very special season's savings, on a beautiful selection of unique gifts.

In fact, with savings like these, you'll even be able to keep something for yourself. (In case your friends aren't so smart as you are.)

Englishman Triangle for Christmas.

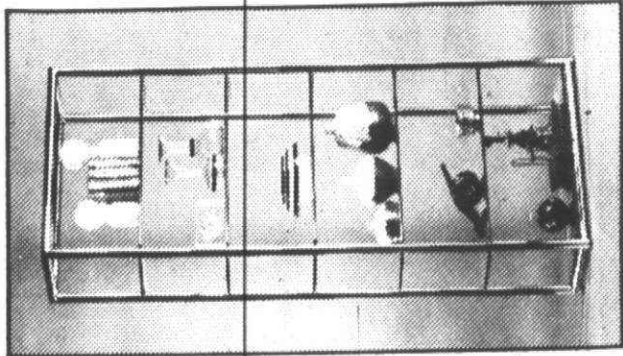

And for enduring value — at a time when value means more than ever.

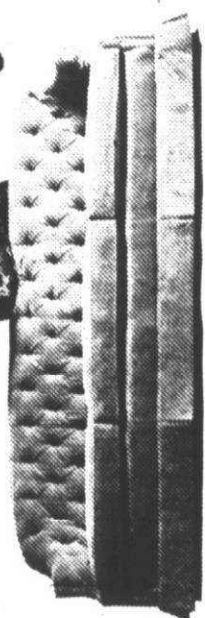

Beauty, practicality, and great value all come together in a single gift with this unusual nest of tables. In chrome and glass, with an Oriental accent. $215.

The most thought-provoking gift idea of them all: Drexel's exquisitely designed campaign desk. $465.

If you've got a soft spot for the very best, consider our plush upholstery: a gift for all seasons. And all ages. We've got the finest selection in Michigan. And the finest value. Like this superb traditional sofa by Drexel, just $549.

Back to basics: beautiful comfort, and uninflated value. Choose a wingback chair from our fine selection, from $149 to $715.

Rise to the occasion of inspired gift giving with this sleek chrome etagere by Selig. $252.

Imprint your appreciation indelibly with a selection from our collection of prints and original graphics. From $15.

Tell your favorite booklover exactly where he stands in your eyes with this distinctive bookstand, by Drexel. $29.

Give in the grand manner, and for all time with a remarkably handsome grandfather clock. $469.

This Christmas Give a Gift of Fun, Frolic, and Family Closeness A Musical Gift

Music is a gift the whole family can share -- even make. Don't miss it, and regret it.

You don't have to have musical genius to be a family full of musical fun. If you can wiggle your fingers and have a desire to play, you CAN play.

A MUSICAL gift is the best gift of all for total family pleasure. It keeps giving through the years -- and the family's joy will be reflected back to you.

Our business is serving people like you -- showing, demonstrating, explaining, helping. Act NOW -- for years of rewarding pleasure for your whole family.

Scout®

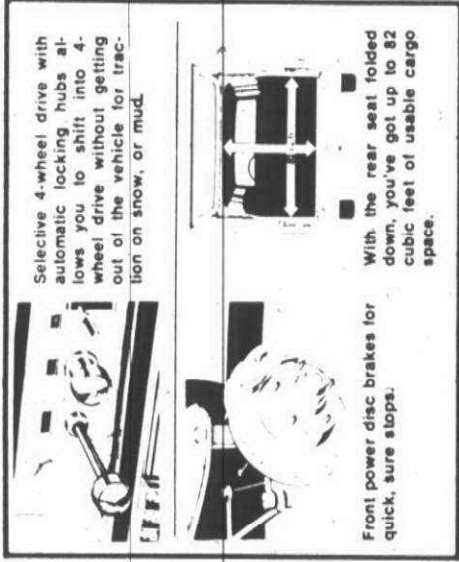

Wouldn't be a bit surprised if Santa doesn't use an International Scout when the passes get tough! But you needn't worry because winter can become a whole new season of fun and excitement regardless of the weather. Scout lets you get to all the places you've thought about but could never get to.

Ice fishing . . . skating . . . snowmobiling.

And in town, Scout's drivability lets you get around on the snow covered and wet roads.

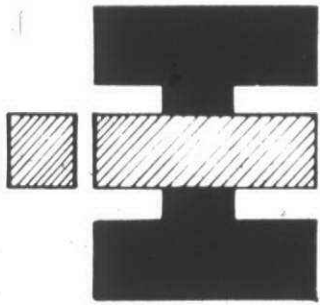

INTERNATIONAL Scout '75

Selective 4-wheel drive with automatic shifting allows you to shift into 4-wheel drive without getting out of the vehicle for traction on snow, or mud.

Front power disc brakes for quick, sure stops.

With the rear seat folded down, you get an extra cubic foot of usable cargo space.

NEWTON'S BEAUTY IS MORE THAN SKIN DEEP!

Getting exactly the right style, the right cover, the right color and pattern to bring your living room alive with beauty is important to your future pleasure and satisfaction. But an equally important to your future pleasure and satisfaction. But an equally important reason for choosing Newton custom furniture, is the uncompromising quality of the structure, materials and workmanship...a standard only possible when skills and talents are focused without concern for ordinary production-line problems. Love's craftsmen have the time to build with loving care, from start to finish. The hardwood frames are double-doweled AND glued. Corners are blocked and buttressed for extra strength. Springs are hand tied. The cushioning and cover individually cut and tailored. Each and every operation is checked and double-checked to match the top standards in the industry. The result is a level of quality that proudly carries the Newton label. It's your guarantee of service and satisfaction.

Foresight on your part in ordering now, and the patience to await delivery for only 30 days, deserves something more than a "Thank you." That's why we're lopping a handsome 20% off on the complete range of custom-ordered upholstery.

Come browse through our showroom and handsome catalogue to determine the frame style and dimensions that perfectly suit your dream plans. Talk with our knowledgeable personnel. Examine the lavish fabrics. Then leave the rest to us and the skilled craftsmen who have made Newton's the standard of perfection in the furniture industry. The resulting beauty and comfort will more than justify your time and careful selection. And knowing that the result is really YOURS ALONE will give you deserved satisfaction and pleasure, as you reap the compliments through the years ahead. Come consider, choose, and save! But do it soon.

NIKKORMAT FTN.

Easiestway to get into fine photography the Nikon way.

Fast handling, uncomplicated and moderately priced--yet a full-fledged Nikon system precision camera. Nikkormat FTN accepts all those famous Nikon lenses (more than forty!) and many Nikon accessories to go with these quality features:

- Reliable "center-weighted" meter system for accurate thru-the-lens exposure control in any situation.
- Strobe synch to 1/125th second; synch with flash bulbs to 1/1000th.
- Full aperture metering means no viewfinder dim-out during exposure setting.
- Meter switch built into advance lever--no extra operations.

Find out how easy it is to own this great camera--come in for free demonstration!

MODEL D "EXECUTIVE" TYPEWRITER

The speed, ease, and pride your secretary experiences when she uses an IBM Model D "Executive" typewriter are the assets of owning one. Letters have a professional look, are more legible and significantly reduce reading time, both for personal correspondence and for the busy people you write to. The typographic balance of proportional spacing obtained from the Model D "Executive" Typewriter is pleasing to the eye and prompts quick consideration of your message from your customers.
